Columbian Slain By Mother Of 6 Small Children

A 26-year-old mother of six children is in the parish jail today charged with manslaughter in the slaying of H. V. Blanks, 71, of Columbia, between 10:30 and 11 a.m. Saturday.

The Ouachita Parish Sheriff's office identified the woman as Mrs. Viola Windham, a waitress at a local cafe.

The fatal slaying occurred seven miles west of West Monroe on Highway 80.

Dr. J. T. French, Ouachita parish coroner, said that Blanks died shortly after arriving at the hospital. The blast of a shell from a .32 automatic entered his chest on the right side and came out his back.

Mrs. Windham, who is divorced from her husband, said that she and Blanks met on the side of the road and that the two tussled over the automatic pistol.

'The pistol fired while we were tussling," said Mrs. Windham.

Sources stated that the two had been going together and had recently broken up.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 4 p. m. from the First Methodist church in Columbia with Rev. Sam Holladay officiating. Interment will follow in the Columbia Cemetery. The body will remain at Riser's Funeral Home in Columbia until time for services.

Survivors are: one daughter, Mrs. Lorraine Turner, Shreveport; one granddaughter Brenda Turner, Shreveport.

Stinson, 3630 Cypress Street, West Monroe, died in the Ruston clinic Friday at 7 p.m. The funeral was held in Harmony Chapel, Hico, La., Saturday at 5 p.m. Rev. R. L. Branton, Ruston pastor, officiated. Interment was in the cemetery near the church.

Mrs. Green was born in Claiborne Parish, March 3, 1878.

She was the mother of three sons who are prominent physicians in Ruston, where they operate a hospital. They are Dr. Marvin Green, Dr. Felton Green and Dr. Keagan Green. Besides these, she is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Stinson in West Monroe, Mrs. Roy Hester, Port Neches, Tex., and Mrs. Mary McKenzie, Jr., Homer, La.; a sister, Mrs. Sally Monk, Lubbock, Tex.; a brother, W. 3 States Buffeted By Storms

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 13 (AP)—Savage storms hurled hail, hurricane-force winds and blinding dust in three Southern states today and the Virginias braced for possible tornadoes.

A wind and hail storm lashed Danville, Va., where some wind gusts were measured at more than 100 miles an hour and hail fell inches deep. A violent hail storm wrecked crops in a five-mile swath east of the city last night. A negro was electrocuted when he stepped from his home to check damage on his field.

A blinding dust storm in 80-mile-an-hour winds swept Nashville in the wake of a severe thunderstorm which brought a violent end to a three-week drouth. Heavy damage was reported throughout the city.

The Weather Bureau at Washington warned that tornadoes were possible tonight in an area about 200 miles wide extending from 40 miles southwest of Charleston, W. Va., to Norfolk, Va.

At Danville more than an inch of rain fell during a 15-minute deluge that tore trees up by the roots, disrupted electrical and telephone service and blew out the end of a hangar at the airport.

The Nashville storm apparently was part of a squall line which caused disturbances along a wide path from Southwestern Kentucky to the Southern Cumberland Plateau in Tennessee.

Modern Warfare Scope Unknown, Claims General

LAKE CHARLES, La., June 13 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Hayden L. Boatner, deputy commander of the Fourth Army and a veteran of Korean action, today warned "no one knows what we will be able to do in the event an enemy nation used modern implements of war."

Gen. Boatner told the Louisiana encampment of Veterans of Foreign Wars meeting that "the communist soldiers did not use one single weapon of modern war against the troops in the bitter and bloody fighting on Heartbreak and Bloody Ridges in Korea."

The general said Communist soldiers had exacted the wounded total against American soldiers by using "...weapons of World War I, old rifles, old machine guns and light artillery."

Boatner said the fanatical philosophical beliefs of the Communists must also be fought since they kill their own rather than let them surrender."

Votes Cornered By Ike May Fail To Preserve Tax

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—President Eisenhower appeared today to have won enough key votes to extend the excess profits tax—but it was uncertain whether the votes could ever be cast.

Rep. Reed of New York, Republican chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, assailed the levy anew and gave no sign of calling the committee together for a showdown vote.

Winding up two weeks of hearings, Reed declared the administration had "failed to make a case" for the "vicious excess profits tax."

He renewed his campaign to let the levy die as scheduled on June 30, and to reduce individual income taxes by 10 per cent at the same time.

He said in a statement that the revenue reductions could be more than offset by slicing two billion dollars from the Eisenhower administration's pending $5,474,000,000 foreign aid bill and "by saving another two billion dollars as the result of an end to the fighting in Korea."

Reed told newsmen he did not know what future action would be taken by his committee. He said there was "not a chance" for a vote next week. He noted that the committee will begin extensive hearings Tuesday on proposals for wide-spread tax revision in the future.

Both Republicans and Democratic leaders, who have been close to tense maneuvering on the issue, said the administration has the votes to win if the committee meets on the excess profits tax question.

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) said emphatically "I know" a majority of the 15 Republicans on the committee are ready to bring the bill to the House floor."

Estimates of the total vote to bring a bill to the floor ranged from 13, the minimum required up to 18.

Red Boss In Reich On Skids

BERLIN, June 13 (AP)—East Germany's Red boss Walter Ulbricht, Kremlin favorite and trusted agent in the Stalin era, was reported on the skids tonight for opposing new Soviet-backed efforts for unity of Germany.

Such action runs contrary to the current de-Sovietizing policy undertaken in East Germany in the maneuverings of the post-Stalin regime of Premier Georgi Malenkov in Moscow.

A leading West Berlin Socialist newspaper, Telegram Am Sonntag, said Ulbricht was denounced by his own Soviet zone Politburo.

It reported he has been summoned to undergo investigation next week by the Communist Central Committee on his "arbitrary, mistaken and false policies."

The newspaper said the Politburo unanimously censured Ulbricht, the Communist party secretary general and deputy premier, in a secret session 48 hours after his drastic Sovietizing measures were repudiated by the East German government on Moscow's orders.

The Politburo was reported to have accused Ulbricht of "shattering the trust of the workers and

1st North-South Flight Landed Here Yesterday

Monroe and West Monroe were provided the much heralded north-south airlines when the first flight of Southern Airways, Inc., landed at Selman field shortly afternoon Saturday. The DC-3 flew into the Twin Cities at 12:37 p. m. from Memphis, Tenn., and Greenville, Miss., and left shortly afterwards for Natchez, Miss., and Baton Rouge and New Orleans.

Actual air service from the two connecting points has been sought by the local Chamber of Commerce and other interested organizations in the Twin Cities for the past several years. The announcement that the service had been approved by the Civil Aeronautic Board in Washington, D. C., made earlier this year, and the actual inaugural flight yesterday brought to a close one of the hardest fought and longest legal battles involving this area. Hearings were held in Birmingham, Ala., before being transferred to the nation's capital.

The flight yesterady left Memphis at 11 a. m. and arrived in Monroe one hour and 37 minutes later. The single passenger arriving in the Twin Cities on the plane was Mrs. Virginia Russell, who will be the guest in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Farmer and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dryburgh for the next week. Upon landing here, Mrs. Russell remarked that the trip here was her first flight and she was "a little excited."

The round-trip flight from Memphis to New Orleans, and back takes approximately six hours and 50 minutes with ten stops along the way. It connects Memphis on the north, with Greenville, Miss., Monroe, Natchez, Baton Rouge and New Orleans.

Young Girl Needs Help Of NE Louisiana Citizens

By YVONNE BRETT
State Editor

Provisions of monetary means to make an individual happy is but a small item in today's fast world.

A 17 - year - old girl who several years ago was just like any other normal girl, needs the support of northeast Louisiana to provide for her small rays of happiness to blot out many tragic and terrifying experiences which have gone past, and the many others which will be realized in the future.

This girl is Marie Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnston of Epps, who at present is a patient at Charity Hospital in New Orleans.

Her physician in New Orleans states in a letter addressed "To Whom It May Concern" that on April 23 Marie was operated on and that a tumor of the spinal cord was discovered. The physician further disclosed that the tumor could not be removed and that "time was all Marie had left of what once seemed a great big beautiful world holding many adventures and experiences for a young girl."

At the present time her condition necessitates use of an iron lung to enable the distressed child to breathe. Marie can never be removed from the lung, physicians state, and that only a few years, at the most, remain for her.

Marie's tragic story started when she was only 15, a sophomore at Epps High School and a member of the school basketball team. One day she noticed that slight headaches, which she had had quite frequently, had developed into terrifying poundings.

Her father, who has a small farm

State Okays $33-Million In Education Aid

Parish School Boards To Get Allotments

BATON ROUGE, La., June 13—(UP)—The State Board of Education announced Saturday, after three days of closed and public meetings, that it has approved the distribution of $33 million in public school funds.

A board spokesman said that members decided in a general session late Friday to allot parish school boards $44.40 for each child of educable age from the $33 million.

The school fund question was considered after board member Robert H. Curry had registered a complaint about a brief special meeting of the board held on Wednesday. Curry said that he was not notified of the Wednesday meeting which was held to give some college presidents authority to appear before the State Board of Liquidation to ask for emergency funds.

"I think it would be a dangerous thing if the board could meet without proper notice to all members," Curry said, "In this case it was not serious, but it might come up some time when it would be serious."

Curry also complained about the two days of private meetings held prior to the board's general meeting Friday.

"The way the board is being run now, you might as well not come to the board meeting if you miss the committee meetings," he said.

In other action, after hearing Curry's comments Friday, the board:

1. Ratified a mail ballot approving a teaching certificate for Dr. James Redmond, the new superintendent of schools for Orleans parish. Without a certificate, Redmond could not have served under present teacher certification regulations.

2. Accepted a bid of $168,700 from the firm of Caldwell and McCann of Baton Rouge for a new dormitory for the state school for Negro blind.

3. Accepted reports from its buildings committee which approved construction programs at Grambling College, Northeast State College and Louisiana Tech.

This report could not immediately be confirmed.

Rojas Pinilla announced that he would make a radio address to the nation at 10:30 p.m. EST.

Pending his talk, details of the coup were withheld.

Civil Servant Gains Party Prominence

OTTAWA June 13 (AP)—Jon W. Pickersgill, for years a civil servant known to relatively few persons, has suddenly emerged as a possible candidate for the leadership of the Liberal party, Canada's biggest.

The 47-year-old clerk of the Privy Council advanced to the Cabinet from the ranks of the civil service yesterday amid some indications that Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent might be regarding him as a future party head.

Peach Festival Is Big Success

RUSTON, June 13—(Special)—The third annual Louisiana Peach Festival, classified as the "best in the history of the celebration" ended here last night with a recording of more than 10,000 visitors to the two-day event.

Highlight of the state peach festival was the crowning of 16-year-old Bettye Hayes Wilder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilder, of Ruston, as Queen Dixie Gem by Commissioner of Agriculture Dave Pearce, of Baton Rouge.

The new queen, a junior at Ruston High School, will reign over what Louisiana growers classify as "the most thriving new peach in-

Crowned as Princess Peach was pretty five-year-old Nancy Holstead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Holstead, Jr., of Ruston. Mrs. Ellen Bryan Moore, registrar state land office, crowned the new Princess Peach.

Winning prizes for peaches entered in the state judging were Jim Tate, Ruston, named as grand champion with the Golden Jubilee variety, and M. S. Sumrall, of Ruston, reserve champion, the southland variety.

Soldiers Fire Near K. Truce Demonstrators

SEOUL, Sunday, June 14 (AP)—Street demonstrations in Korea, raging through the fifth day in mounting opposition to a truce, reached the point Saturday where U. S. soldiers fired carbines over the heads of stone-throwing youths.

More than 10,000 demonstrated in Seoul. Another 10,000 demonstrated in Pusan.

Until Saturday, only fire hoses had been used to discourage crowds from approaching too close to military equipment.

The latest incident occurred in Pusan, southeastern port. There a crowd of 200 youths, 17 to 19 years of age, stoned a U. S. truck hauling another vehicle.

Two U. S. soldiers on the truck fired 10 to 15 shots from carbines over the heads of the youths. This show of force cleared a path for the vehicles and the soldiers drove away. Later the soldiers were questioned by military police.

A military spokesman said the soldiers fired only after the Korean youths tried to board the truck.

President Syngman Rhee, while showing few signs of relenting in his adamant stand against any truce which would leave Korea divided, sought to counsel his supporters against violence.

Chicago Police Hunting Body Of State Legislator

CHICAGO, June 13 (AP)—Police today began a systematic search of Chicago's West Side for the body of Clem Graver, kidnaped state legislator.

High police officials said they feared the 53-year-old Republican leader—snatched from a street near his home Thursday night—is dead.

Additional police squads were ordered into the Maxwell Street police district—scene of the kidnaping—to aid more than 100 policemen already searching alleyways and other places where a body might be dumped.

Police Commissioner Timothy O'Connor appealed to all citizens to report any cars parked on the streets an unduly long time so that their trunks could be checked for Graver's body.

O'Connor ordered the stepped-up search as hope that the political leader might be returned alive dimmed.

Graver, who represented the 15th District in the Illinois Legislature since 1950, was seized by two men Thursday night as he parked his car in a garage a half-block from his home at 976 W. 18th St.

His wife, Amelia, 51, watched helplessly from the steps of the Graver home as her husband fought vainly to escape his abductors. Four other persons witnessed the kidnaping.

Investigators said they have not established a motive for the kidnaping. Members of Graver's family said they had not been contacted by the missing man or his abductors since he was seized.

Police began a roundup of known hoodlums for questioning in the case. Among those seized and held without formal charge was William P. Sheehan, 25, under federal indictment on charges of hijacking. He was seized near the Graver home.

Decision Delay On Rosenbergs Case Announced

WASHINGTON, June 13—UP—The U. S. Supreme Court Saturday put off until Monday a decision whether to order postponement of the scheduled execution Thursday of atomic spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

The justices considered the late hour appeal during their regular secret Saturday conference after Justice Robert H. Jackson passed the decision on to the full court because he did not want to assume the responsibility of deciding alone.

An announcement of a ruling on the request for a stay of execution now is expected on Monday at the court's last public session before the summer recess until Oct. 5.

Central Front 50-Mile Sector Attack Center

Chinese Reds Sweep ROKs Off Capitol Hill

SEOUL, Sunday, June 14 (AP)—Communist guns unleashed their greatest barrage of the Korean War along a 50-mile sector of the Central Front Friday and Saturday, supporting heavy attacks by thousands of Chinese infantrymen that reportedly swept South Korean troops off Capitol Hill, and ripped four holes in the main Allied line.

In the air Communist planes raided Seoul for the second time in a week but dropped no bombs. U. S. Sabre jets destroyed two MIGs over Northwest Korea.

Semi-official U. S. Eighty Army totals showed that during a 12-hour period ending at 6 a.m. Saturday the Communists fired 118,000 artillery and mortar shells.

An Allied officer said "maybe they are getting rid of their surplus ammo before this war ends."

In possibly one of the last great actions before an armistice the Chinese hammered heavily and without regard for casualties from White Horse Mountain, northwest of Chorwon, at Outpost Harry and its U. S. 3rd Division defenders for the third day, and at Sniper Ridge and Capitol Hill.

Fifteen Red attacks, launched Friday night roared on into Saturday at six points, the Eighth Army said.

At least 62,000 rounds of artillery and mortar fire fell on the South Korean 8th Division defend-

Tornado Victim, 7, Late To Find Legs Amputated

HOLDEN, Mass., June 13 (AP)—Seven-year-old Diane DeFoss discovered by chance today that the blind brutality of a tornado four days ago had left her without legs.

The tragic fact that her only chance to walk again is with artificial limbs was kept from the Worcester girl by hospital authorities until she had recovered from the shock of amputation.

A swirling tornado that took 86 lives smashed her home and mangled her legs.

A nurse told how, as Diane returned to consciousness, she made the discovery.

"She slid her hands beneath the covers and felt the stumps of her legs. It was suddenly borne home to her and she began to cry.

"'Does this mean I won't be able to walk any more?' she asked."

"We couldn't answer. What answer could we have given her? We had to turn away."

Another Hot One Is Expected For Today

The weatherman handed the Twin Cities another 99-degree maximum temperature and offered little or no hope for relief today.

Though yesterday's high was below that of previous days it created plenty of brow-wiping as residents sweltered. The forecast for today is "clear to partly cloudy," indicating that the weatherman is uncertain.

Huge Foreign Aid Cuts Supported By Sen. Taft

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—Sen. Taft (R.Ohio) has thrown his weight behind a move within the Senate Appropriations Committee to slash a substantial amount—perhaps more than a billion dollars—off the Eisenhower administration's $5,474,000,000 foreign aid request.

This puts Taft at odds with Secretary of State Dulles, Mutual Security Director Harold E. Stassen and, presumably, with President Eisenhower himself.

The Ohioan's support of Senate cuts adds steam to action of the House Foreign Affairs Committee in trimming the foreign aid program to $4,998,000,000. The House committee voted the cuts despite a personal plea for Eisenhower to members to approve the full fund.

Taft, who is spending the week end in a New York hospital for treatment of a hip ailment, confirmed that he had discussed the matter with appropriations committee members but said he is not committed to any paricular reduction. Previously, he had called for cuts ranging upward from a billion dollars.

The Ohio senator, whose ailment forced his temporary retirement as Senate majority leader, said that as a member of the foreign relations committee he had made no effort within that group to cut the figure because he did not believe "conditions were right there."

Old Method Scheduled For Use In Quest For Oil Vested Under Seas

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 13 (AP)—The nation's petroleum industry is prepared to use one of the oldest methods of oil exploration in its new, costly venture beneath the seas.

The formula is simple: first find a salt dome or salt plug, then drill on the flanks of that plug. Chances are you'll find oil in the area although it may take as many as 20 or 30 wells before the producing sand is located.

Geologists at the Kerr-McGee Oil Co., one of the pioneers in offshore oil exploration, say salt domes already have been located under water in the Gulf of Mexico.

They are formed when thousands of tons of salt are squeezed into a fracture of the earth's crust to form a solid plug. The movement of the salt affects the surrounding layers of earth, bending them upward and changing their normal shape.

Oil, flowing through the porous, changing areas is trapped on the flanks of the plug, which may be anywhere from a mile to three miles wide.

Since the salt is much less dense than the surrounding formations, the plug is easily located by seismic crews. That's when the companies begin sinking their exploratory wells, hoping to find trapped oil.

Competent authorities contend wells of 20,000 feet and deeper will be drilled in the Gulf of Mexico.

The salt dome method has been used successfully for years all along the coastal areas of the Gulf of Mexico, but using it successfully offshore is another story.

Kerr-McGee geologists, pointing out a barge and drilling rig to sink offshore wells which cost over a million dollars, said an oil company could go bankrupt before it finally struck a producing sand.

'You could find your salt domes through seismic exploration," they said, "and still go broke."

The geologists contended undoubtedly there are billions of barrels of oil lying under the seas.

"But," they added, "at the present time we still do not know if it will be a profitable operation."

They pointed out in some cases, where the cost of drilling a well is four times larger than drilling one on dry land, even if oil is recovered there may not be enough to justify the original investment.

Kerr-McGee spokesmen pointed out the battle between state and federal governments over control of the tidelands has kept operations at a minimum.

All the oil industry wants, a spokesman said, is for the matter to be settled once and for all so that leases can be purchased without fear they may be revoked at a later date.

In the meantime, the industry has geared itself to swing into action with one of the oldest successfull oil discovery techniques to find out if large-scale tidelands exploration is a financially sound idea.

Army Commends 39 Schools For ROTC Programs

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—The Army today gave honor designations to 39 military schools and junior colleges for excellence in their reserve officer training units.

The honor ratings were based upon the annual spring inspection of the 43 essentially military schools in the ROTC program. Each school with an honor rating may nominate up to three of its honor graduates to compete for appointments to the U. S. Military Academy, and three for the Naval Academy.

The honor nominees will take competitive examinations next March to fill whatever vacancies exist at that time in the ROTC quotas of the two service academies.

The Military Academy may have up to 40 ROTC honor graduates in its enrollment at one time, and the Naval Academy 10. Graduates of honor naval schools also may compete for the appointments.

Drama Promotes Hit Tunes From Film Features

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The movies are again inspiring a volume of popular records, but it's not because of musicals. The dramas are doing the selling.

Film musicals used to bring forth a number of hit songs and records. But something has happened. For one thing, the scores of movies haven't produced the singable tunes of yore. Also, the music business has become a topsy-turvy world in which inane jingles, cornball tunes and shouting singers in echo chambers have become hits.

Now comes a new wrinkle. The scores of dramatic pictures are producing songs and records that click. This is nothing new. In the old days, movies used to have theme songs that were played over and over again for a haunting effect.

Then there was the still-popular "Laura." The background theme of the picture, written by Davis Raksin, was lyricized by Johnny Mercer, and the song became a hit.

The current favorite is "Where is Your Heart?" which is billed as "Song from Moulin Rouge." (This kind of billing helps the exploitation of the picture). The Percy Faith record has topped the record selling, juke box and disc jockey lists for several weeks.

"Anna," by the Italian star, Sylvana Mangano, is another top seller. It is from the Italian film, which has been dubbed into English for American audiences. Another hit is "Ruby," as done by Richard Hayman and Les Baxter. It is taken from the Jennifer Jones-Charlton Heston film, "Ruby Gentry."

A popular orchestral number is the haunting music from "The Bad and the Beautiful," recorded by David Rose. A newcomer to the hit lists is "Return to Paradise," the music from the Gary Cooper film made in the South Pacific. It is available in versions by Rose and Percy Faith, among others. The theme from Charlie Chaplin's "Limelight" is also catching on.

The ballad from "High Noon" is still getting a play in the record business. The academy award for the tune helped revive it.

Alert producers will no doubt be fashioning more musical scores aimed at the popular music market. Their success aids greatly in the selling of a picture. I welcome the trend. Maybe these tunes will help get rid of that blankety-blank doggie in the window.

Note: "Song From the Moulin Rouge" shows the inadequacy of the academy voting procedure. It is the biggest song hit from a film in months, but it never got a nomination as the best song in a picture.

Doomed Tot Is Delighted By Flood Of Gifts

CAMP POLK, La., June 13 —UP—A delighted but bewildered five-year old boy, surrounded by a deluge of gifts, asked his father where they came from.

"They're from friends of yours in Camp Polk who want you to get well," his father said. But little Jon Allen Parmer will not get well. Doctors give the boy, stricken with leukemia, just three short months to live.

It is the last Christmas for Jon, a Christmas in June.

But it is a wealthy and happy Christmas for the boy. Soldiers of Camp Polk have given him cards, gifts, toys, clothing, swimming pools, cowboy suits, record players and records, radios, offer of trained nurses, money — and about everything else they thought would bring happiness.

His father, Master Sgt. Raymond Parmer of the 52nd Military Police Company, told the contributors: "I don't have words to thank you people enough."

It was just a few weeks ago that Jon came down with the dread disease. Even before that life was not easy. After a series of illnesses including pneumonia, measles, anemia, operations and countless blood transfusions, he was taken to Brooke Medical Center at Fort Sam Houston.

Jon stayed there a short time and then returned to spend his remaining time with his father, mother and a younger brother.

But Jon really returned to a larger family. All the soldiers at Camp Polk became part of his family.

The 35th Engineer Group wrote to a tractor company and secured working models of all their tractors, farm equipment and road graders. The 4009th ASU Separation Center collected a large box of toys and are still adding things.

Farm Plan Study Goal Of Benson

By PATRICIA WIGGINS

WASHINGTON, June 13—UP—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson disclosed Saturday he has asked the big three farm organizations, experiment stations and 15 groups of agriculture department employes will study specific phases of "present and proposed programs."

This means that Benson is ignoring the controversial "grass roots" poll conducted by his Democratic predecessor, Charles F. Brannan, results of which are now gathering dust in department attics.

It also means that Benson has enlisted the support of the powerful American Farm Bureau Federation which refused to participate in Brannan's poll and denounced it as a political maneuver aimed at winning farm support for the Democrats in the last Presidential election.

In a letter to the Federation, the National Grange and the National Farmers Union, dated June 5, Benson noted that the new GOP administration's farm policies "will be under critical review" by Congress next year "if not earlier."

He said his department has a "responsibility" to aid Congress in developing farm legislation and added that "the advice we give will have greater substance and be more sound if, during the period of our study and planning, we know the thinking of and secure ideas from the farm people."

Benson's most immediate problem is to cope with a record high wheat supply and still keep the farmers happy. Under present law he has no choice but to issue an order by July 1 imposing government production controls reducing next year's plantings by about 30 per cent to avert surpluses.

Major Nial Will Answer Queries Of GI's In N-S

Between the life of a soldier and the life of a civilian, there is a deep, difficult chasm to cross. Major Thomas N. Nial has crossed it twice.

He knows, from personal experience, of the adjustments a GI has to make getting out of uniform. His long career as a veteran of two wars, writer and business man marks him as an uthority on the problems of soldiers returning to the civilian community.

Like thousands of others, Nial grew restless hearing the roll of war drums in 1917 and left yra cuse University in his senior year. He enlisted in the army that April. A short time later he switched to the new aviation section of the signal corps as an air cadet. In September, 1917, he was shipped to England.

His baptism in combat came as a pursuit pilot — a night figher flying against raiding German Gothas. In one of his early missions, he was wounded, but two weeks later he was back again roaming the skies, on the prowl for the enemy.

Then in the summer of 1918, he crashed and suffered serious injuries. He was hospitalized until April, 1920, when he was discharged because of his disability.

Recovered, Nial went to work for an insurance agency and did so well he was made its head after a few months. During these and subsequent civilian years, he wrote as a free lancer and saw his articles achieve wide publication.

Then came Pearl Harbor and Tom Nial again offered his services to his country. Early in 1942, he received a commission in the Air Corps. After training at Miami Beach, he was sent to Newark Army Air Base and then to the Syracuse Army Air Base for assignment as public relations officer and base intelligence officer.

In November, 1943, he became commanding officer of the Syracuse Base. But hard luck dogged him. Several months after becoming "CO," he was injured in an accident at the base, aggravating war drums in 1917 and left Syra- Late in 1944, shortly after being made a lieutenant colonel, Nial was placed on the inactive list.

The following January, Nial began writing "Veterans Guide" for The Associated Press. No man was more aware that veterans needed guidance. Few men were more qualified to give it.

Starting tomorrow and every Monday, Wednesday and Friday henceforth, Major Nial will bring his up-to-date column "Draftee and Veterans Guide" to the people of this area in the Monroe News-Star.

Major Nial will answer any questions concerning your service problems — just write him in care of the News-Star.

RECEIVES HONORS — Miss Manzie Guerriero, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Guerriero of this city, is the only co-ed on the editorial staff of the "T-Square," a Vanderbilt University publication for engineering students.

Bar Association Denies Advising Test Suspension

Denial has been made by the Louisiana State Bar Association that it recommended to the supreme court the suspension of bar examinations during the present Korean conflict. The bar association statement follows:

"Many of our state newspapers printed an article on Wednesday, June 3, 1953, which quoted the Louisiana supreme court to the effect that its order suspending bar examinations during the present Korean conflict had been recommended by the board of governors of the Louisiana State Bar Association.

"This order of the Supreme Court, issued June 2, suspending bar examinations during the present Korean conflict — insofar as it applies to a graduate of an approved Louisiana law school belonging to the Association of American Law Schools, or to the Southern University Law School of Louisiana, or to a graduate of a law school outside of Louisiana which belongs to that association — with the required Louisiana law school certificate - was not recommended by the board of governors of the Louisiana State Bar Association.

"On the contrary, the State Bar Association has previously gone on record as opposing the adoption of any suspension or abolition of bar examinations.

"The misunderstanding no doubt arose from the fact that the supreme court asked our State Bar Association's committee on bar admissions to draw up an order affecting certain changes in the requisites for admission to practice. It is customary for the court to ask the association's committee to draw up such orders. However, in preparing the order, no sanction of it by the bar association is implied.

"It should also be noted that Associate Justices Frank W. Hawthorne and E. Howard McCaleb objected to the order, taking the position, in which the State Bar Association concurs, that all applicants for admission to the bar should be required to take the bar examinations.

"We would deeply appreciate your clarification of our position with your readers."

Old Glory—176 Years Old Today

"Resolved that the flag of the United States shall be 13 stripes, alternate red and white, that the union will be thirteen stars, white on a blue field representing a new constellation."

Thus, on June 14th, in the year 1777, Congress officially adopted the flag of the United States. That beautiful piece of cloth which has more meaning to it than can ever be described, now bears 48 stars and probably will carry two more in the near future if present indications about Hawaii and Alaska are correct.

Much water has passed under the bridge since the flag was adopted. From its meager beginning as the symbol of thirteen very disunited colonies resisting oppression by the British crown, the flag has grown to represent 48 mighty states, all united in one aim, the worship of God, and the preservation of the Republic. In recent years, much has passed which has shamed the beautiful American flag. Native Americans have beheld other natives smirking at the flag for which countless American men and women have died, in favor of a revolting red banner with a hammer and sickle emblazoned in gold on its surface. The Americans have had to stand aside and behold the "U. N." flag which ironically enough, greatly resembles the Soviet flag, assume a morbid sort of supremacy over the Stars and Stripes. Not only that, but the flags of other nations fly alongside the American flag in complete and uncalled for equality.

Perhaps on the birthday of Old Glory, it might be well to consider its great history. From the beginning, the flag has been a banner representing the freedom of mankind under a new form of government. Old in theory, but new in practice, the Republic of the United States was never meant to be a "democracy". The Soviet Union is a "democracy." That is the state of affairs where rule is by the mass of the people, not by representatives schooled in the affairs of government. A democracy, as records have shown, clearly and quickly becomes an oligarchy or a mobocracy.

The elected representatives of the people are the "board of trustees" so to speak, who are entrusted by the people to run their government. When they do wrong, the people can remove them.

In the past 176 years, the flag has seen several major wars, all fought to a victorious conclusion by the force of American arms. In the past 20 years, however, there has entered this Republic, a philosophy alien to everything American. This philosophy has changed the theory of victorious wars. It is the philosophy that there is a greater government than that of the U. S. That is, a "government of the world." The U. S. government has become shackled to this government which now even transcends the U. S. constitution and the laws of the land.

So powerful is this philosophy, that 64 senators have deemed it vitally necessary to protect the constitution and the flag by an amendment to the constitution which will keep the laws of this land from harm. This philosophy, developed during the last few decades, has given rise to an idea developed by a cruel, sordid man who believed that "all government should end" and the "proletariat should rule." Until this philosophy came to these shores, a European invention, alien to the American way of life, the American people all believed they were equal. There was no "little man" and there was no "proletariat" to be "trod upon" by other "classes". That is still the truth. All Americans have equal opportunity under the law.

Today is a day to celebrate the birthday of your beautiful flag. Consider its great past, its meaning to every American, and resolve that it shall never be trampled upon by sources either inside or outside these United States. The American flag is a symbol of American honor. It is a symbol of the 48 states united in a belief in God and right. As such, never permit it to be overshadowed by an alien flag representing members who despise God and right and honor.

Guard and protect this beautiful flag with your life. You see, the American flag is a symbol of your life. Should anything happen to it, your life will be in jeopardy. Raise it to the loftiest heights and keep it there.

God protect our beautiful flag.

Long may it wave over this great Republic in peace, serenity and supremacy.

They Died In Vain God Rest Their Souls

There are now an unaccountable amount of Americans missing and dead in the Korean "police action" which seems destined to draw to a miserable conclusion, steeped in appeasment. It is the first major war, the very first war fought by Americans not to have at least been fought to a successful conclusion by American arms.

This conclusion was forced on the hapless American people by two major nations, anxious to save their own necks and to bring their own selves more pecuniary tranquility, bar the consequences. This theory of "get in a war, but do not win it," is something entirely new to the United States. From the time the Americans first entered Korea, it was presumed that the American nation would rid from the Korean peninsula, the militant Communist aggressors. This was finally done with great loss of American and Korean lives.

Then, the American people were amazed to see the Chinese "people's volunteers" come into the war in a sneak attack which greatly parallels that of the Japanese on Pearl Harbor. After the Chinese had thrown the Americans out of North Korea, again with great loss of American lives, they were themselves thrown into riot and disorder by the same Americans, unfortunately, with even more loss of life.

The Commander of the theater, General MacArthur, and his field commanders, begged the defense department to allow them to win the war by taking it home to the Chinese Communist interlopers. They were refused and the American troops were shamefully left to die without even a chance to protect themselves. This was done because the "U. N." desired it so. It was done because American traitors and appeasers desired it.

Instead of allowing the great Commander to win the war, he was brought back in supposed humiliation sponsored by the leftists and the Communists inside this American government. These sources, never in their wildest nightmare, imagined the reception received by Douglas MacArthur when he returned. Had they imagined such, it is likely that they would have at least left him alone as his removal was one of the reasons for their loss at the polls in the last election.

Then, the Americans beheld their Secretary of State, a member of the law firm which originally helped the Soviet Union's recognition by the U. S., eagerly grovel at a Communist "truce." He grabbed at it with the knowledge that the Chinese were on the way to certain defeat. He grabbed at it knowing that it would make the United States resemble this nation in a suit for peace, not the Communists. He grabbed at it knowing that it might have been a stall, and he insisted that the negotiations be carried on despite the knowledge that the Reds were rearming their shattered armies and regrouping for another attack.

Now, the Americans are beholding their government signing a truce which leaves Korea disunited and separated with a well armed enemy to the North, ready to break this flimsy "truce" and march down the peninsula at a moment's notice. They behold this government being forced into this truce by two nations which at best, offered but a token in the war and who are now demanding the terms of the armistice, never mind the result. The result will forever damn this nation as an appeaser and deserter. The position of the United States has been lowered forever in the eyes of the world.

The men who died, died not in the name of the "United Nations," but in the belief that they were fighting for the freedom of not only Korea, but the United States. They have thus given their precious lives in vain, because the position of this nation, due to the truce, is more dangerous than ever before in history.

These men will look on the American people with the sad eyes of death and certainly ask "why?" They, the potential leaders and guides of the destiny of these United States, lie under the soil of a land far away. Some of them have been returned home. Those who are responsible for the deaths of these men, and each and every Communist alive, each appeaser at Yalta, and each traitor inside the American government will face someday these gallant men who are no more on earth.

They are murderers as certainly as if they shot these soldiers themselves.

These soldiers died in vain, God rest their souls. May they live forever in eternal peace.

Teachers—Unsung Heroes

There is hardly a group of people in the nation with a more important job than those entrusted with the shaping of the minds of American youth. Few people seem to realize that from the time a child is seven or eight years old, he is sent to school where he or she spends a great majority of their waking hours. What they learn in their early years, is to a great extent, dependent upon the teachers in the grammar schools.

Those teachers, to the young people, are the "mothers away from home." As they progress through the early years, into high school, the job of molding their minds does not become less important, if anything, it increases due to the "dangerous" times of adolescence. It is the high school teachers and professors who to a great extent, develop the initial urge to learn in students and it is during this period, that the real character of a young man or woman begins to develop.

It is the high school instructors who prepare the student for either the university, or in many cases, "the outside world of business." The importance of the grammar school and high school teachers, professors and instructors cannot ever be overemphasized.

Unfortunately youth is somethimes led down the wrong path.

The records clearly show that in a dictatorship, it is the youth upon which great importance is placed. From the time a child is three years of age, the dictatorship takes them "in tow" and begins their initial training. Consider Hitler, the former Fuhrer of Germany. At the age of four, the children of the Reich were put in special "Kindergartens" operated by the officials of the Jungvolk organization. There, they were actually taught the rudiments of the National Socialist code, including the "superiority of the Nordic" race and the German people over any other "subhuman" race. Then, the students developed into the Jungvolk organization of lads and girls from eight to about twelve years. There, they received advanced training along the same lines.

After their twelfth birthday, they were (the boys) advanced to the Hitler Jugend (Hitler Youth) and the "Hitler Maedchen" (Hitler Girls). The girls were taught the glories of motherhood, without the mentioning of the blessed act of matrimony in connection with such teachings. They studied history as many of the perverted "nordic" professors instructed them. The boys were taught the glories of militarism and death for valor and other such teachings.

The fruits of all this were harvested in the war when Germans seemed to regard all other peoples as slaves and subhumans. The Soviet Union adopts almost the same idea. They have different terms but instruction is along the same lines of developing good Communists.

Fortunately, in this nation, the students are taught the history of this republic and how to live peaceably with one another if possible. It is the all important job of the American teacher to take the youth of this nation and develop his or her character along the lines of a free people, living in respect of each other. To date, the grammar school and high school teachers are doing a grand job. It is not until they reach the university level that the students begin to delve into politics and other philosophies. The grammar and high school instructors are to be congratulated for a job well done, one which perhaps never receives enough credit.

Salute To Competition

A businessman has a plaque on a wall above his desk which reads as follows:

"My competitors do more for me than my friends do; my friends are too polite to point out my weaknesses, but my competitors go to great expense to advertise them.

"My competitors are efficient, diligent and attentive; they make me search for ways to improve my products and services.

"My competitors would take my business away from me, if they could; this keeps me alert to hold what I have.

"If I had no competitors I would be lazy, incompetent, inattentive; I need the discipline they enforce upon me.

"I salute my competitors; they have been good to me. God Bless them all!"

Lights Over Broadway

By Walter Winchell

Diana Barrymore Has New Punch Line

The Big Brawl that featured Diana Barrymore (in the headlines) included some startling dialog. Diana (sold cober) informed reporters: "I don't mind being punched. Noel Coward once said women should be struck regularly like a gong and he's right. Women are no damn good." (Down, Girl!)... The July issue of Photoplay answers Joan Crawford's huffy comment about Marilyn Monroe's sinticing publicity. Publishes one of Joan's nudiful photos ... "I Believe" has been translated into French and Italian. It is being rendered at grad exercises and in churches all over the land, too. (Beautiful poetry. Thrilling music) ... How zilly can they get: A new rhythm and blues group is named The Plaid Throats ...How critical can they get? Cue mag's reviewer scolded a new radio show before it premiered ... Big Let-Down Dept. (via a Girl Friday memo): "For every dollar you earn you keep a dime."

Wednesday's punchline: "Isn't the Secret Service making a mad search for Albert Drevney? A homicidal maniac (last seen in Boston) suspected of plotting to assassinate the President" ... From the headlines next day: "Federal Agents arrested Albert J. Drevney, formerly of Denver. Sought throughout the country on charges of writing letters threatening to assassinate President Eisenhower."

Was It Hot? One Broadway record-shop had to change its entire window display. Every disc melted in the windows...Recommended: Lionel Hampton's new "Lullaby to Benny Goodman." Four major firms are bidding for the album rights. Goodman discovered Lionel soda-jerking (in a Los Angeles drug store) 15 years ago ... Sign of Changing Times: Lingerie (once called Underwear) is now called Intimates by Elsa Schiaparelli. "Beautiful enough," she reports, "to wear as outer garments" ... The World's Largest Beer Bottle is now on ice. Without it B'way and 43rd looks glum ... Prettiest disc jockess in town: Evelyn Robinson, Sugar's kid sister. (Station WOV, as in I Wov You) ... Query on a postcard: "Whatever happened to April Stevens?" ... She's in love with Glenn McCarthy of Houston, Texas.

The lowdown on why a disc jurq was dropped: "There wasn't a night that we didn't have several fist-fights. People at the bar taking sides. Business was never good. Most of his patrons were leftys, etc. The boss said he wouldn't keep him if he made $1,000 a week profit. Many of the creep's friends and stooges gave the place a repulsive aroma. They ran up over $1,000 in free-loading which El Pinko promised to pay and never did. One night Sherry Britton (and a friend) came in late and ordered food which was refused. Raised a big holler and Our Hero chimed in ... The Boss walked over and quietly informed them: 'As soon as he pays a bill he owes for $1,000, we will be glad to serve his friends' ... Once the house detective had to forcibly eject him. 'The Disease,' as they called him around the place, had a good deal here but loused it up in his own inimitable double-dealing way and hysterics. You know he's a heterosexual, of course." (Oh, evvybody knows That!)

Don't miss the "Willie Howard" style of tunes from "The Mikado." Very comical ... Unfair Item: A movie mag has 5 photos of La Grable and not one displays her nylons ... Burt Lancaster was never braver than he is in the "South Sea Woman" film. Sinks a Jap Destroyer, breaks up an Enemy Landing and captures Virginia Mayo. (Jeeee!) ... They finally carried away another disc jockey the other day. Now at a "Rest Farm" yipping at men in white coats ... Johnnie Ray's Columbia waffle of "With These Hands" is oof'ly good, but his "Somebahdeeeee Stowlll My Gal!" is wonderful ... What Price Glory? Bill Tilden's death was still in the headlines (in L. A.) when the pawnshop next to The Brown Derby filled its windows with his Cups and Trophies, dating back to 1910 ... Arlene Dahl is now a colyumist. (Lesh Go To Presh!) ... The "Julius Caesar" marquee is the neatest in town.

It's practically impossible for any yodeler to spoil "No Other Love," the hit from "Me and Juliet." A tantalizing Perry Como in tango-tmpo ... Margaret Truman's versatility was entertaining again on Berle's final program for the season. Her hoofing and spoofing, espesh. (Wonder if she remembers who demonstrated a soft-shoe routine one Stork Club middle-of-the-night) ... A Bistro (recently reopened in the Village) is already in hock for 27 Gs ... The newest recording artists include Ebenezer Prout (A.-Bell Records); Pinky Vidacovich (Pelican) and Christine Kittrell (Republic) to name some odd-monickers ... Add platters you'll enjoy: Dolores Hawkins' (Okeh) of "Happy Tears" ... Errol Flynn (the authority on the subject) proclaimed: "A woman's honesty about her personal affairs is like a negligee. More intriguing if it is not too revealing." (End of Shrug.)

Headline: "Plan Film About Eva Peron." (Who'll they hire to play the love-interest — Dracula?) ... Offering from an Overheated Contributor: "Walter! Don'tcha think Syngman oughta Rheetire?" (Now you get right outta here!) ... Bob Kennedy thinks a lot of the producers of 3-D pictures are cineramateurs ... Headline: "South Koreans Will Fight Without U. S." (Now they tell us!)... "Bronx Man Finds Penguin in Front Yard." (There's a switch. The Bronx Getting the Bird) ... Judge Samuel Liebowitz's friends raised $250,000 for a campaign fund to make him Mayor .... Query: "Walter, didjez ever use the word-wedding: 'She's from You-Alleans, Louisiana'?" (Huh-huh) ... Poundridge socialite Edith Barnard weds Chet La Roche, Jr., son of the ad exec, on the 27th ... Louis Nye had a nightmare. Dreamt his wife and Marilyn Monroe had a fight over him and his wife won!

There isn't a better film than "Man On A Tightrope." A memorable anti-Commy movie ... If you like show-biz you ll love Ward Morehouse's book, "Just The Other Day" (McGraw-Hill) ... Adlai Stevenson has a real victory in his book, "Major Campaign Speeches." Among the best-sellers ... Marlon Brando's expert size-up of Follywood: "The ruling passions here are fear and love of money" ...Lovers go limp when they hear "Ruby," "Portugal" and The Song (From "Moulin Rouge') ...Doris Day bravely announced: "I like to sign autographs." (Oh, so You're The One?) ... Liz Taylor decorates the covers of five movie mags. It couldn't have happened to a prettier face. (End of Wink.)

And say a prayer today . . . That God will always help us keep . . .
Our democratic way . . . Let us give gratitude to Him . . .
For our United States . . . With justice and equality . . . And freedom from all hates . . . With liberty to live our lives . . .
In peace and unity . . . And to protect our human rights . . .
And worldly property . . . Let us salute the stars and stripes
. . . Our great red, white and blue . . . And give again our solemn pledge . . To be forever true . . . And let us pray to God today . . . That we shall never lag . . . In cherishing and fighting for . . . Our own, beloved flag.

Vandalism In The Cemeteries

West Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

On May 28 and 29, the ladies of the Hudson - Leehy auxiliary of West Monroe, went to Hasley cemetery and placed small American flags on all veterans graves. After Memorial services Sunday morning at the veterans plot, the ladies from auxiliary and men from the post went with arms full of fresh flowers to put on the graves. It was then that we found that most of the flags from the extreme west side of the cemetery had been removed.

I do not have words to express the character of the culprits who would be so low to take or allow a child to take a flag off a veterans grve.

Some of these men gave their lives that we, that are at home, can enjoy peace and prosperity.

These flags and flowers that the veteran organizations put on these graves once a year is to show that they are still remembered and these organizations would appreciate the help of every one in seeing that these little remembrances are left as placed.

The purpose of this letter is to let the relatives of veterans know that if a flag was not seen, it was filched.

Flags are not the only things that have been stolen. Vases and flowers are taken. In my estimation a cemetery is the most sacred place and those that have loved ones there would appreciate things being left alone.

I'm sorry I'm late with this article, but I feel it is never too late to call the attention of the public to what is going on. Something must be done to protect our cemeteries.

MRS. JOE HENDRICKS,
President of Hudson - Leehy Aux 3993 of West Monroe, La.

Timmons In Washington

Taft's Leadership In Senate To Be Missed

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The Eisenhower administration could have spared a number of its top ranking people better than Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, whom an ailing hip has forced to give up the Republican leadership of the Senate for the balance of this session.

That observation is being made by Republicans as well as Democrats, for members of his own party best know that the progress of the G. O. P. in charge of the government has come to depend almost as much on Taft as on the president.

Taft, known before his unsuccessful contest with Eisenhower for the nomination as a somewhat impulsive senator of great family name who had become the idol of Republican conservatives, has risen to the responsibility of leadership in a fashion surprising to some of his friends, who feared he would be frequently at odds with the chief executive.

The Ohio Senator has provided professional counterbalance to the amateurs on the Eisenhower team, has worked more closely with the President than any other available Republican could have and has done it with infinite composure and an immense amount of tact, qualities which are often lacking among political leaders.

The possibility is not overlooked here that Senator Taft may not only be absent for the balance of this session, but may have to relinquish leadership entirely, for the ailment which has caused him to step aside temporarily could bring his political career to an untimely end. The constant drive to which a party leader in the Senate is subjected prevents a man with a physical handicap from carrying the burden.

In his absence, the Republican side of the Senate is confronted with a dilemma which may prove harmful to the president's "must" legislation and cause a jam which will prolong this session. Taft has been such a factor in holding together the factions and groups of his party that his temporary abdication as leader cannot be minimized.

For example, he has been successful in keeping the peace between the White House and Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (Rep. Wis.) as McCarthy teed off on several occasions against the state department, roughed up Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, and wrote a mandatory letter to the president, asking for direct information on use of British ships to carry men and supplies to Chinese Communist ports. The letter apparently was never sent.

Senator Taft has not only been a harmonizer between an administration getting its feet on the ground, and rather slow about doing so, and a number of Senate Republicans seeking to strike down everything reminiscent of the 20 years of Democratic rule and intent on making their mark in history.

He has also been a critic of the White House when his own views were in sharp conflict with those of the president. Currently, his prediction that the U. S. will have to resort to an alliance with Britain and France in the Pacific and let the United Nations follow its own course stands up well, in view of the clouded prospect for a Korean armistice.

The Republicans have no natural successor for Senator Taft as Senate leader. Senator Eugene D. Milliken of Colorado who probably ranks next to Taft in qualities of leadership, is not physically able to take over the load. Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire may assert rights of seniority, but he has not Taft's qualities of leadership. Senator William F. Knowland of California, youngest and most aggressive of the possibilities is not only from the same state as Vice President Richard M. Nixon, but politically at loggerheads with him over state political organization.

With reciprocal trade, the Taft-Hartley act revisions, tax changes, appropriation bills — the whole core of the administration program —jammed up on the legislative highway, the loss of Senator Taft's active leadership is the biggest blow the Eisenhower administration has received to date. And if Senator Taft does not return to leadership next session, the resulting confusion will increase the President's problems.

Fire Alarm Operators Quick, Alert Ever-Ready

By BILL ANDERSON

The telephone rang! Red headed alarm operator Harold Lenard took the receiver from the hook with one hand, and picked up a pencil with the other. "Fire Department!" he announced. As the caller talked, Lenard wrote down the address.

A moment later he flipped a button on the switchboard, "Station Number 6," answered a fireman at the other end of the line.

"Grass fire! 2900 Point Drive," Lenard said.

Only seconds between the time the phone rang in alarm headquarters at Station No. 1 on St. John Street, and Engine 106 raced away from Station No. 6 on Forsythe Avenue.

Such calls are routine to Monroe's alarm operators, Lenard, P. V. Cutrer Leland Petagna and relief operator Melvin Johnston. The moment a fire is reported, the operators determine which fire companies cover the location, and by means of direct phone lines to each station dispatch the fire trucks to the location. In cases where the caller fails to state the type of fire, the operators assume that it is a house fire and dispatch the designated number of trucks for that area.

"The worst problem we have to cope with," Lenard said, "is people, who, due to their excitement, fail to give us the correct address."

When asked what happens if the fire line, 5151, is in use when a second person is trying to report a fire also, he explained that there are three separate lines coming into the alarm center. If one line is in use the call is automatically switched over to one of the other lines, without the caller even realizing it.

The operator further explained that when alarm boxes are pulled, a bell is sounded in all stations, while the box number is punched automatically on paper tape. Firemen looking at the tape can determine if the call box is in their area, and if it is the trucks are dispatched to the box's location. All trucks are equipped with two-way radios, so that additional help can be summoned without a moments delay if needed.

Residents need not worry that alarms turned in by them will get mixed up with alarms sounded by other people at another call box at the same time. An ingenious device, called a repeater, located at alarm headquarters, solves that problem. If more than one alarm box is pulled at the same time, the repeater will hold back one call momentarily until the other or others have been punched on the tape, when it will be released, thus preventing garbled calls.

The inventor of the repeater seems to have thought of everything. A switch was placed beneath the weight of the repeater—it operates similar to a cuckoo clock—so that when the mechanism has run down, the weight will come to rest on the switch, that will in turn sound a siren notifying the operator the machine needs to be rewound.

"When in doubt about their ability to bring a fire under control, people should turn in an alarm immediately." Lenard said. "Or if possible, they should have someone else report the fire, while they try to keep it from spreading.

"We are here 24 hours a day to protect the people of Monroe from fire. That is our job and we like it. But what we don't like is people who turn in "false alarms" just for kicks. Statistics prove that more firemen are killed annually in the United States answering false alarms than lose their lives fighting fires."

A new alarm system and station will be built on Louisville Avenue in the near future, Chief H. L. Hales said.

Moonshiners Spread Rumors About Police

DELAND, Fla., June 13 (AP)—Volusia County Sheriff Jim Ticker says "the racket boys are retaliating"—and in a might underhanded manner—for a current drive to stamp out moonshining and gambling.

The sheriff says it's like this:

"They have made phone calls to my wife and the wives of my deputies telling them we were out with such and such a woman of ill repute. This has created a situation where we not only must run the sheriff's office but a school of domestic relations as well."

VICTORY FOR DRYS

Summer Registration At Northeast Up 28 Per Cent

Total summer school enrollment at Northeast State reached 435, it was announced Saturday by the registrar's office. The number represents an increase of more than 28 per cent over last summer's student body of 339.

Enrollment figures do not include 40 pupils who are attending the Campus Laboratory School nor persons who will participate in campus workshops.

The summer term of 1950, the first to be offered after Northeast was expanded to a senior college, had 115 students registered, a little more than one-fourth the number of the current enrollment The total of summer school students exceeds the figures for the last regular semester registration when Northeast State was known as Northeast Junior College.

Along with the increase in summer students has been additional course offerings and facilities. One of these is the Campus Laboratory School, planned for both upper and lower elementary pupils.

Children of these grade levels will participate next week in a demonstration in leather craft. Parents and teachers are invited to attend the project in room 107 of the science building on the Northeast campus. Daily demonstrations from Monday through Friday are scheduled from 10:25 to 11:15 a. m. Belts, bags and key holders are among the leather and suede articles which will be used in the project.

Other specialties on the summer calendar include a recent trip to Grand Isle where science students, accompanied by their instructor, Edward Whatley, studied and identified various marine specimens found there. Many of these will be placed in the science museum on the campus.

Another field study is the geology summer camp which is being directed by John McCarter of the science department for geology students who are working in the Ozark Mountains around the region of Fayetteville, Ark.

An innovation in the class schedule is the inclusion of business administration and secretarial science courses, scheduled from 6 to 7:40 a. m. and at the same hours in the evening. These were planned especially for persons who wished to earn college credits and still hold their regular jobs in the business area.

Course added this term include a class in the organization and administration of school libraries, the first of its kind to be given at the college. Other "firsts" in Northeast's curricular offerings are journalism and English 150, a course designed for those who are interested in problems of sponsoring school yearbooks, class or school newspapers, and the handling of school news, and a class in health and physical education for women which emphasizes rhythms suitable for elementary pupils.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Yes. Men differ from each other; women differ from women and the sexes differ from each other more today than in the world's history. This is because of more varied and complex environment. This gives each individual more opportunity to express and develop his natural abilities. As the late E.L. Thorndike, said, "In a poor environment men advance slowly to low positions; in a rich environment they advance rapidly to high positions." And there are vastly more positions to secure.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Many don't, according to philosopher L. William Norris. Learning should be fun, he says, and quotes philosopher Bergson that learning "Is the joy of God, because you join God in the creative process central in all things." It's fun to create something — new thoughts, attitudes, ideals. Even learning a new word increases your creative power. Our booklet, "How To Increase Your Word Power, Think Better, Spell Perfectly," will help. Sent at cost, 15 cents (coin only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Psychologist George Mouly compared 155 university students who took a required reading improvement course with 164 who did not. When the grades of the students who took the course seriously were compared with those who merely "sat it through," the serious students considerably outclassed the chairwarmers. The Lord help those who try to help themselves. Same with college students.

Switzerland To Serve On Truce And POW Units

BERN, Switzerland, June 13 (AP)—Switzerland changed her mind and decided today to serve on the Korean armistice and prisoner of war commissions regardless of whether South Korea accepts the terms hammered out by the Communists and the United Nations Command.

Divisional Col. Fritz Rihner (retired) 62, was appointed to lead a 100 man military mission from this traditionally neutral nation to join missions from Sweden, Poland and Czechoslovakia in supervising the armistice as soon as the armistice is signed.

Sixty days after that signing, a second Swiss mission will be dispatched to work with Indians, Swedes, Poles and Czechs on the five-nation commission to handle the prisoners of war who refuse repatriation. The commander of the second mission has not yet been named.

Switzerland's seven-man Federal Council (Cabinet), in announcing the decisions, reverse- a stand that the Swiss would stay at home unless the truce was accepted by the government of President Syngman Rhee, who has denounced the proposed terms and threatened to fight on against the Communists.

The council's reservation, disclosed Tuesday, drew fire from Swiss newspapers of all political shades. They contended the reservation was likely to delay the conclusion of an armistice.

Foreign Minister Max Petitpierre hinted Wednesday the council's position was subject to modification. He told the foreign affairs committee of the Chamber of Deputies that Switzerland "could be induced" to serve on the POW commission.

All the other nations nominated have announced their acceptance, though Prime Minister Nehru told newsmen in London Wednesday that India would have to reconsider her position if South Korean troops broke away from the United Nations Command.

India is to have the biggest military contingent.

Populating Pace Curbs Suggested To Aid Director

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—An advisory committee reported today to Foreign Aid Chief Harold E. Stassen that steps should be taken to curb the fast growth of populations in some areas of Asia, Latin America and elsewhere.

Unless this is done, the board suggested, U. S. aid to develop the economies of those areas may simply pave the way for Communist domination.

The study committee of educators, economists and others did not say specifically what steps should be taken to limit population. It steered clear of the phrase "birth control." This is involved in religious controversy; the Roman Catholic church opposes birth control methods except those based on abstention.

The committee stressed this thesis: as things stand now, public health and other modernization methods cut the death rate, but the birth rate remains high. Thus the rise in population outruns the growth in capacity to produce food and other goods and the people are as poverty-stricken as ever, or more so.

"Indications are," the commission said, "that the birth rate will eventually follow the death rate downward—but how long after the economic development job has been taken over by the Communists because the rising expectations of the people have been disappointed?"

"There is, of course," it said, "no easy answer to this perennial question. A massive attack on the production problem, including an emphasis on those health measures that will most directly benefit production, combined with real steps in the direction of conscious promotion of population limitations, both seem to be required."

THESE ARE THE SOUTH KOREANS

'Stay and Fight' Is Their Slogan and ROKs Today Are Far Cry From Troops Who Fled Before North Korean Invaders in 1950

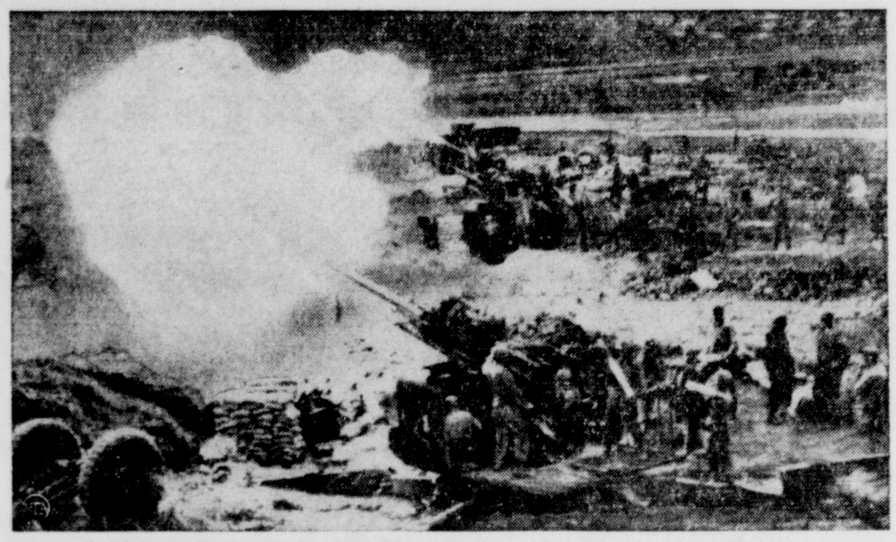
TRAINED BY U. S. These South Korean troops pay strict attention as an American instructor explains the 3.5-inch bazooka.

ROK recruits took naturally to "cold steel" under U. S. experts.

Future mainstay of the ROK army were these recruits, learning marksmanship with the U. S. carbine.

ROKS IN ACTION Firing through a concealing smoke screen, these ROK tank men blast enemy on White Horse Mt.

Wearing a camouflaged helmet, a ROK machine gunner pins down enemy across a valley.



Few South Korean soldiers had ever seen modern artillery. But they learned quickly and soon were backing up the infantry with guns like these, seen in action against the Communist enemy. General Van Fleet, former Allied commander in Korea, paid high tribute to the ROK army.

Affection Is Reward For Hero

ELK CITY, Okla., June 13—UP—Twenty-month-old Karren Daniels played lovingly Saturday with the dog that helped save her life when she fell 15 feet into an abandoned well Friday.

The unnamed part-Collie dog, which was playing with the brown-eyed girl when she stumbled into the well on her father's farm, set off an alarm with his barking that eventually aroused the entire countryside. A rural telephone party line and an oil field radio communications system helped spread the alarm.

Oil field crews from the nearby Elk City field brought digging equipment and sank a second shaft 18 inches from the first. Oxygen from a welder's tool kept Karren alive during the frantic digging.

After three hours and 25 minutes the little girl, blue and unconscious, was pulled into the rescue shaft and carried to the surface. Dr. W. E. Seba of Leedy, Okla., took her to a hospital briefly, but said "she drank a bottle of soda pop and seemed to feel fine."

Seba told the girl's father, Aubra Daniels, he should "see that that dog gets three squares a day and a blue ribbon for what he did."

"We're sure going to take care of that dog," Daniels replied.

Wedding Band Is Recovered Near Gulf Crash Scene

MOBILE, Ala., June 13 (AP)—A man's gold wedding band recovered in salvaging wreckage of a DC-6 plane that crashed in the Gulf of Mexico was identified today as belonging to a National Airlines flight engineer.

Mrs. Grace Campion, Miami Springs, Fla., said the ring, still shiny after being in gulf waters four months, belonged to her husband, Edward B. Campion, one of 46 victims of the crash. His body was never recovered.

Inside the band was the inscription 'Grace to Ed 4-14-45."

At Miami Springs Mrs. Campion said her husband carried the wedding ring on his key ring in his pocket.

Navy divers brought up the ring with several other personal possessions of crash victims earlier this week. All were turned over to the Mobile County sheriff's office and later will be turned over to families of crash victims.

Among the 26 items which were catalogued at the sheriff's office was a man's brown shoe, with the wearer's foot bone inside.

Also there was $76 in stained U. S. currency found in a wallet belonging to Mrs. W. D. Besselieu, Miami, Fla.

Salvage work was being continued today by the Navy and Coast Guard.

Presbyterian Church Unity Move Advances

CARLISLE, Pa., June 13 (AP)—The United Presbyterian Church of North America today joined two sister denominations in giving initial approval to plans for a single nation-wide Presbyterian Church in the United States.

By unanimous vote the 95th United Presbyterian General Assembly received the plan of union for the three Presbyterian churches for study, comment and revision.

The assembly gave the plan unanimous preliminary approval following an hour and half discussion in which an attempt to substitute a similar but expanded proposal was defeated by voice vote.

The substitute, offered by Dr. Donald Irwin, Washington, was the same recommendation adopted Tuesday by the Presbyterian Church in the United States (Southern).

A number of delegates objected to the substitution on the grounds that the Southern Church's plan had not been considered previously.

Under the approved plan the merged church, bearing the name of the Presbyterian Church of the United States, cannot come into being before 1955. The union must first receive approval of the presbyteries of each denomination and pass the general assemblies of all three next year.

The plan, in the formative stages for 15 years, would bring together the Presbyterian Church of the United States of America (Northern), with 2,500,000 members, the Southern Church, with 720,000 members and the United Presbyterian Church of North America with 222,000 members.

In accepting the plan the general assembly ordered it "received and transmitted to the presbyteries and other organizations and individuals of the church for study and comment."

Hospital Asked To Return Fund For State's Use

BATON ROUGE, La., June 13—UP—State Auditor Allison Kolb said Saturday the New Orleans Charity Hospital should return $220,431 in surplus funds to the state treasury.

Kolb, in an audit report, said the hospital is seeking bids on drugs and medical supplies except in emergencies, which have been purchased on some occasions without competitive bidding.

The audit report showed some laundry equipment was purchased from the highest bidder because it had parts that would be interchangeable with equipment already on hand.

Some shelving also was purchased from one firm because it fitted in with shelving already in use.

"While exact uniformity in installations may be desirable and this procedure defended on that ground," Kolb said, "it is our opinion that the specifications should be revised so that competition may be engendered between dealers of substantially like equipment even though not exactly the same detail."

School Board Is Told To Change Deficit Handling

BATON ROUGE, La., June 13—UP—State Auditor Allison Kolb said Saturday that the St. Tammany parish school board apparently has been borrowing money to make up for its deficits, in violation of the state law.

"The board had a general fund deficit of $38,331 as of last June," the auditor said in a report. "This compares with a deficit of $33,996 two years earlier."

Kolb said that in an earlier report his office had called the board's attention to the fact that deficits are prohibited by law and recommended that "stringent measures" be taken to place the board's financial situation in a sound condition.

"As previously stated, however," the auditor said, "the deficits have been financed by bank loans payable after the close of the school board's fiscal years. These notes seem to have been issued in violation of the law."

Louisiana Fairs To Emphasize History

BATON ROUGE, La., June 13—UP—Officials of Louisiana fairs and festivals agreed Saturday to emphasize the Louisiana Purchase theme in their celebrations this year.

The decision was reached in a meeting called by the departments of agriculture and commerce and industry.

The purchase theme will be emphasized as part of the statewide program observing the 150th anniversary of the Louisiana Purchase.

Clay Shaw of New Orleans, director of the Louisiana Purchase 150th Anniversary Association, told the officials that New Orleans has extensive plans for celebration of the purchase anniversary.

Expand Workshop Offerings At NE

Workshop participation is one of the expanding services which Northeast State has been able to offer since the college reached the four-year status.

Growth in popularity resulting from increased evaluation of various types of workshops in the field of education has been significant in recent years, according to school personnel of different training levels.

Public school officials throughout the state have requested the service of Dean William M. Smith of Northeast in coordinating and acting as consultant for conferences.

Smith, who is dean of the college and director of teacher education, has achieved considerable distinction in organizing and presenting workshop programs in almost every parish of the state and in several foreign countries.

Soon after joining the faculty here last summer, he instituted educational projects of this nature. They proved such an asset, according to teachers, principals, supervisors and superintendents, that the conferences were increased with a view toward widening the scope of teacher interests.

Dean Smith will be a consultant in Richland Parish for the Holly Ridge pre-school meeting scheduled September 2.

Going to the southern part of the state for the following two days, he will assist in the Cameron Parish workshop for teachers. He will also serve as consultant during the teacher conference in Lincoln Parish on September 7.

His next special two-day program will be a joint workshop at Oak Grove for teachers of East Carroll and West Carroll parishes on September 10-11.

As coordinator for the city of Monroe school workshop, Dean Smith will serve on September 14-15. The following week he plans to participate in a joint meeting of Madison and Tensas parishes set for September 21-22.

Other special programs of this nature in which he will take an active part include the Ouachita parish teacher workshop on September 25 and the Jackson Parish conference to be held at Jonesboro on September 29-30.

Leesville-Polk Road Resurfacing Will Begin Soon

LEESVILLE, La., June 13—UP—Authorities at Camp Polk, La., said Saturday they had been advised work is scheduled to begin soon to resurface 5.6 miles of U.S. Highway 171 from Leesville to the intersection of the road leading into Camp Polk.

The project includes work to widen the highway, the Camp Polk public information office reported. It said it received notice that the work would begin from the State Highway Department.

A Vernon parish committee, including State Rep. F. E. Hernandez, Leesville Mayor R. J. Fertitta, and August Krell, president of the Leesville Chamber of Commerce told the state highway group that the Army authorities looked upon the road as a "death trap."

Col. C. W. Peters of Camp Polk represented the Army at the state highway meeting.

Shrine Circus Parade Will Be Next Friday

The Northeast Louisiana Shrine Club announced plans yesterday for a Shine Parade to be held at 3:30 p.m. Friday in connection with the opening of the Gainesville Community Circus which will present its first performance at 8 p.m. Friday at the West Monroe rodeo arena.

Several uniform bodies representing the El Karubah Temple in Shreveport are scheduled to participate in the parade which will form in West Monroe.

Shriners throughout this district will take part in the colorful caravan. The parade will form at Pine Street in West Monroe and travel to Trenton Street where it will proceed across the old traffic bridge to Monroe down DeSiard Street. It will disband at Sixth Street.

It was pointed out that there will be no animals in the parade because of the intense heat and the strenuous acts and routines they will be put through during the three performances here.

A representative of the Shrine Club's ticket committee asserted Saturday that an unusally large advance ticket sale is in progress and expressed the opinion that the circus would play to a full house Friday night.

Tickets can be obtained from Shriner's throughout this district or from Hewitt's in Monroe and Tom Hicks' office in West Monroe.

FBI Is Picketed By Sympathizer With Rosenbergs

DALLAS, June 13 —UP—A skinny, unshaven man picketed FBI headquarters saturday with a sign that said: "Free the Innocent Rosenberg family. Victim of FBI frameup. . . jail. . . .lynch. . .murderers."

Police said persons were telephoning them and telling them to do something.

"What if I go over there and bust him one?" a man asked.

The police dispatcher said he told the man he probably would have to pay a $15 fine.

The man picketing for mercy for convicted atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg refused to identify himself. He said he was hard of hearing and handed out pamphlets printed by the "national Committee to Secure Justice in the Rosenberg Case."

The pamphlets were printed for a rally in New York's Union Square.

Reds Claim Plan To Reunite East And W. Germany

BERLIN, June 13 —UP — The official Soviet occupation administration newspaper said Saturday that Communist East German government policy changes were of "great international importance" aimed at reuniting Germany.

The East Berlin Communist city government added to the conciliatory moves when it announced all persons serving prison terms up to three years for economic crimes will be released.

The German language Taegliche Rundschau also said the Soviets were responsible for administrative policy mistakes which caused some unrest in parts of East Germany.

"The decisions (taken by the East German government) are of great international importance," the newspaper said. "They are aimed at the great goal of reunification of the German people in a united national German state."

Rain Follows Mass Prayers In Drouth Area

LAREDO, Tex., June 13—UP—It rained at Laredo for the first time in nearly a month 29 hours after more than 1,000 persons prayed in Jarvis Plaza for a drouth to be broken.

It rained .56 of an inch and it was the only rain reported Friday night along the lower reaches of the Rio Grande, which is drying up for 200 miles.

Clouds filled the sky Saturday and weather forecasters at Dallas, said Laredo may have more rain Saturday night or early Sunday.

Friday night's rain rapidly soaked into the dry soil and was so local that it did not raise the Rio Grande. The Rio Grande ran dry at Laredo for the first time in history 10 days ago.

It was flowing again at six cubic feet a second Saturday, but because farmers upstream voluntarily stopped pumping water for irrigation.

The Rio Grande is the only source of water at Laredo and partial rationing is in effect.

CAPITAL DIM-OUT

BATON ROUGE, La., June 13—UP—Lightning struck the main transformer and plunged Louisiana's skyscraper state capitol into semi-darkness for a brief period Friday.

The only lighted spot in the building was the basement where emergency power was used.

The power failure left several persons stranded in elevators. They made their way out through trap doors.

Car Industry View Bright

By DAVID WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

DETROIT, June 13 (AP)—It often is said that as goes the auto industry so goes the nation's business generally. In earlier years it was said anything affecting the nation's economy also affected the auto industry.

Whichever view may be correct business generally should continue good throughout the year, for the car makers' expectations for 1953 still are running high. Despite some pessimistic forecasts they expect the year to be their second best. That would mean an output topping the 1951 total of 6,765,000 vehicles.

The record year was 1950 with production of more than eight million cars and trucks.

The figures of course, look large when compared with the auto industry's pre-war operations. But that was more than a decade ago; nobody in the industry or close to it has yet come up with a widely accepted figure for postwar normal annual car and truck output.

These experts have statistics to prove a steadily increasing use of motor vehicles. Figures gathered by the United States Bureau of Public Roads show car and truck registrations in the United States last year exceeded 53¼ million units.

It is interesting to note this tops the total of 10 years ago by more than 22 million vehicles.

For the industry's impact on the nation's social, industrial and financial economy, experts note that more than nine million persons are directly or indirectly employed in the production, sales and servicing of motor vehicles. That is figured by the industry at better than one out of every seven workers.

Equally important perhaps is the fact that just about all the industry's workers are also its customers; that the products of every state in the union are required for the production of automobiles.

It is true, too, that the auto industry and its produce represent the nation's greatest source of tax revenue.

Last week a Federal Reserve Bank report predicted production cutbacks and "sharply reduced" employment in the auto industry in the latter half of the year. The industry's top executives do not go along with this forecast. Neither do they agree with the bank's statement that a possible 40 per cent production drop cannot be easily offset by more aggressive selling methods or more advertising.

However, a certainty is that car sales and auto industry employment are very closely tied together. A cut in either will quickly affect the other. A production cutback would be reflected not only in auto plant employment but in numerous other industries of which auto makers are leading customers.

Even if production were curtailed by 20 or 25 per cent a lot of car purchases would be deferred. And it is true that while motor vehicle production cannot be turned on and off on short notice, output is geared in the long run to demand, both actual and potential.

Brisk Business Week Topped By Steel Wage Bids

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP)—Steel age boosts topped a week in hich most business indicators inted higher.

Output of steel, automobiles, ude oil and electric power push- upward; retail trade volume se; some prices were increased.

Talk centered on the probability at steel prices would climb $3.50 $4 a ton.

In the past steel wage-price in- eases have been credited with tting off an inflationary spiral. ut this time, production generally in much closer balance with de- and.

Roaring near-capacity operations many booming industries this eek all but smothered voices of ose cautioning that "It can't st."

But the voices were there, note- bly that of the American Bankers ssociation which urged its mem- ers to tighten up on installment ans. Consumer credit, much of applied to automobile pur- hases, is one of the props of cur- ent good business.

Another voice expressing con- oncern, this time about federal nances, was that of Secretary of ommerce Sinclair Weeks.

Criticizing those who oppose the ostponing of tax cuts to Jan. 1, eeks warned businessmen that nless the administration's "sound oney" program succeeds, the re- ult may be inflation and mount- ng debts which will hit them hard.

Truce Talk Flop Seen Possible By Senator Knowland

LOS ANGELES, June 13—UP—The Korean truce talks still might collapse, despite recent favorable developments, Sen. William F. Knowland said Saturday.

The California Republican who only last week took over as acting majority leader in the Senate also said he has seen no indication of change in Russia's long - range strategy.

Knowland discussed the three-year Korean war and its effect on the United Nations in a 3,000-word commencement address under the trees of Alumni Memorial Park at the University of Southern California.

"The armistice negotiations in Korea, which seem to be on the verge of completion, are still complicated and subject to upset even at this late date," he warned the 3,245 graduates.

He added the admonition that in his capacity as a member of the Senate Foreign Relations committee he has seen "no substantial deed which indicates that the Soviet Union has in the slightest changed its long-time strategy."

Knowland also called for "an honest appraisal of the United Nations as it is and not as it was contemplated", and for a Big Three pledge to support wholeheartedly a free and United Korea.

He declared that Russia violated various UN resolutions on Korea and also was "a wilful saboteur of the charter of the United Nations itself."

"If the United Nations is to survive as an agency for effective collective security, then an honest appraisal of the organization as it is and not as it was contemplated is in order," he said. "We expected too much nd received too little from that organization during the Korean war."

Study Of Bypassed Vote Case

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP)—The Harrison County grand jury today referred a study into possible fraud in recent elections to the next grand jury.

The retiring grand jury, in its final report to Circuit Judge Leslie Grant, said it had made an inquiry into the possibility of fraud in recent elections. The report said, however, that the matter would be referred to the next grand jury because of the unavailability of certain evidence.

It did not name the evidence it lacked.

The next regular grand jury will be empaneled in Harrison County circuit court in December.

In its report, the grand jury recommended that election rolls of the county be purged by the circuit clerk and that Harrison County election commissioners "use the utmost discretion in picking qualified election managers in the future."

The report did not specify the election studied by the grand jury.

A recent special election to fill the second judicial district attorney's post was contested by Boyce Holleman, who finished second to Arnaud Lopez of Biloxi in the original count by 143 votes.

The contest, tried in Pearl River County circuit court, resulted in the disqualification of certain Harrison County boxes and in Holleman, a Wiggins attorney, being declared the victor.

During the trial, several witnesses testified the voting lists indicated they had voted in a precinct, when they claimed they did not vote or voted in another precinct.

Hungary Opens 'Iron Curtain' For News Group

VIENNA (AP) — Communist Hungary opened up the Iron Curtain today for a group of Western correspondents for the first time since 1949. At least four reporters from American and French news agencies and newspapers were given visas valid for a month.

The reporters are being allowed in to attend a meeting of the Kremlin-run World Peace Council, which, since 1949, has been demanding a peace meeting of the Big five including Communist China.

Western diplomats believe the correspondents were invited behind the Iron Curtain as part of the current Soviet peace offensive. The Communists apparently hope to stir up interest in the Peace Council, which so far has failed to attract much attention in the Western world.

Known to have received Hungarian visas were C. L. Sulzberger, New York Times; Edward M. Korry, Paris bureau chief of the United Press; Richard O'Regan, Vienna bureau chief of the Associated Press and Pierre Fredericks of the French News Agency, Agence France Presse, in Paris.

The correspondents are scheduled to leave Vienna for Budapest tomorrow. Russian occupation authorities in Austria readily issued permits for the reporters to travel through the Soviet Zone to the Hungarian border.

Banking School Honors 44 When Sessions Close

BATON ROUGE, June 13 — Forty-four southern bank executives were graduated from the School of Banking of the South at Louisiana State University here Friday at formal commencement exercises.

Warren E. Stevenson, cashier, Bastrop National Bank, Bastrop, received his diploma from Charles E. Smith, dean of L. S. U. The certificate represents a culmination of three years intense study of banking problems on a graduate level. It involves a two-week class session each year with extension problems between sessions.

Speaking to the Southern banking school graduates, Dean Smith said, "the more progressive segments of the banking business today are characterized by an increasing emphasis upon educational activities."

Citing several examples of educational programs conducted by banks over the country, Dean Smith pointed out, "Educational services sponsored by individual banks and bankers' associations are reaching a wide range of our public. They are being effectively meshed with established school programs from the elementary level to the graduate school level of our universities, in every case with the active collaboration of school authorities."

Ammo Shortage Is Inexcusable, Says McCarthy

MADISON, Wis., June 13—UP—Sen. Joseph McCarthy charged Saturday that the alleged ammunition shortage in Korea was an "inexcusable scandal" and called for indictment of those "guilty of either treason or sleeping at their posts."

McCarthy, addressing more than 4,000 delegates to the Wisconsin Republican convention, said the Senate Armed Services subcommittee had "pointed out the general picture of treason" on the part of "those responsibile for giving the Communists such superior fire power."

He called the alleged ammunition shortage "one of the most inexcusable scandals that has ever been brought to light—a scandal which was kept secret until the Republicans took over."

The Wisconsin Republican said the testimony showed that U. S. troops "were forbidden to freely use artillery to destroy enemy gun emplacements enemy tanks and to break up enemy troop concentrations."

"The mealy-mouthed plea of the old Democrat team was that we should not tell the American people the truth," he said.

"There was deliberately signed and sealed the death warrant of a vast number of the cream of America's fighting men."

McCarthy said the Justice Department "should pick up the individual traitors by the scruff of their necks and make them answer for their crimes."

"It is a job which the Republican administration must do or we are not worthy of the trust the people placed in us," he said.

He said the principals involved in the ammunition case are "built of either treason or of sleeping at their post of duty during war."

"They must be guilty of one or the other," he said.

"In either event, their cases should be presented to a grand jury and they should be made to answer for all the agony and blood and tears they have caused."

Jimmy, now 25, and John, 23, attended Sherrouse, Georgia Tucker and Neville Junior High Schools here until about 1941, when the Coles removed to Texas. Having originally lived in Gainesville, it was only a matter of time until they succumbed to the sawdust call, typical of the average Gainesville citizen at some time or other in his lifetime.

The elder Coles have been with the circus five years, he as clown for three sessions and his 2½ year and Mrs. Cole as wardrobe custodian and member of the grand entry. Jimmy has served as clown old son, John, now in his second season, is the youngest clown in the history of the circus. OOPS, DON'T FIT—A car (above) driven by a 17-year-old Alabama youth smashed into a heavy duty truck yesterday at the intersection of DeSiard road and College avenue. The boy's mother suffered minor injuries. (Staff Photo by John Fogleman)

Auto Rams Rear Of Large Truck

An Alabama woman escaped with minor injuries yesterday when the car in which she was riding rammed into the rear of a truck here yesterday.

Mrs. E. O. Jackson, 52, of Pine Hill, Ala., was riding in a car driven by her son James Jackson, 17, when the auto crashed into the rear of a two and a half ton truck driven by Wilson Smith, Jr., 25-year-old Negro, of Route 3, Monroe, which had stopped for a traffic signal at the intersection of DeSiard Road and College avenue. Jackson stated that he did not see the truck in time to stop. He estimated his speed at the time he applied his brakes at 50 miles an hour.

Mrs. Jackson was taken to Wright-Bendel Clinic where she was treated for lacerations of the left arm and contusions of the head and released.

The Jacksons were on their way to Shreveport to visit another son, who is hospitalized here.

Extensive damage was inflicted on the car, which Jackson stated had been purchased about a month ago. Damage to the truck was minor.

De Gasperi Urged To Line With Leftists

ROME, June 13 (AP)—Italy's pro-Western moderate Socialists said today Premier Alcide de Gasperi should seek support from the nation's pro-Communist Socialist party to build up his shaky majority in Parliament.

Giuseppe Saragat, their leader, told a post election meeting of the Democratic Socialists that their political ally, de Gasperi, should ask Piero Nenni's left-wing group to co-operate with the government bloc.

Up to now the Nenni Socialists have clung firmly to the Communist party line, although they ran separately from the Communists in this week's elections.

Colorful Past Left By Late Henry W. Blanks

By H. H. BRINSMADE

Wayne Blanks, who met a tragic end here shortly before noon Saturday, was member of one of the most prominent families in Northeast Louisiana, born in Columbia, Caldwell parish, February 26 1882. His father was the late Henry C. Blanks, prominent in the commercial and agricultural development of the parish, and member of a large shipping and cotton firm that at its peak was doing a million dollar annual business.

Wayne was educated, first in his home town schools, later in Monroe and then in college and university days he attended Centenary College and graduated at the University of Colorado.

Among his outstanding experiences was the fact that he was presented to the Court of St. James, when Queen Victoria was the reigning English sovereign. He enjoyed relating this experience. Also he told of how he was privileged to meet Lady Henry Somerset and Frances E. Willard, who was president of the Women's Christian Temperance union, familiarly called the W. C. T. U.

But a visit to Italy also resulted in his being presented to King Emmanuel and also he had audiences with two Popes on the occasion of visits to that country.

But weighty events transpired in the early years of this man's life. When the mighty railroad king, Jay Gould, came to Monroe to discuss the future of the Iron Mountain railroad of which he was in uncontested control, young Blanks, listened in on a weighty conversation. He hid back of a sofa in the home of his uncle Robert (Bob) Blanks, on Washington Street here, and heard the deal that was consummated. Gould promised that he would extend the Iron Mountain (now the Missouri Pacific) to Alexandria from where it had stopped in Monroe. But he demanded a million acres as reward. Blanks was possessed with his friends of sufficient means to complete the deal. The road was extended as desired and reached Alexandria as a result. Besides his uncle one other mighty local financial power in the deal was the late John Parker.

When the United States became involved in World War I, Blanks sought to enlist but was rejected. However he was sent to Camp Beauregard and later still was ordered to New York City to handle some of the shipping of troop trains.

He was selected to become member of the British forces in Mesopotamia but signing of the Armistice prevented his taking over this duty.

Blanks was long active in YMCA work and removing for a time to Dallas, Tex., he had charge as business manager of the organization for four years. This line of work intrigued him and he went to Concord N. C., where he had charge of the industrial work of the Cannon mills and other textile plants there. On a Sunday morning he led a group of more than 600 boys to churches they were attending. While in this work, he went each summer for four successive years to England and in this way he got to visit every country in Europe. He penetrated from the countries of the Mediterranean coast, many times to countries that stretch far toward the Arctic zone, and he delighted to tell of experiences that sounded like those told by a Richard Halliburton.

Returning to Columbia to reside, Blanks was named postmaster and served in this capacity for six years. While he was so serving, the rural free delivery was instituted for Caldwell parish.

In 1930, Blanks took over settlement of the large estate that has been left by the death of his father, and later when Roosevelt became president and the triple A was established. Blanks was named assistant in soil conservation, a post he held for many successive years.

The Blanks home in Columbia was of note as it was one of the largest, most beautiful and hospitable of all such homes in the little city, as the latch string was ever out and many men and women of state and national prominence were entertained there.

Two specially notable characteristics were prominent in the life of Mr. Blanks. He loved flowers and his grounds at home were always showing blooms of some sort through the year. Also he enjoyed the collection of stamps and his collection was rated at one time as probably the best in the state.

With the death of his wife, about a year ago, Mr. Blanks became restless. He sold his home soon after she died and he had been living in a hotel in Monroe since then, with the exception of time spent in Shreveport where his only daughter, Loraine, now Mrs. Woodrow Turner, resides. She and her husband are on the faculty of the public schools of that city.

Mr. Blanks was in earlier life active in the Methodist church and in Kiwanis. He was a generous man and took delight in being able to aid others from his larger means than they might possess.

He had at times been asked to address various clubs and other groups and with pictures that were unusual and with description that well portrayed his message, he was an excellent entertainer and his friends were legion.

the youngsters to these places for good wholesome fun.

"Dear Jes' Ramblin':

"At last Jack Woodford's new book, "Writer's Cramp" is off the press. This will be good news for the many would - be writers of the Twin Cities.

"Jack Woodford's other books, including "How to Write A Novel," have long been popular with libraries. Besides stating facts, this writer possesses an unusual and personal style of writing himself, and it is most interesting.

"Sincerely,

"Mrs. Herschel Gentry."

(Editor's Note) Many thanks, Mrs. Gentry. We always enjoy hearing from you.

And that street called "Long." We have just heard from Rev. W. T. Hemphill that the street got its name not for its great length (is barely a block long) but for the fact that C. A. Long (not Huey) owned a house and lot on the corner, and he cut the street through so as to make some back land marketable as future building sites.

Many people from all over this state, from Kentucky, Illinois and California, will pour into famous and venerable Little Star Church in Caldwell Parish to celebrate the passage of another year. It was established by the cooperative efforts of Methodists and Baptists in 1849, but became also a seat of learning and the first high school in the parish was in this church.

Recently redecorated, it stands as an important landmark. It is not strange that students of other years from far and wide should assemble here each year for a real old homecoming.

Allied Lines

ing Capitol Hill, eight miles southeast of Kumsong.

Front-line reports said the hill mass, scene of repeatedly unsuccessful Red attacks, this time fell into Chinese hands before dawn.

It was in the Capitol Hill sector that strong Red assaults backed by tanks smashed four holes in the main Allied lines. Tough South Korean defenders were pushed back an undisclosed distance.

One Chinese division attacking the U. S. 3rd Division Outpost Harry for the third straight day was sent reeling back with staggering losses of 3,400 men killed and wounded since Thursday.

Col. Russell (Red) Akers of Washington, D. C., commander of the 3rd Division's 15th Regiment made the casualty estimate.

Hundreds more Reds have fallen in battle with South Koreans who repulsed a vicious attack on White Horse Mountain overlooking Chorwon.

The record Red artillery barrage was expected to top the previous 24-hour record of 107,650 rounds fired in late May on the Western Front.

In the air war streaking U. S. Sabre jets shot down two Communist Migs, probably destroyed one and damaged one in air battles near the Suiho power dam on the Yalu River border of Manchuria.

U. S. Sabre fighter - bombers slashed at Communist propeller planes raided the Seoul area, circling over the South Korean capital, its airbase at Kimpo Field and port of Inchow. Flares were dropped but there were no reports of bombings, leading Air Force officers to speculate that the Reds were out to alarm, rather than attack.

party, endangering the economic buildup of the Soviet zone, wrecking serious efforts for Germany's reunification and hindering the start of serious East-West talks."

"His days are numbered," the West Berlin paper said.

The report on Ulbricht came 24 hours after the Kremlin fired L. G. Melnikov, Red boss of the Soviet Ukraine, who was also charged with too stringent Russification of an area having strong national feelings.

Russia, meanwhile, showed further evidence of turning back the clock on the previously imposed Sovietization of East Germany. Hundreds of prisoners were freed and some more Communist policies were scrapped in the Soviet zone.

Young Girl

six miles west of Epps, took Marie to a Vicksburg hospital where three operations were performed on the base of the skull. None of the operations showed satisfactory results and finally Marie lost the use of her right side.

Marie wants to come home to her parents, two brothers and friends. Her mother has stayed by her bed constantly in New Orleans and family finances will not permit her to stay much longer.

The only way for Marie to return home is through purchase of an iron lung, for without the instrument the young girl would die today.

Cost of an iron lung is approximately $2,000. To some of us, the figure $2,000 is mountainous, but with the combined efforts of all the figure is but a small sum.

It is a small sum when the results would be happiness for a 17-year-old girl.

When we give to charity or to help a fellow man there's a thought which seldom enters our minds, but one that we should not forget. The thought: "Maybe someday I might find myself in the same situation or one similar." Whether rich or poor, one never knows.

If enough money is raised to purchase the iron lung for Marie, after her death, the instrument would be given to a hospital in northeast Louisiana for charitable purposes.

Those desiring to aid this young girl can do so by contacting Yvonne Brett at the News-Star-World.

The biblical quotation, which has been used millions of times down through the years and which will be used many millions more, "It is more blessed to give than to receive," should be the thought used in considering Marie's case coupled with the quotation, "do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

Authorities said Graver's legislative voting record showed he has voted consistently with the hood-lum-tainted West Side bloc of legislators until recently when he switched to support legislation opposed by the bloc.

Lombardo Between Friends

NEW YORK (NEA) — A large an in a powder-blue suit and an coholic haze came up to Guy ombardo. It was between sets at e Roosevelt Grill, where Guy's een playing so long that, like old eddy, he speaks softly and car- es a big baton.

"Cleveland," the man said, don't you remember me from leveland?"

"No, I'm sorry, I don't," said uy, and the man weaved away. ombardo shook his head, wear- y, and started talking about mu- ic again.

"It's like I was saying," he re- umed. "The public never changes. hey still like the same kind of ongs they always did."

The headwaiter brought a little irl up, and Guy gave her his au- ograph.

"Where was I? Oh, yes, music. ou know, it's harder to find good ongs today. In the old days, Tin an Alley was concentrated in one pot. But now there are publish- rs all over. Too many."

A hefty, well-orchided woman ame up. She remembered Guy rom Syracuse.

"I bet you don't remember me," he cooed. She was right. She eft, pouting slightly.

"Oh, yes, music," Guy began gain. "It's easy to tell if the pub- ic likes a new song. You get a efinite reaction on the stand. Just lay it once, and you can tell. You an go from coast to coast, from order to border, and the people re the same. People everywhere ike the same music."

The man from Cleveland came ack. He wanted to know why ombardo didn't play that song bout the doggie in the window.

"We don't play it," said Lom- ardo, getting up, "because there's obody in the band who can bark."

The Popular Side: Florian Za- Bach tells this on himself: A violin professor at an eastern university suddenly found his enrollment zoomed up, and the students ex- plained that they were inspired by Florian ZaBach. "What," asked the professor, "is a Florian Za- Bach — some new kind of sand- wich?" . . . Rosemary Clooney's newest, "It Just Happened to Hap- pen to Me," is a family affair—it was written by her brother, Nick.

On The Classics: Reports indi- cate that Milan's world-famous La Scala opera company will be re- corded perhaps in the fall. MGM will issue much of the sound- track of the new movie, "Julius Caesar." . . . More and more classifical music being issued on the smaller, 45-r.p.m. Extended Play discs.

Queen And Duke Attract Crowds On Weekend Trip

LONDON, June 13—UP—Queen Elizabeth II and the Duke of Edin- burgh drove Saturday to Windsor Castle for the weekend through crowds so dense they broke through police lines and surround- ed the royal car.

On the way, the queen and the duke visited Eton's famous play- ing fields where she asked the stu- dents be given three additional days of summer vacation to mark her visit. The boys gave her what vet- erans described as the loudest three cheers in Eton history.

Mounted and motorcycle police cleared a path through the thou- sands who had massed outside Buckingham Palace despite more cast skies and occasional showers.

The queen rang down the cur- tain Friday night on the corona- tion festivities with a glittering reception in Buckingham Palace where 2,000 guests crowded the state ballroom and were received by the queen in her dazzling coro- nation dress.

Over 100 Apply For Little Theatre Head

More than 100 applications for the job of executive director of the Little Theatre of Monroe have reached the office of the president in the past twenty days. Of this staggering total, many of the aspiring applicants sent special delivery letters and all have had experience in play production and many are currently employed as directors of community theatres, radio and television shows.

According to President Edward Ellison, "It is the desire of the Little Theatre Board of Directors to review these applications and secure the very best one possible within the theatre's financial means." He further continued, "Some are no doubt enjoying a salary beyond our means, however, we believe that there is at least one of the 107 who will meet our needs and within the salary we are able to offer. The members of the Little Theatre and our friends can be assured that we will have an excellent director for the coming season and future seasons."

Many conflicting statements relative to the current activities and the future of the Little Theatre have been adrift since the resignation of Director Stocker Fontelieu, which became effective May 31, so that he could resume his studies at Tulane University for his master's degree. There are many of the approximately 1000 members, who sincerely doubted the possibility of replacing Fontelieu, who's ability to create friends and secure volunteer workers was only surpassed by his excellent direction of the twenty-one plays he produced while serving as director of the Little Theatre.

The future of the theatre looms brighter with the announcement that the Board of Directors have taken definite steps to secure a theatre building of it's own. In 1949 the organization was fortunate to secure a theatre building at Selman Field, through the courtesy of the city officials this was indeed a progressive step as all of the productions could be held at one place for an entire season. There are many objections to the Selman location but the principal reason is the uncertainly of being able to retain the building on a definite basis. The first three seasons in the Little Playhouse were enjoyable, however, the past season has been a series of crises.

The search for a new theatre building began as far back as May, 1952, when a lot was purchased in Forsythe Shopping Center and 334 theatre seats were acquired from a local theatre. At this time a committee was appointed to consult with local architects and design a building suitable for a theatre and within the specifications set forth by law for theatres. The results of their findings put the approximate cost at $60,000,00 and the possibilities of raising such a fund were limited.

The possible reactivation of Selman Field earlier in the spring brought renewed activity in the seach for a permanent home for the organiation and upon a favorable committee report, definite steps were taken to acquire the building formerly occuppied by Toss Foods on Pearl street. The new home of Little Theatre selected by the board of Directors will need alterations costing approxmately $5,000.00 of which the group have received contributions to date totaling $625.00. The agreed sale price of the property was $15,500,00, the terms being $500.00 down payment and the balance due $1,000.00 per year which was within the purchasing power of the non-profit organization.

For 21 seasons past the Little Theatre as a community project has met the needs of the Twin Cities. It is a non-profit organization and other than the director, the only ones being paid for services are those serving as reservations clerk and those who clean the building after each performance. All materials and supplies are purchased and it is the exception rather than the rule that the theatre is charged anything over cost by the merchants of the community.

The Little Theatre of Monroe offers an opportunity to everyone desiring to act under a capable director and the privilege of enjoying good, clean wholesome plays. Anyone may contribue to the future home of the Little Theatre by mailing their contributions to Little Theatre, P. O. Box 868.

College Girl Variety Show Booked Here

Music, dancing and plenty of good clean fun is promised by famed Tim McCarthy's traveling show "Teens 'n Twenties" from Pueblo, Colo., when it arrives here on its southern tour. The show, sponsored by the Civitan Club, will be presented in the Ouachita Parish High School auditorium June 23 at 8 p.m. Money netted will go to the Monroe Little Baseball league and a part to the sponsoring club.

The participants are for the most part college girls from western colleges and this trip extends through 15 southern and mid-western states.

From curtain rise to curtain fall, the 22 charming young women will delight with their musical skill and in the performance of late dance numbers in which they show remarkable talent. And the show, it is also assured, will be bubbling with fun but will contain nothing that will smack of indecency in act, song or word.

The tour from Pueblo is approved by the Chamber of Commerce there and in the itinerary that is planned will include night programs at places like Sheppard Field, Wichita Falls, Tex.; the Optimist Club, Sherman, Tex.; the Tinker AFL, Oklahoma City; the American Legion, Bartlesville, Oklahoma; Elks Club, Fort Smith; Exchange Club, Hot Springs, Ark.; Civitan Club, Monroe; Moose Lodge, Memphis and cities and towns in Kentucky and Indiana.

Director McCarthy promises one of the best traveling shows that Monroe has seen in years and also the price is another feature of this big night of entertainment, being exceptionally low for such a performance.

Director McCarthy is a native of Pueblo and has worked with youth for years. He has degrees from Pueblo College, the University of Colorado, and Northwestern University graduate school. In 1940, he organized the first incorporated Teen Age Club in America which grew from 500 to over 3,000 in 1945. He has managed many music shows and high school productions, USO shows, Red Cross and military groups.

Already a large number of tickets have been sold.

Final Equipment Is Expected Soon For TV Station

In an effort to obtain equipment to speed up the opening of television station KFAZ, of which he is manager and co - owner, Howard E. Griffith this week made a trip to New York and New Jersey. He returned Saturday, confident that the station will open soon.

Mr. Griffith said he made the trip for the purpose of procuring the few remaining pieces of equipment needed for the station. The principal needed equipment now is the transmitter, he stated.

At Lodi, N. J., Mr. Griffith inspected a transmitter which he ordered a number of months ago and which he said appeared to be almost completed. He asked the manufacturing firm to give him a delivery date but was told he had already been given one delivery date which could not be met and that the firm was reluctant to give another date until it was sure the time could be met. He was assured that the equipment would be completed and shipped at the earliest possible moment.

The original delivery date was May 16 and the management of KFAZ had expected to have the station in operation by June 1. Mr. Griffith stated that the station can be put into operation within two or three days after the final equipment is received.

Miss Cooperation Of 1953 —Paulette Goddard

HOLLYWOOD —(NEA)— Exclusively Yours: Paulette Goddard asked every cranny of her keen, razor - sharp mind and couldn't come up with an explanation of why she was known as a temperamental, foot-stamping movie queen a few years ago.

Now Miss Cooperation of 1953, showing up earlier and staying later than anybody else, she told me on the "Sins of Jezebel" set:

"There's always another side to a story. Believe me, I've never been temperamental. But it is true that nobody ever knew how to cast me,particularly Paramount. Now I'm hoping that if I play a variety of parts, somebody will find out."

Paulette on writing her memoirs:

"Never. Everybody and his brother is writing his memoirs. My mother taught me never to get caught in a crowd."

Ty Power and Jimmy Stewart, it now can be told, hit the gold jackpot when they gambled with U-I on profit-sharing movies. Ty worked minus salary in "Mississippi Gambler," as did Jimmy Stewart in "Winchester" and "Bend of the River." Ty's share of the profits to date is close to $700,000 and Jimmy's cut of his melon is an estimated $1,200,000.

Before 3-D, says Arthur Maisel, you could spot a movie actor by his dark glasses. Now you can spot audiences by theirs.

IN HAIR-TEARING MOOD

STEVE COCHRAN'S steaming over his minute-type billing in "She's Back On Broadway" and being put into a minor role in "The Desert Song" by Warner Bros.

"I can't understand giving an actor a big buildup," he wails, "and then trying to tear him down."

Jean Pierre Aumont is set for his warbling debut in a nightclub act in Las Vegas. . .It's an unhappy Orson Welles again. The government rebated $2000 to him for excess tax payments on "The Stranger," a movie he made in Hollywood before his European exile. But a Hollywood attorney attached the money before it could be sent to Orson. . .Bobs Watson, the one-time kid star, is in the Army now but he's still emoting. Assigned to special service, he'll star this summer in a Fort Ord, Calif., G.I. version of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

The wheels are moving to put "The Life of Russ Columbo" before the camera in mid-July, with his 15-year-old nephew playing him as a young boy, and Perry Como playing Russ as an adult.

Marie Windsor is slated for the "heiress" tag. Her fahter, Lane Bertelsen, just struck what may be one of the largest uranium veins in the world at the family mine in Marysvale, Utah.

Columbia big wheels are holding their breaths about what will happen when the censors get a peek at the horrible facial makeup of Gloria Grahame in "The Big Heat." She gets scalded by hot coffee in the script.

No proposal or ring yet, but the Frank Westmore-Madge Meredith dating could add up to matrimony, both shyly admit. .. .Vic Mature, who wrestled a lion to the death in "Samson," tops himself in "The Story of Demetrius." With his bare mitts, he makes sausage out of three tigers.

ON THE HOME SCREENS

HOLLYWOOD ON TV: Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca won't be making a movie this summer. They say they couldn't find the right story. . .Marilyn Maxwell is type-casting herself as a movie star in "Hollywood Marvel," a new telefilm series. . . .Now it's Fearless Fagan headed for TV. The lion star of the MGM picture will star in a video series. Ditto Broderick Crowford in "Manhunt" for Screen Gems. . .Tom D'Andrea, who plays Bill Bendix's pal on "The Life of Riley," will get the solo comedian buildup at NBC in addition to his Riley emoting.

"Scared Stiff," the new Martin and Lewis comedy, is a down-memory-lane flicker for comedian Benny Rubin. Benny worked in the original version co-starring Lila Lee and Wallace Reid in 1922.

Four Hollywood actors were paid $5 a day apiece to run around in sheets as "Ghosts." Benny was one of them. The other three were George O'Brien, Mervyn LeRoy and Bill (Hopalong) Boyd.

Lili Damita and Nora Eddington are blazing. They had expected Errol Flynn's co-producer, J. Barrett Mahon, to write out checks for them when he arrived in town from Italy to straighten out Errol's business affairs. But neither of the ex-Mrs. Flynns recieved a penny of the child support and alimony due them.

Novelist Alfred Hayes will divoce his mate in Nevada—ironic because he's the author of the new Kirk Douglas starrer, "Act of Love."

'Law And Order' Tells Rugged Frontier Story

A lusty, brawling story of the Old West, Universal - International's Technicolor "Law and Order," starring Ronald Reagan, Dorothy Malone, Preston Foster and Alex Nicol, opens today at the Tem Theatre.

Action, suspense and romance are crowded into this well-acted and directed film whose story is based on the efforts of peace officers of the early West to curb the depredations of powerful lawless elements in colorful towns of the frontier.

Ronald Reagan scores heavily in his rugged portrayal of a U. S. Marshal whose fiancee, played by Dorothy Malone, persuades him to hang up his guns for the sake of her peace of mind.

Miss Malone gives an excellent performance and her love scenes with Reagan border on the sensational, as do those featuring Reagan's younger brother in the story, played by Russell Johnson, and the latter's sweetheart, a part handled capably by Ruth Hampton, runner-up in the recent Miss Universe contest, who receives introductory billing in the new film.

Preston Foster, in the role of political boss of a frontier town, and Dennis Weaver as his son, turn in fine performances, Foster's fight with Reagan being one of the most spectacular staged for a film in recent years.

Others credited with outstanding portrayals include Alex Nicol, in the role of Reagan's brother who is killed during performance of his duties as a marshal; Dennis Weaver in the role of gunfighter who kills Nicol; Chubby Johnson, veteran character favorite who enacts the role of frontier undertaker and lightens the drama with deft comedy touches, and Barry Kelly, cast as the crooked sheriff in cahoots with Foster.

Martin, Lewis Are In Newest, Funniest Film

Combining the hilarious comedy antics of Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis with a harum-scarum plot replete with a haunted castle, sliding doors, gruesome zombies and creaky organ music, results in what must be termed one of the funniest films ever to come to Monroe. This celluloid package of merriment is Hal Wallis' Paramount release, "Scared Stiff," and starring Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis with Lizabeth Scott and Carmen Miranda, it opened last night at the Paramount Theatre.

From the very opening scene, which introduces Dean Martin as a night club performer and Jerry Lewis as his fumble - fingered bus boy buddy, "Scared Stiff" bubbles along at a laugh - a - second pace. The mirth - filled proceedings begin against a New York background, where the boys get themselves mixed up with Dorothy Malone, a gangster's girl friend, and have to flee a gangland ride. This uproariously frenetic bit of business gets them acquainted with Lizabeth Scott, heiress to an eerie black - magic - plagued island off the coast of Cuba.

Preferring bogeymen to bullets, Dean and Jerry sail south with the lovely Miss Scott to protect her against mysterious forces that are trying to prevent her claiming the inheritance. Once on the island the unbridled buffoonery of Martin and Lewis is unleased against an atmosphere veritably permeated with the supernatural. Bats, sliding doors, hidden passages and weird apparitions are the order of the day.

All of this caused last night's audiences to literally shake—mostly from laughter caused by the wonderful funny business afoot, but in some measure by the vicarious thrills the film so generously generates. Also adding greatly to the delightfully effervescent entertainment sparking "Scared Stiff" are seven songs which provide Dean and Jerry, as well as Carmen Miranda, who is as zestful and bombastic as ever, ample opportunity to display their vocal tal-

Final Plans Are Made For Bastrop Rodeo

BASTROP, June 13. (Special)—The second annual rodeo, held in conjunction with the North Louisiana Peach Festival in Bastrop, is now getting in full swing.

It promises to be one of the biggest and best to be held in north Louisiana, featuring such events as bull riding, bareback riding, manehold riding, calf roping, girls barrel race and climaxing the evening of entertainment with a goat scramble. All boys from the ages of six to twelve must be a member of the Rodeo Club in order to enter this event. Those interested should contact H. G. Sasser in Bastrop.

Another big attraction will be the presentation to some lucky ticket holder of a registered bull yearling. Winners must be present to win.

Leroy Martin, chairman of ticket sales and advertising, states that reserved seats are selling rapidly and for all people in Monroe and West Monroe to purchase their reserved seat tickets now from the Rancher or the stable in those cities. The Morehouse Chapter of DeMolay boys in all the towns in Morehouse Parish have tickets for sale.

The Peach Festival promises a full day's entertainment from noon on until the rodeo starts at 8 p.m. in the evening.

The dates for the North Louisiana Peach Festival and Rodeo are June 17, 18, 19 and 20 at the fair grounds in Bastrop.

PARIS, June 13—UP—Radical socialist Andre Marie, the seventh French political party leader named by President Vincent Auriol to try to solve France's three-week-old crisis, said Saturday he would decide Monday if he will try to set up a new government.

Marie conferred with other conservative party leaders and the heads of other French center parties Saturday. His own party said it would give its "unanimous" backing to the former education minister.

A JOB vs A CAREER

Anyone willing to work can get a job today. Ten or twenty years hence, they may still have a job—not a position, nor any of the advantages that become a part of a successful life. Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

The early mail brings four quick responses to our poll being conducted in northeast Louisiana for the American and National League All-Star teams. The balloting began Friday and will continue through July 3 with everybody invited to cast one vote for every position, except pitchers, on both squads. The fans across the nation will have the final say on who starts in the major leagues' classic at Cincinnati on July 14.

The initial ballots came from Orlan Gilbert and Gary Gilbert, Jonesboro; Fred Presson, Wisner; and Gene Andrews, Farmerville. They were unanimous in naming "Red Schoendienst, St. Louis Cardinal second baseman; Ted Kluszewski, Cincinnati first baseman; Roy Canmpanella, Brooklyn catcher; Mickey Mantle, New York Yankee outfielder; and Phil Rizzuto, Yankee shortstop. Ed Mathews, Braves; Guz Zernial, Athletics; and Al Rosen, Cleveland, drew three each.

There's plenty of time for the baseball fans of our section to join in the selection of these All-Star teams. Simply pick a catcher, first baseman, second baseman; third baseman, shortstop, and three outfielders for each league and mail to "Sports Department, Monroe Morning World." We forward the totals for our area to Arch Ward, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune, who will be compiling the grand totals from sources such as ours across the country.

The hot potato of the Cotton State League will get another tossing around Tuesday about noon at Greenville, Miss., when directors of the Class C league get together, presumably on the Hot Springs problem that has confronted the league all season.

Six clubs didn't spend over two hours in session here Thursday just to call a Tuesday meeting. Although the directors are remaining quiet on what took place at the meeting here (Hot Springs evidently wasn't invited), it doesn't take much imagination to decide that the Hot Springs efforts to introduce Negro players to the league and George Trautman's recent ruling that Al Haraway (league president) couldn't forfeit a Bather game to Jackson because a Negro player's name appeared on Hot Springs' lineup was the chief topic of the day.

We're wondering why Mr. Trautman, boss of the minor leagues, ruled in the last instance since, we are informed, Hot Springs never appealed the forfeiture. And don't believe the rumors that Mr. Haraway is resigning after this season because of the Hot Springs squabble. The league is fortunate to have been able to persuade Mr. Haraway to remain on one season longer when he intended to resign last fall.

Dr. W. R. Hammond, an ardent baseball fan who is head of the department of liberal arts and social sciences at Northeast Louisiana State College, offers some suggestions which he feels will meet with the approval of the customers attending Monroe Cotton States games at Legion Memorial Stadium. All the lights on the scoreboard indicating balls, strikes, outs etc. are yellow. He suggests white lights for balls, dark blue for strikes, red for outs, and leaving the yellow for flashing of hit or error on questionable plays.

There's also the idea of keeping a tally of runs scored in an inning even before the inning is over, particularly since some innings here of late have seen some pretty free scoring. The customer loses track of how many runs have come across and have to wait until the inning is over for the actual figure. It has been suggested that this system of tabulating runs for an unfinished inning be kept on a differently colored plate from those used to indicate a complete inning.

And, oh, yes! Business Manager Paul Manasseh is considering on going back to an 8 o'clock start on his home game after his few weeks' trial with 7:30 opening times. Reason: A lot of old customers are missing, particularly in the box-seat section. We wonder if it's the starting time or some of the weird exhibitions of late that have kept them at home.

Hogan Masters Oakmont For Open Title

Bantam Ben Gets Six-Stroke Edge Over Sam Snead

By WILL GRIMSLEY

OAKMONT, Pa., June 13 (AP)—Unshakeable Ben Hogan made it No. 4 today and hapless, frustrated Sam Snead blew another one in a pressurized head-to-head battle for the 53rd National Open golf champion.

The leathery Texas master nailed Snead's doom with a dramatic birdie - birdie finish that gave him a final round 71 and a 72-hole total of 283, which shattered Oakmont's heretofore impregnable par to smithereens. His margin over runner-up Snead was six strokes.

Hogan's rounds of 67-72-73-71 put him five under par for four trips around the sprawling 6,916 - yard course which plays a rugged 37-35—72. The previous 72-hole competitive record for the heavyweight layout was 294, set by Willie McFarlane in 1934.

Snead, fretting with an unruly putter, was on the 14th green when Hogan rammed home his five-foot birdie putt on the final hole. A beaten, crestfallen man, he limped in with a 76 for a final score of 289.

It was just another in a series of bitter disappointments for the West Virginian, whose troubles began when he took an eight on the final hole to lose the championship at Philadelphia's Spring Mill in 1937.

Snead had the door thrown open to him several times during today's exhausting double round. He collared Hogan at the third hole of the morning round, passed the pace-setter by two strokes at the fifth and seemed headed for possible victory when his game suddenly went sour.

He cut Hogan's lead to a single stroke with a par 72 in the morning while Ben took a 73.

But Sam was edgy and pale at the brief lunchtime intermission while Hogan appeared relaxed and confident. And Sam never could catch his old nemesis in the afternoon.

Hogan thus became the third man in the history of this classic to win the championship four times. He joined Willie Anderson, who strung out his triumphs in 1901, 1903-05 back in golf's "dark ages," and the immortal Bobby Jones, who spreadeagled the field in 1923, 1926, 1929, 1930.

The 40-year-old onetime caddy, who has made the game an exact science, led at every 18-hole pole—the first to achieve this front-running performance since Jim Barnes did it in 1921.

As the other halfway leaders—Lloyd Mangrum, George Fazio and Jay Hebert — faded in the morning, it became a bitter two-man duel in the afternoon and the excited crowd of 12,000 swarmed from one to another in an effort to catch all the drama.

Most of it was packed around the 17th and 18th holes of the final round.

One over par with two holes to play, Hogan came to the 17th and put the kindling to a wood shot that projected the ball to the green 292 feet away.

He was left with a 35-foot putt. He nursed the ball to within six inches of the cup. He sank it for his birdie three.

On the 18th, actually the 36th of the tiring day, Hogan threw all of his packaged power into a drive down the middle and then poked a five-iron shot to the green, five

LITTLE BIG MAN—Ben Hogan, after faltering in the morning, came back with his old blaze in the afternoon yesterday to outlast Sam Snead and win his fourth U. S. Open golf championship. Hogan, filing his card at the end of play, had plenty of reasons to smile as he had shattered Oakmont's almost unconquerable par with a five-under 283 for four rounds and six strokes better than runner-up Snead. Hogan Hints He May Be Ending Career Of Golf

OAKMONT, Pa., June 13. (AP)—Ben Hogan hinted after winning his fourth National Open golf championship today that this may be his last open tournament.

Asked if he planned to play in the 1954 Open at Baltusrol at Springfield, N. J., Hogan replied: "I may not."

Prodded to be more specific at an informal news conference after his victory, the little four-time champion added:

"I don't want to say I'm retiring. I love golf. I want to play as long as I can.

"But I'm getting awfully tired. Some day there has to be a stopping point."

Later at informal ceremonies at which he received the $5,000 first prize, Hogan said to the assembled group:

"They keep asking me whether I'll retire. I'll tell you this. When I get so I can't prepare for a tournament then I'll retire.

"I think preparation is very important for a championship tournament."

Italian, Danish Davis Cup Aces In Semi-Finals

LONDON, June 13. (AP)—Italy and Denmark gained the semi-finals of the European zone Davis Cup tennis competition today with decisive triumphs over Sweden and the Philippines.

Italy, defending European zone champions, eliminated the 1951 champions as the veteran doubles team of Gianni Cucelli and Marcello Del Bello defeated Sweden's Lennart Bergelin and Sven Davidsson, 6-2, 1-6, 6-2, 6-3. That made the series score 3-0, leaving tomorrow's final singles only a warmup for the semi - final against winner of the Belgium - England quarterfinal.

Denmark advanced as Kurt Nielsen and Torben Ulrich trounced the Philippine team of Raymondo Deyro and Felicissimo Ampon, 6-3, 6-8, 6-3, 8-6,for a 3-0 lead in their series. The Danes next will play the winner of the bitter duel between France and Germany.

After losing yesterday's two single matches, Tony Mottram and Geoff Paish kept England's chances alive as they downed Philippe Washer and Jacky Brichant, 6-8, 6-1, 6-1, 6-4. Washer, favoring an injured shoulder, faded after the first set and the British pair continually broke his service to go ahead.

Paish will play Washer in the final singles match tomorrow after Mottram meets Brichant.

France took a 2-1 lead over Germany as the younger, faster team of Paul Remy and Jean Ducos De La Haille bested 43-year-old Baron Gottfried Van Cramm and 38-year-old Rolf Goepfert, 2-6, 6-4, 3-6 ,6-2, 6p4. Both Von Cramm, bulwark of German cup teams since well before World War II, and his partner tired visibly in the final two sets as Remy, 26, and Ducos De La Haille, 26, dashed around the court scoring placements.

Von Cramm who beat Remy yesterday, will come back again tomorrow against Robert Haillet and Remy will meet Engelebrt Koch in the other match.

Pro Bears Set New Game Starting Time

CHICAGO, June 13, (AP) — The Chicago Bears of the National Football League will start all Sunday home games at Wrigley Field this season at 1:05 p. m. CST, 25 minutes earlier than usual.

Owner-Coch George Halas said the change was favored by season ticket subscribers.

Favor Miss Suggs To Take Women's Western Tourney

ATLANTA, June 13. (AP)—Qualifying for the 24th Women's Western Open championship will be held Monday, and Atlanta golf fans would like nothing better than to see a re - enactment of the 1947 tournament.

That year, as this, the event was staged at the Capital City Club. And that year two of Atlanta's own — Louise Suggs and Dot Kirby — met in the 36 - hole match play finals, with Miss Suggs emerging the winner.

In order to accommodate the hometown fans in such grand style, Louise and Dot would have to dispose of such top - notch shotmakers as Patty Berg, St. Andrews, III., a four-time Western winner; Betsy Rawls, Spartanburg, S. C., the defending champion; Betty Jameson, San Antonio, Tex., winner in 1942 and runner - up last year; and Jackie Pung, the Honolulu housewife who is making a big splash in pro golf after her 1952 triumph in the National Amateur.

No amateur has won the Western since Miss Suggs' 1947 victory, and Miss Kirby, 1951 National Amateur champion, tops the play-for-fun girls who would like to break the pros' domination.

But the favorite is little Louise, now a pro, who is the top money winner on the circuit this year, and who boasts the lowest stroke average in 1953 tournament play.

A victory by Miss Rawls, recent winner of the Eastern Open, would mean the first successful defense of the Western title since Miss Suggs' 1946 and 1947 championships.

Miss Berg, the red - haired veteran of 20 years of competitive golf, is seeking her fifth western victory; Miss Suggs, her fourth.

The 6,339 - yard Capital City course is in good condition after recent rains freshened the hilly layout. Par is 36-35—71.

A field of about 75 is expected for Monday's 18 - hole qualifying round. Match play begins Tuesday and the 36-hole finals will be held Saturday.

Other pros entered include Peggy Kirk, Findlay, O.; Marilyn Smith, Wichita, Kan.; Ann Breault, Chicago; Bonnie Randolph, Columbus, O.; Barbara Romack, Sacramento, Calif., and Betty McKinnon, Midland, Tex. Amateurs include Claire Doran, Cleveland; Pay Devaney, Detroit; Pat Lesser, Seattle; Bee McWane, Birmingham; Eileen Stulb, Augusta; Mary Sargent, Memphis; Maj. Pat Grant, Fort McClellan, Ala.; and Marnie Polk and Helen Hampton, Chattanooga.

Yanks Maul Tribe, 9-4, For 16th Straight Win

CLEVELAND, June 13. (AP)—New York's powerful Yankees, blasting their way handily through four pitchers, stretched their winning over the Cleveland Indians

The Yankees, opening their first place gap over the second place Tribe to 8½ games, backed the tight pitching of steady Eddie Lopat with a 10-hit attack, four of them in a big four-run fourth inning.

Lopat, winning his seventh straight without a loss had a six-run lead in the fifth before Cleveland got its first run.

While providing Casey Stengel with the biggest bulge of his managing career, the Yanks took their fifth in a row from Cleveland and made the American League race look all but ended in the middle of June.

All the Tribe's scores resulted from home runs. George Strickland hit one in the fifth, Jim Hegan in the seventh, and in the ninth Harry Simpson smacked one after Bob Kennedy singled.

Bob Feller, never much of a problem to the Yankees, was chased in the fourth, when New York batted around. It was his fourth loss against two wins.

Hornsby Ejects Scribe Who Said He Was 'Through'

CINCINNATI, June 13 (AP)—Earl Lawson, baseball writer for the Cincinnati Times-Star notified his paper from Philadelphia today that Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Cincinnati Redlegs has barred him form the Cincinnati clubhouse.

Lawson said Hornsby told him it was "My (Hornsby's) order."

Robert Copelan, Times-Star managing editor, immediately telegraphed a protest to Redleg Business Manager Gabe Paul who is with the team in Philadelphia. Copelan wired Paul that he "urgently requests lifting of the ban" because he felt the action "was not justified."

Lawson told his paper Hornsby did not give any reason for the ban. Yesterday, Lawson wrote that Hornsby "may be through as manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs." He was critical of Hornsby's failure to remove Pitcher Bud Podbielan until after Brooklyn had scored six runs off him in the eighth inning of a game at Brooklyn Thursday. That six-run rally gave Brooklyn a 9 to 6 victory over the Reds.

Lawson's story quoted several unnamed players as expressing resentment against Hornsby for leaving Podbielan in the game.

Young Claims 'Best Condition Of Career'

WILTON, N. Y., June 13. (AP)—Paddy Young said today he was in the best condition of his career as he hit the home stretch of his training chores for Friday's Madison Square Garden date with Bobo Olson for the American middleweight title.

"They can bring on Olson any time now," said Paddy. "I'm ready."

Young scored consistently with his left hook in a six-round workout with Tony Johnson of Brooklyn and Tommy Shortell of Jersey City, N. J. He has boxed 69 rounds in his six weeks at the Adirondack Mountain Camp.

"He's come along just right," said Manager Harry Stickevers. "I've never seen him better.

New College Conference Will Be Organized Soon

RALEIGH, N. C., June 13 (AP)—The seven schools which last month announced they were pulling out of the Southern Conference meet tomorrow to complete the process of severing ties with the old circuit and organize the new one—as yet unnamed.

Athletic directors of the seven schools—Maryland, Clemson, South Carolina, Duke, Wake Forest, North Carolina and North Carolina State — will meet prior to the closed general session.

The schools will open the meeting, which may run into Monday, by formally completing the break from the old conference. School representatives who announced their intention of dropping out of the 17-school circuit, had to report to their authorities and have the action approved.

Maryland football coach and athletic director Jim Tatum said the break from the old conference did not develop mainly because of football.

Said Tatum, "It's for the athletic program as a whole. Football had less to do with forming a new conference than other sports did. The larger schools have more in common with each other than the other schools. That's the reason we ranged made our move."

He estimated that it would be 1956 before a football schedule for the new conference could be arranged.

Bad Weather Fails To Halt Olson Work

LONG BRANCH, N. J., June 13. (AP)—Despite a cold drizzle and a stiff breeze blowing in from the ocean, middleweight contender Carl (Bobo) Olson boxed six rounds today in preparation for his American middleweight title bout with Paddy Young Friday night.

Working in an outdoor ring at the Hollywood Hotel, the San Franciscan boxed three easy rounds with Welterweight Maurice Harper and then he tore loose in three more with Light Heavyweight Bull Halsey of Oakland, Calif.

The No. 1 American middleweight staggered the Bull in the first round, sent him through the ropes in the second, and floored him with a left to the body in the third.

Olson will lay off tomorrow but will box again on Monday and Tuesday.

Mulloy Defeated In Kent's Finals, Connolly Scores

BECKENHAM, England, June 13. (AP)—Gardnar Mulloy, Miami, Fla., the United States top-ranking tennis player, was beaten in the finals of the Ken Tennis Championships today by George Worthington in a stunning upset, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

Maureen Connolly, San Diego Calif tuning up for defense of her Wimbledon title, trounced her doubles partner. Julie Sampson, San Marino, Calif., 6-2, 6-3, in the women's final.

Miss Sampson gambled by trying to rush the net, and the strategy failed as Maureen passed her down the sidelines almost every time.

Worthington, 25-year-old former Australian Davis Cup substitute who now lives in New Zealand, outclassed Mulloy, 39, in the final set after the American had gotten his game together in the second set.

Mulloy lost his own service in the fifth game of the deciding set and that was all Worthington needed. The former Aussie star, making his return to big time tennis after three years out of the game because of illness, was too strong for his older opponent.

Mulloy and Worthington later teamed to win the men's doubles title, defeating Grant Golden, Chicago, and Amando Vieira, Brazil, 4-6, 6-1, 7-5.

Miss Connolly and Miss Sampson walked off with the women's doubles crown by defeating Britain's Mrs. Jean Rinkel and Helen Fletcher, 2-6, 7-5, 9-7.

Milwaukee Rally In Ninth Defeats Pittsburgh, 5-4

PITTSBURGH, June 13. (AP)—Milwaukee's relentless Braves pushed across a ninth-inning run to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-4 today and vault into a first place deadlock with the rained-out Brooklyn Dodgers.

Lou Burdette, who held the Pirates to two hits after relieving starter Warren Spahn in the seventh, received credit for his fifth straight victory without a loss.

Paul LaPalme gave up only seven hits while his mates slammed 12, including Danny O'Connell's fourth and fifth homers but went down to his sixth defeat. He has won three.

Sig Gordon walked and Andy Pafko was safe on an attempted sacrifice in the ninth. Joe Adcock then singled in the winning run. After Dittmer beat out a bunt, Johnny Hetki relieved LaPalme and retired the next three men without allowing another run.

The Pirates led 4-3 going into the seventh inning, on the strength of O'Connell's three runs-batted-in. The Braves tied it in the seventh on two singles and Del Crandall's fly ball.

Will Europe Get Middle Belt?

By FRANK ECK

NEW YORK — One thing is certain regarding the American middleweight championship bout between Paddy Young and Carl (Bobo) Olson.

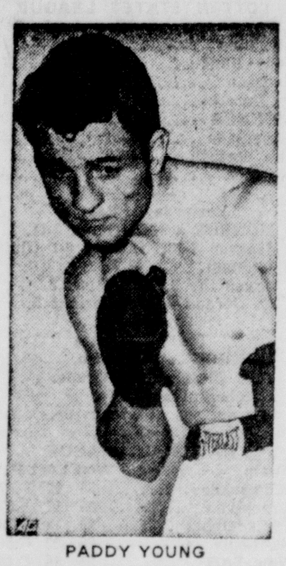
Nobody will accuse either of them of being another Ray Robinson, Tony Zale or Mickey Walker. Or to go back still farther, they cannot be confused with Harry Greb or Stanley Ketchell.

Young is a tough fighter. He holds permanent possession of Ernie Durando, say the boys in the trade. He has beaten Durando three times in five meetings. Of the other Durando meetings one was a loss and the other a draw, both in 1951.

Young had a rugged year in 1951. He was also knocked out by Eugene Hairston in two rounds.

Paddy also has lost eight bouts during his career which began in 1946 at the age of 17. He's now 24. Besides losing to a pair of practically unknowns like Tony Viserto and Fred Menna he has bowed to Tony Pellone, Laurent Dauthille and Kid Gavilan and has been stopped by Hairston and Tuzo Portuguez.

BOBO OLSON



PADDY YOUNG

Olson, a native of Honolulu, has been beaten five times but his victors have had class. He lost to Ray Robinson in a 15-round title bout in San Francisco in 1952 and in 1950, Robby knocked him out in 12 rounds. Olson also has bowed twice to Dave Sands and once to George Duke.

Robinson's retirement has left the middleweight situation in a muddle. The winner of Friday night's Madison Square Garden fight will meet Randy Turpin, possibly here in September for the world's middleweight crown.

The chances are neither Young nor Olson will be able to handle Europe's champion. If such happens it will be the first time a European will have held the title since Marcel Cerdan whipped Tony Zale on Sept. 21, 1948, in Jersey City, N. J. Cerdan knocked out Zale in 12 rounds.

The Frenchman, one of Europe's greatest fighters of recent years, lost his crown to Jake LaMotta on June 16, 1949, at Detroit. Cerdan hurt his shoulder early in the bout but continued a one-armed fight as long as he could. He was unable to come out for the 10th round and LaMotta was credited with a KO.

This was Cerdan's last contest. He was killed in a plane crash a few months later.

Seixas Cops West Of England Crown By Beating Morea

BRISTOL, England, June 13. (AP)—Vic Seixas, Philadelphia, America's second-ranking tennis player, made an impressive pre-Wimbledon performance today as he whipped big Enrique Morea, Argentina, 6-3, 6-1, 8-6, in the finals of the West of England championship.

Only in the third net was the U. S. Davis Cup captain in trouble, b he switched rackets after trailing 0-3 and immediately got even at 3-3. After a booming baseline duel of seven games, Seixas broke through the giant Argentine's service in the 14th game for the set and match.

The two finalists later paired to win the doubles crown from Edwin Tsai, Hong Kong, and Barry Green of Australia, 6-4, 8-6, 8-6, while Doris Hart, Coral Gables, Fla., and Shirley Fry, Akron, Ohio, added the doubles crown to their long list their victims were Rosemary Walsh and Valerie Lewis, England, who bowed by 6-1, 6-2.

Morea started out like Bill Tilden, belting over four service aces in the first game of the match. But Seixas started hitting the ball right back at him after that, and quickly ran off two sets with better baseline play and a flashing backhand passing shot that left Morea floundering whenever the South American tried to go to the net.

Morea found his game in the third set, winning the first three games before Seixas changed his racket and his luck.

In one of the most exciting Hart and Seixas won the mixed doubles crown with a 5-7, 9-7, 6-2 matches of the tournament. Miss victory over Miss Fry and Morea.

Grappling Gals Glorify Tuesday's Mat Program

A double main event card, featuring the appearance of two women wrestlers in addition to popular "Babe" Zaharias and Al Massey, will be offered at Gus Kallio's Arena here Tuesday night.

Promoter Kallio last night said Betty Hawkins, claimant to the Florida state women's mat crown and a former star on some of Kallio's shows, will be matched against Oga Zepeda, a peppery tamale from Mexico.

Zaharias, youngest of the three wrestling Zaharias brothers, made his first appearance on a Kallio card last week for a tag team date, his team winning over Massey and Joe Corbett. Tuesday's scrap will be a challenge affair in which Massey seeks to gain revenge over Zaharias.

Both matches will have time limits of an hour and 15 minutes with two falls to win. The order in which the matches appear on the card will be determined just before the 8:15 o'clock ringtime.

Kallio last night said the advanced sale of tickets has been good with the appearance of the girls doing very much to swell his potential gate.

Bill Barney, West Monroe, will referee both bouts.

Official Weights Must Be Met If Crown At Stake

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP)—Light Heavyweight Champion Archie Moore and challenger Joey Maxim must make the division limit of 175 pounds or their title fight in Ogden, Utah, June 24 will not be recognized as a championship fight.

That's what the joint review board of the National Boxing Association and the New York athletic commission and chairman of the NBA's rating committee, to be the NBA's official representative at the weigh-in ceremony.

Barton said that Warden had advised him that "We are pleased that you are sending Fred Saddy to represent the NBA at the weigh-in ceremony."

The NBA prexy explained that Utah has no boxing law and no commission. He said that Col. Harvey Miller, executive secretary of the NBA, had written Utah Governor J. Bracken Lee asking him to appoint a reputable person to supervise the weigh-in. Barton said that the governor replied he could not do that since the state had no boxing law and no authority in the matter.

Pat Lesser Beats McKinnon, Takes Collegiate Crown

GREENSBORO, N. C., June 13 (AP)—The precision play of Pat Lesser, rising junior at Seattle University carried her to a 4 and 2 victory over Kathy McKinnon of Florida Southern College today in the finals of the Women's National Intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

Personable Pat played the 16 holes in one under par over the 6,400-yard starmount Forest Country Club, where women's par is 76.

Through nine holes the well-tanned 19-year - old from Seattle was even par and one up by virtue of winning the ninth with a par four. They halved the next three holes with pars and a tense down to the wire battle seemed imminent.

But the complexion of the match changed abruptly. On the dogleg 13th Kathy tried to cut the corner around the trees on the left, but the ball stayed in the woods. Pat, meanwhile, was down nicely to the right. Kathy's second, which she attempted to drive through the woods, hit a tree and bounced sharply back into the middle of the fairway, by some 40 yards back.

She eventually took a six on the hole against Pat's par four and the beginning of the end was in sight.

The 14th was one of Pat's finest holes. She put together two of her many fine wood shots to get the ball 18 feet from the pin on the 410-yard, par five hole. Her eagle putt was short, but she got the birdie four when Kathy missed a six-footer and had to settle for a five.

Three up off the 15th tee, Pat needed only to sink a two - foot putt on that green to close out the match, but she missed and had to settle for a half, each taking a five on the par four hole as they three-putted.

On 16 Kathy followed a fine drive by putting her second on the side of a bunker to the right of the pin while Pat's second was well over to the left. Kathy came out but missed a six-foot putt she needed for a birdie four and she conceded to Pat who had put the ball four feet from the hole with her first putt.

Pat fired a par 76 on qualifying day and was even par in winning four matches.

For Kathy it was a third successive year of heartbreak. She has been beaten by the champion in each year, twice in the finals. In winning the medal on Tuesday she was five under par. Today she was four over, putting her 14 over in the four matches.

Sports, Millers Divide Day-Night Doubleheader

Hatcher Cops Day Tussle, 4-2; White Night Loser, 11-2

MERIDIAN, Miss., June 13. (Special)—The Monroe Suorts split a day-night twinbill with the Meridian Millers here today, taking the afternoon tussle, 4-2, on Marvin "Hoppy" Hatcher's six-hitter; and dropping the night tilt, 11-2, with Claude White absorbing the loss to Lee Afferod, who tossed six-hit ball for the home team.

The Sports produced a 14-hit assault on Joe Kopach to wint the afternoon contest for Marvin "Hoppy" Hatcher who set the Millers down with only six hits.

A home run by Dolph Regelsky in the second inning put the Millers in the lead, but Monroe tied the score in the third when Nelson Daehn doubled to score Joe Edmonds who was on with a fielder's choice.

The Sports took the lead when J. Jaynes drove home Ray Coss in the fourth, but Meridian tied it up again at 2-2 in the same frame when Jerry Harrod doubled to score Forbes who had singled.

But a Coss double that scored Hatcher iced the game away for Monroe in the fifth, and the Sports produced one more run in the eighth when Don Goeken hammered Reed Stephens across.

The Millers began the night affair inauspiciously, with Gene Pompelia fanning. The next six men got on base, and four of them scored. White finished the 9-batter inning by striking out the final two batters to face him. The four runs came when Bob Christiansen singled, and Hugh Glaze followed suit. Bill Lewis doubled them both home. Manager Tommy Davis walked, and when Daehn dropped Wendy Forbes' liner to center, both Lewis and Davis scored. Regelsky doubled Forbes to third, but both stayed put as the next two men fanned.

Meridian tallied another run in the second, when Pompelia led off with a scratch hit. Christiansen sacrificed him to second, and when he stole third, Ray Rogers threw wild to Stephens at third, Pompelia trotting on home. Stephens and Billy Sharp argued long and loud with Umpire Charlie Behrens, with the result that Sharp was ejected from the game; Edmonds entered at first, Burk moved to third, and Stephens took over at second.

The Sports got into the act for the first time tonight in the fourth, when Daehn doubled to right, and Coss slammed a tremendous homer over the left field wall fo Buck Walters Stadium, good for two runs. Stephens and Jaynes followed with singles, but Rogers flied deep to right to end the inning.

The Millers came right back with two in their half of the inning; Christiansen walking, and Lewis driving in his third and fourth runs of the evening with a clout over the left field fence, to make the score 7-2 in favor of Meridian.

Meridian tallied three gift runs in the sixth on three Monroe errors. Pompelia singled, and after Christiansen had flied out, Glaze got on when White threw wild to first, letting Pompelia and Glaze score. A bad throw to first by Burk on Forbes' grounder let Davis score with the third tally of the frame, on one hit.

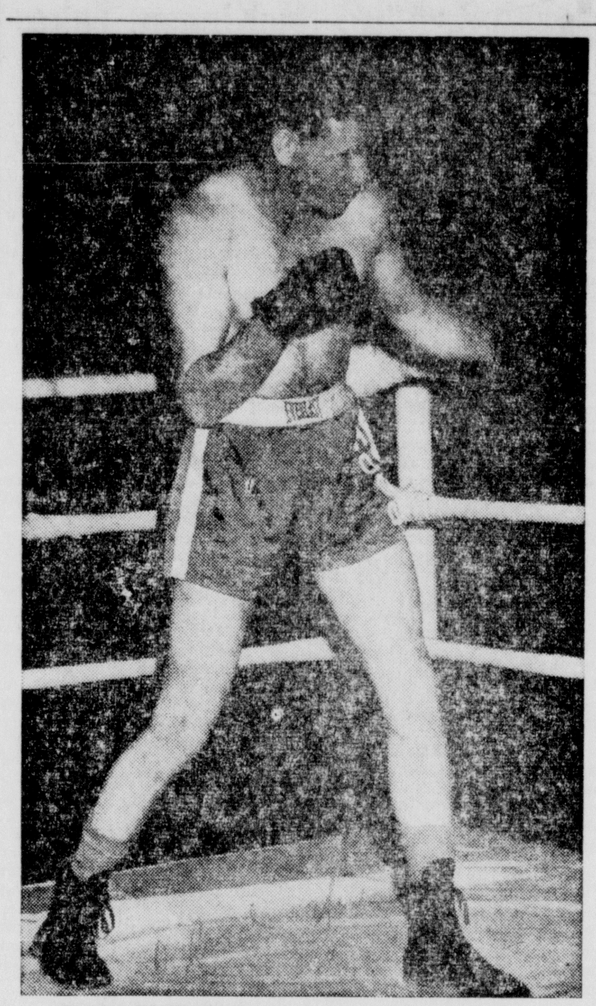
5 Bouts On Boxing Show



MAIN-EVENTER—Clarence Cook (above), classy Oak Grove middleweight, will meet Jim Barrentine, Greenwood, Miss., in the ten-round main event on a five-match boxing show at Gus Kallio's Arena here tomorrow.

The beak busting business returns to Gus Kallio's Arena here tomorrow night with James Barrentine and Clarence Cook matched for the ten-round main event on a five-bout program.

Barrentine, a classy middleweight from Greenwood, Miss., will be getting a chance to show his wares against the wiles of Cook, the clever Oak Grove boxer who furnished Twin City fans one of their finest shows back in December when he outpointed Bastrop's knockout artist, Norris Ray.

In addition to the ten-round feature, Kallio offers an eight-round semi-final, a pair of four-rounders, and a three-round exhibition.

Light Heavyweight Bill Williams of Oceola, Ark., and Bastrop will square off against Larry "Buckwheat" Wade, sturdy Greenwood lasher, in the semi-final match.

The four-rounders will match Don Ellis, Greenwood middleweight, against Tommy Parks, clever Memphis, Tenn., glove swinger, and Buddy Anthony, also of Memphis, will take on Greenwood's Sammy McGarrety in a battle of welterweights.

The curtain-raiser exhibition will bring together the popular Earl Pardon of Oak Grove and Ken Summerall of Lake Providence, the latter a clever 17-year-old with lots of promise. The match goes on as an exhibition since Pardon is expected to weigh in as a welterweight with Sumerall appearing slightly heavier in the middleweight class.

The first match tomorrow night is due to go on at 8:15 o'clock. Buck McDuffie, former marine boxing champ of Monroe, will referee the matches.

4 Players Move In Deal Between Browns, Chisox

ST. LOUIS, June 13. (AP)—Pitcher Virgil Trucks and Infielder Bob Elliott were traded to the Chicago White Sox for hurler Lou Kretlow, Catcher Darrell Johnson and Cash, the St. Louis Browns announced tonight.

Trucks came to the Browns last winter from Detroit in a deal which sent Pitcher Ned Garver to the Tigers. Elliott was signed as a free agent during spring training.

Trucks has a 5-4 record with St. Louis and an earned run average of 3.20 in 87 innings pitched.

Elliott has played in 48 games so far and is batting .258.

Both Kretlow and Johnson have been with the Browns before.

The amount of cash involved was not announced.

Kretlow has walked 30 men, allowed 12 hits and struck out 15 in 20 2-3 innings this year, but he has no won-lost record.

Johnson now is on option with Memphis of the Southern Association. He is subject to recall by the Browns.

Last season Kretlow, who came to the White Sox in a deal with the Browns in 1950, won four and lost four while posting an earned run average of 2.96. He appeared in eight games this year and pitched 21 innings for an 0-0 record. Kretlow is 30. He broke into organized baseball with Buffalo of the International League in 1946.

Johnson was purchased from the Browns in July, 1952. He did not appear in any league games with the Sox this season. He appeared in 22 games last year for the Sox.

Monroe Juniors Nip Farmerville By 4 To 3 Score

FARMERVILLE, La., June 13. (Special)—The Monroe American Legion Junior baseball club, fighting uphill all the way, came from behind with extra-base hitting power in the seventh inning to defeat Farmerville, 4 to 3, here last night.

Farmerville was leading 3-2 going into the final frame when Ike McMullen blasted a one-out triple. After Larry Reeves flied to right field for the second out, Wayne Causey came through with a double and Billy Hardy followed with a game-winning triple.

The Farmerville boys had scored all their runs in the first inning on two bases on balls, a single by Billy Booth and two Monroe errors.

The victory gave Coach Woody Boyles' Monroe club a two-game lead in the Fifth District of Louisiana championship race, and forced Farmerville to share second place with Bastrop and Winnsboro.

Gene Barham hurled the victory for Monroe, allowing only five hits. Monroe reached Farmerville pitching for 12 hits.

Box score:

Score by innings:
Monroe 010 010 2—4

The race in the West Monroe Little League tightened up yesterday at Colbert's Hardware defeated Hogan's Grocery 8 to 4, to climb into a tie with Unique Cleaners, who lost to Firestone, 30-2, for the league lead. Firestone joined Hogan's in a tie for third.

Browder and Works shared a four-hit pitching assignment for Colbert's with Starnes, the game's leading hitter with two-for-three, doing the catching. The Hogan battery was Haile, Robins and Mears.

Firestone pulled out all the stops in a 16-hit attack to hand Unique its second loss. Field, pitching all the way for Unique might have had a less disastrous fate except for 13 errors behind him. Lee hurled a four-hitter for Firestone. Richard Smith got six hits in six times at bat for the winners, and Harvey Chapman socked a homer.

Gay Clothing gained a second place tie with Walter Reed Refrigeration in the Northside League of Monroe by beating Esso Dealers, 15 to 7, behind the two-hit pitching of Billy Cobb. Webb was Cobb's catcher. The Esso battery was Mims, Spatafora and Loftin. Prather led the Gay offensive with three hits.

Turpin Eliminates Nash In Twin Cities Tourney

Corbin Turpin defeated the defending champion, Clyde Nash, 1 up, Saturday afternoon at Bayou DeSiard Golf and Country Club in the Twin Cities Men's Golf Tournament in a close match.

Nash and Turpin battled on even terms during the outgoing nine to finish even, but Turpin canned a birdie three on No. 10 to go one up and was never headed.

Turpin had Nash three down and three to play but Nash rallied to win Nos. 16 and 17 with pars while Turpin was taking bogies on each hole.

Teeing off on No. 18, a 170-yard par 3, Nash hit the green nine feet from the pin while Turpin also hit the green thirteen feet to the right of the pin. Turpin missed, Nash also missed with Nash's putt stopping on the lip of the cup, giving Turpin a 1 up decision in what was the closest and hardest-fought match in the first round.

Turpin posted a 37-35—72, while Nash's card showed 37-36—73, three over regulation figures.

Herbert Land, a dark horse defeated E. N. Hemphill, 1 up in 19 holes, to gain the second round. Hemphill and Land were just as close as the final outcome indicates throughout the match.

Dickie Touchstone downed C. B. McMahan, 2 and 1, in another close match. Touchstone is the tournament medalist.

Bill Jones won a hard-fought decision over Jack Masur, 2 up.

Wayne Woods, one of Monroe's most improved golfers, defeated L. K. Heard, 4 and 2, to gain a second-round spot.

Dr. T. A. Brulte downed Owen McCleary, 6 and 5.

Ed Villa defeated Toby Bancroft, 2 and 1, in a mild upset.

"Shep" Girault got past Amos Shelton, 4 and 2.

C. K. McClure defaulted to E. E. Lawson and Speed Bancroft also defaulted to Curtis Nichols.

Ed Shaver defeated Julius Haddad, 4 and 3.

Dr. J. W. Schonlau downed Jackie Rivers, 3 and 1, in a tough match.

Rell Suggs beat Lee Carbrey, 4 and 3.

Jackie Doss beat Raymond John, 3 and 2, earlier in the week and had a minor operation on his hand which could handicap him somewhat in his second round match today.

Kenny Holt beat Louis Milner in a match earlier in the week.

In today's second round matches Turpin meets Green in what should be a tough match.

Woods meets Kenny Holt.

Brulte plays Ed Villa.

In the lower bracket Touchstone meets Jones in a match that should be one of the best in the second round play.

Girault and Lawson tangle in another match that could go either way.

Doss plays Shaver and should win, provided his hand is all right.

L. S. U.'s Merrins Favored To Claim Collegiate Crown

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo June 13 (AP)—North Texas State College and Eddie Merrins of Louisiana State University rate as pre-tourney favorites in the 56th annual NCAA golf championship at the Broadmoor course June 21-27.

North Texas State is seeking its fifth team title. Merrins was runner-up to Jim Vickers of Oklahoma in last year's individual championship contention. Vickers is not entered this year.

A total of 42 college and universities have filed entries for the meet which bring together 135 of the nation's top collegiate links stars.

Coached by Fred Cobb, former president of the NCAA Golf Coaches Association, the North Texas school will send five netmen into action in quest of its fifth straight championship.

Practice rounds will be fired over the new 18-hole Broadmoor layout Thursday through Saturday with east - west matches Sunday afternoon opening the competition.

All entries will play 18 holes June 21 and 22 with the 36-hole scores used to determine team championship honors and the low 64 qualifiers for individual play.

The 36-hole final will be on June 27.

Schools entered for team competition are:

Amherst College, Bradley, Harvard, Illinois Institute of Technology, Iowa, Iowa State, Kansas, Louisiana State, University of Miami, Memphis State, Nebraska, North Carolina, Northwestern, Notre Dame, North Texas State, Ohio State, Oklahoma A and M, Oklahoma, Penn State, Purdue, Rutgers, Stanford, Southern California, Southern Methodist, uTexas, Trinity College, University of California at Los Angeles, Washington, Wayne University, Denver University, Cornell, New Mexico, Wisconsin and Colorado A and M.

Bather Franchise Move To Come Before League

HELENA, Ark., June 13 (AP) — Cotton States League directors will meet Tuesday at Greenville, Miss., to consider a recent reorganization of the Hot Springs club, which created a furor in the class C circuit by its attempted use of Negro players.

CSL President Al Haraway, who called the meeting after a secret session of six league directors at Monroe, La., last week, announced the purpose of next week's meeting tonight.

He described it as a routine consideration of the transfer of stock within the Hot Springs club from Lewis Golz to H. M. Britt.

"The transfer of stock gives Britt a majority ownership," Haraway said. "And all such majority transfers must be approved by the league."

Hot Springs has been the center of a controversay since early last spring, when it hired bro[illegible] James and Leander Tugerson, Negro righthanded pitchers from Indianapolis of the Negro American League.

After several of the clubs said they would refuse to play against Negroes, Hot Springs optioned them to Knoxville, Tenn., of the Class D Mountain States League "to preserve harmony."

George Trautman, national head of the minor leagues, later said no player could be barred from any league or club because of his race or color.

Hot Springs has refused to say if it will again attempt to play the Negro pitchers.

Qualifying For Jaycee Boys' Meet Opens Here

Boys from Monroe, Bastrop, Ruston and the vicinities surrounding these cities will register this week and play qualifying rounds at the Municipal Golf Club here in the First Annual Jaycee Boys' Golf Tournament.

All boys who have passed their eleventh birthday but who have not attained their eighteenth birthday by August 15, 1953, are eligible to participate in this year's Junior event. Qualifying will be over the 18-hole route.

Qualifying will continue through Sunday, June 28, with match play starting Monday, June 29. Starting times and pairings will be announced in the Monday Morning World, June 29.

A large and fast field is expected to enter this year's event with several young players coming from Bastrop and Ruston to make the going a little tougher for the local club swingers.

The winner of the local Jaycee tourney will compete in the state Junior Jaycee Amateur Golf Tournament at Shreveport on July 13, 14 and 15.

The Junior winning the state Jaycee meet will be sent to the University of Michigan golf course, Ann Arbor, Mich., to compete in the Eighth Annual International Jaycee Junior Amateur Golf Championship, with all expenses paid.

This is the first year the Jaycees have held a Junior Golf Tourney here. Heretofore a local Junior golfer has been selected to represent this locality in the state Jaycee tourney.

Jackie Doss was the last young golfer from Monroe to be entered in the state Jaycee event and that was back in 1951.

With such fine young players as Jackie Rivers, Roy Nash, Steve Henry, Joe Thomas and others this year's event should be a large tourney with a fast field.

Pro Britt, at Muny, says the course is in good shape and that he expects about 40 young golfers to enter.

Prizes will be awarded the medalist, winner, runner-up and consolation winner in each flight.

Native Dancer Finishes Strong To Take Belmont

Shades Jamie K. By Neck; Collects Fat $82,500 Pot

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP)—Native Dancer proved his right to rank with the top horses this country has produced when he pulled away from Jamie K. in a thrilling stretch drive today to win the richest of all Belmont Stakes by a neck in a photo finish.

It was strictly a two-horse race for that final blistering, last quarter of a mile and Alfred Vanderbilt's grey Dancer had to pull on all of the strength of his powerful body to overcome Jamie K., whom he had beaten in the Preakness three weeks ago at Baltimore by the identical margin.

It was the 14th victory in 15 starts for Native Dancer and the most important of his colorful career and established his claim to the three-year-old championship without a shadow of a doubt.

The Belmont, being run for the 85th time since its inception in 1867 at the old Jerome Park, in the Bronx, was worth a total of $118,400 and there was a record $82,500 waiting at the finish line for the winner.

So, Eddie Arcaro, aboard Jamie K., owned by the Spring Hill Farm of Jim Norris, International Boxing Club boss, wasn't fooling around.

But neither was Eric Guerin, who won his first Belmont after five previous attempts. He has ridden the Dancer in all of his brilliant race, including that one disappointing loss to the ill-fated Dark Star in the Kentucky Derby May 2.

The time for the testing mile and one-half, which these three-year-olds were tackling for the first time, was a nifty 2:28 3-5 on a track lightning fast after showers during the day. This was just two-fifths off the Belmont Stake record set by the great Count Fleet in 1943 and duplicated by the equally great Citation in 1948.

The critics who faulted the Dancer after his Derby loss and Preakness squeak had to admire the sleek grey galloper this time because of the excellent clocking after an extremely slow early pace. To show how far the others were out of the race, Eugene Constantin, Jr.'s Royal Bay Gem was 10 lengths behind Jamie K. at the wire. Bruce S. Campbell's Ram O' War, who set the pace for almost a mile, was fourth 4½ lengths to the rear of Royal Bay Gem.

Toronto Obtains Bob Addis From Pittsburgh Bucs

PITTSBURGH, June 13. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates sold Outfielder Bob Addis, recently obtained in a 10-player deal that sent Ralph Kiner to the Chicago Cubs, and Shortstop Clem Koshorek today to Toronto in the International League. The purchase prices were not disclosed.

Addis, who hit .292 for the Cubs last year, hadn't appeared in any Pirate games. Koshorek recently returned to the Pirates from Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League.

Britisher Distance Runner Sets Record

LONDON, June 13. (AP)—Jim Peters, Britain's 34-year old Olympic runner, today recorded the fastest time ever for the marathon distance of 26 miles, 385 yards.

The pint - sized Peters, who weighs only 126 pounds, was timed in two hours, 18 minutes, 40.2 seconds for the run from Windsor to Dhiswick. It was 10.8 seconds faster than the previous best performance for the distance, set by Japan's Keizo Yamada in the Boston Marathon last April.

And it was four minutes, 23 seconds better than Emil Zatopek's winning time in the 1952 Olympics at Helsinki.

Martin Loses 21 Points, But Still Leads Batting

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., June 13 (Special) — Cotton States League pitchers are beginning to whittle the lofty batting average of Hot Spring's rampaging Hal Martin down to their collective size, but they still have a long row to hoe before getting him well under control.

They enjoyed their biggest success of the season for the period ending June 9 by trimming it 21 points to .407, right back where the Bather slugger finished the first week. Dick Royce, El Dorado, also checked his 18-game hitting streak on June 9.

Even with that loss of points, Martin is still the batting king bee. In addition to his No. 1 mace mark, he leads in runs, 52; hits, 70; home runs, 18, total bases, 146, and runs batted in. In 43 games he has faced pitchers 172 and responded 70 times. As expected, he ranks high on the base on balls list with 32.

Hal may have a serious competitor in Banks McDowell, veteran Jackson fly hawk, who has the same high hit percentage, but in only 91 times at bat in 26 games. He has wormed 33 walks, 13 last week.

Jack Landis, Pine Bluff gardener, is the actual runnerup with a fine .364, a gain of eight, thanks mainly to big 5-4 sprees on June 6 and 7. Louis Schaufele, Jackson rookie, is third at .351, a loss of four. Then comes Pel Austin, El Dorado buster, who skidded from .380 to .339 with only five hits in 31 times at bat; and into a deadlock with Monroe's Ray Rogers, who picked up six decimals with 22-8. Hugh Glaze, Meridian second baseman, enjoyed a prosperous 33-12 chart and gained seven to .333 and sixth place. Dolf Regelsky, Meridian shortstop, is seventh at .323, just ahead of Ty Braziel, Greenville, .319; Nels Daehn, Monroe, .317, and Anse Moore, Jackson, .317, for the Big 10 membership.

Just outside the choice group is Vern (Moose) Shetler, Hot Springs manager-first baseman, who included three doubles among his dozen safeties and took over in that specialized department with 14, one more than the former pace setter, Schaufele. He is hitting .316, the same as Bill Adair, El Dorado.

Jack Maroney, Jackson, is tied with Martin in triples, each with five. Frank Lucchesi, (306), Pine Bluff skipper, has stolen 13 bases, one more than Meridian's Gene Pompelia (.301). Martin has 11 and Charley Harrington, Monroe (.307), 10.

Other regulars hitting within the .300 circle include: Reed Stephens, Monroe (.315); Merrill Smith, Pine Bluff (.314), George Escobio, Natchez (.313); Ken Robinett, Pine Bluff (.312); Don Allen, Natchez (.311); Dick Monkman, Jackson (.303), and Ziggy Sklodowski, Greenville (.301).

John Paul Jones, Jackson ace, whipped Meridian and Natchez last week to take over the pitching percentage with seven wins and a single loss for .875. His lone loss was to the Millers back on May 10. Since then he has copped four in a row.

Although Bobby Harrison, Meridian star, lost the percentage lead he rates first in almost every mound phase. He has the most victories, 10, against two defeats; hurled the most innings, 105 1-3; fanned the most, 88, and racked up the most shutouts, three. He has walked only 22, yielded but 26 earned runs, and has gone the distance in all 12 starts. Three others have won seven games: Frank Callahan, Pine Bluff (7-3). Hugh Blanton, Monroe (7-4), and Tom Pollet, Greenville, (7-2) Marv (Hoppy) Hatcher, Monroe, has a 6-4 record. Hugh Ratcliff, has been credited with three wins in five days since joining Natchez. Clyde Baldwin, El Dorado, and Jimmy Dupuy, Meridian, have 5-2; Gene Summerlin, Monroe, even better with 4-1.

Richardson Faces Kaiser In Tennis Title Play Today

NEW ORLEANS, June 13 (AP) — Top-seeded Hamilton (Ham) Richardson of Baton Rouge and fourth-seeded Don Kaiser of Louisville, Ky., today breezed into the men's singles finals of the Southern Amateur tennis tournament.

Richardson brushed past Allen Morris of Atlanta, 6-1, 6-0, 6-4, and Kaiser disposed of defending champion Bryan (Bitsy) Grant in surprisingly easy fashion 6-3, 7-5, 6-2.

Tomorrow's finals will be a replay of last week's Blue-Gray tournament at Montgomery where Richardson drubbed Kaiser 6,1, 6-2, 6-3.

The two matches were a study in contrasts. The 42-year-old Grant and the youthful Kaiser played deliberately with each point hard-fought and Richardson and Morris exchanged blistering drives, winning or losing the points rapidly.

Morris, a youngster from Presbyterian College, made his best showing in the last set, but Richardson was never in any danger.

In the first match Kaiser, a recent graduate of the University of Miami, got an assist from old age and the scorhing sun that played down on the New Orleans Lawn Tennis Club in defeating Grant, the defending champion who had won the event 11 times.

Top-seeded Jean Clark of Birmingham, Ala., and unseeded Margaret Varner of Baton Rouge advanced today to tomorrow's women's singles finals.

Miss Clark beat unseeded Alicia Wright of Ecuador 10-8, 5-7, 6-2 in one singles semi-final and Miss Varner upset second seeded Laura Lou Kunnen of St. Petersburg, Fla. 6-2, 8-6.

Malon Courts of Atlanta won the senior men's singles championship in the first title decided today.

Courts, second seeded in the veterans' division, upset top-seeded Peyre Kennedy of Spartanburg, S. C., with surprising ease, winning 6-0, 6-1.

Courts and Val Wilson of New Orleans teamed yesterday to advance to the finals, where they were joined today by Dr. A. J. Italiano and William Macassin, both of New Orleans.

Italiano - Macassin beat Jerry Kerr and A. L. Russell, both of New Orleans, 6-0, 6-1.

feet from the cup. There wasn't a doubt in thousands of minds as he measured the assignment for more than a minute, dropped a half-smoked cigarette on the green and then did the same with his putt. It hit the back of the can.

Mangrum, the 1949 champion from Niles, Ill., went to pieces on the last three holes of the morning round and finished with rounds of 75-74 for a total of 292. This gave him third money.

Fazio, the 40-year-old touring pro from Clementon, N. J., who started the day tied with Snead at 141, two strokes back of Hogan, skied to 77-76 for 294, which placed him a tie with Jimmy Demaret. Fazio missed a one and a half foot putt on the first hole of the morning round and three-putted No. 8. "That was it," he said.

Demaret, playing with Snead, had a 71 in the morning round and a 76 in the afternoon. The veteran Dick Metz, Hogan's companion, finished at 295 with squat Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y.

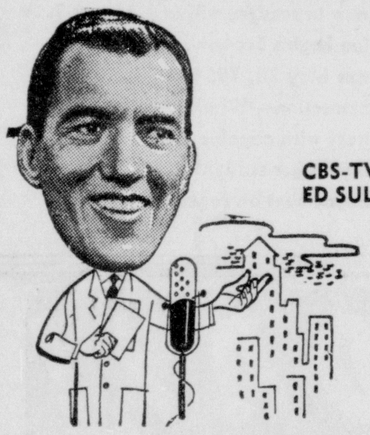
Q. What are UHF and VHF?

A. UHF means new ultra high frequency. Approximately 1,800 out of the 2,400 stations in the United States will be UHF. This requires some changes in the television receivers to receive UHF, because the set has been designed for VHF reception. VHF stands for very high frequency. The first 107 stations allocated in America for the broadcasting of television were VHF stations, but most of the stations presently being approved by the Federal Communications Commission are UHF stations. There are only 12 channels in VHF. There are 70 channels in UHF. KFAZ, the first station to go on the air in MONROE will be UHF on channel 43. The other channel now allocated to Monroe is Channel 8, which is VHF.



CBS-TV STAR
ED SULLIVAN

Q. What does this mean to a prospective TV purchaser?

A. In order to receive both channels allocated to MONROE, be sure your set is equipped to receive both VHF and UHF.

Q. What sets are built to receive VHF?

A. All television sets on the market today are built to receive VHF because 100 per cent of all sets sold to date have been VHF receivers.

Q Is it possible to convert a VHF receiver to a UHF receiver?

A. Yes, in four different ways.

1. A metal strip can be added to the tuner, thus putting that channel in the UHF band. This is a comparatively inexpensive operation, but has the disadvantage that it loses forty per cent of the gain (signal or power) coming into the set. This, of course, restricts the range in which a strip can be used.
2. "1, 2 and 3" channel converters. These units have amplifying tubes built in so there is no loss of signal. It gives the set more power and more gain. It will receive one, two or three UHF channels.
3. All-channel external converter. This is on 82-channel converter, which is about the size of a table model radio and will receive all channels approved by the Federal Communications Commission. This converter sets on top of your television set.
4. All-channel internal tuner. This is a tuner built into the TV set which will receive all 82 channels approved by the Federal Communications Commission.

CBS-TV STAR
ARTHUR GODFREY

Q. Which will give us the best performance in the Twin Cities?

A. As of today, the network television engineers rate these UHF receivers as follows:

1. The "1, 2 and 3" channel converters.
2. The all-channel internal converter.
3. The all-channel external converter.
4. The metal strip.

Q. How many channels will we receive in Monroe?

A. We will receive channels 8 and 43—the allocations granted as of this date.

Q. Should I buy an antenna at the present time?

A. You should not buy an antenna at the present time. Nobody can tell you in advance whether your location will require an antenna and contrary to the popular belief, it has been found by actual experience that many locations do not require an antenna. Furthermore, it is possible to have TOO MUCH ANTENNA for your set, thus distorting your picture.

Q. When should I buy a television set?

A. That depends on when you want to see TV pictures. Remember this: practically every family that owns a radio wants to buy a TV set. It will be humanly impossible for the limited number of television technicians in the Twin Cities to install the thousands of sets that will be purchased once KFAZ goes on the air.

Q. What TV set should I buy?

A. There are a few very fine television receivers on the market today that are backed up by reliable manufacturers whose names you know. CBS, with the finest TV shows and stars in the industry, naturally builds you the finest TV set with which to receive them.

Q. How long must the Twin Cities wait?

A. During the past several months the Federal Communications Commission has allocated stations from coast to coast and from border to border. All of these stations have been trying to get transmitters and the other equipment necessary to start telecasting as soon as possible. It is our opinion that Mr. Griffith, your local KFAZ president, has done a remarkable job of expediting structural steel, transmitters and the several hundred thousand dollars worth of critical materials and parts in short supply vital to the operation of a television station. His vast experience in the radio and television fields has wisely taught him that he should not telecast with a picture strength which is not adequate for this area. Consequently, he has waited until he could bring his station on with more than 25,000 watts of power, which is comparable to TV picture power in most of the big cities. We feel that although he has made a tremendous personal financial sacrifice that he is doing and has done a great service to the people of this area.

Trousdale, Brown Vows Said In Afternoon Ceremony

Of interest here and elsewhere in Louisiana was the wedding last Saturday, celebrated in Christ Church cathedral in New Orleans of Miss Louisette Amelie Trousdale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Weaks Trousdale to Mr. Alfred Whitney Brown, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Brown of Ormond Plantation, Destrehan, La. The ceremony which took place at 5 o'clock in the late afternoon was performed by Canon Donald H. Whattley. Decorating the altar of the church were clusters of white spring flowers and sprays of green.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an ivory colored Italian silk taffeta dress made with a tight fitting bodice having a scooped neckline, which widened out to the tip of her shoulder and formed a very deep V in the back. Surrounding the neckline was a wide band of heirloom Brussells lace appliqued on the taffeta. The sleeves were short. Her full skirt made with many unpressed pleats formed a long circular train in the back. Trimming the back of the skirt was a wide curved band of similar lace appliqued midway to follow the sloping waistline of the dress. On her head she wore a long veil of heirloom Brussells lace which fell over the train of the bridal dress. She carried a single magnolia bloom.

The maid of honor was Miss Nancy Trousdale. Other attendants were Mrs. Frank Matthews, III and Mrs. Charles Stone Reily, sisters of the bridegroom and Mrs. Gale Creed and Miss Juliette Breaux both of Baton Rouge and Miss Marie Elise Labbe of Lafayette, cousins of the bride. The reception was also held in the patio which was decorated with magnolia leaves and white calladium leaves surrounding the fish pond. The brides cake, a large round tiered cake, was topped with an old silver marriage cup and was surrounded with white blooms. The silver cup was a wedding gift to the young couple by the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Labbe of Lafayette.

News From Public Library

Is your child taking part in the summer reading club, sponsored by the summer reading club? If he is not reading this summer, he is missing a wonderful opportunity for pleasure and improvement. Each summer the Ouachita Parish Public Library sponsors a vacation reading club, built around a timely theme. This year the theme is "The Louisiana Purchase." The club started on May 27 and already more than 800 children have registered at the four branches of the library and some of them have already read as many as 20 books.

The rules of the club are very simple. The child goes to one of the four branches of the library, enrolls in the club and starts reading. When a child joins the Louisiana Purchase Reading Club, he is given a booklet in which he keeps a list of the books read, giving author and title of each. Small children will need the help of their parents in keeping this book, but children from the fourth grade on up, should be able to keep this record for themselves. In order to earn a certificate, a child must read fifteen books during the summer. If he is in a grade from the fourth on up, five of these books must pertain to some phase of the Louisiana Purchase. If a child reads more than fifteen books, he gets a gold star on his certificate for every five books over the required 15. The club ends on September 1 and the certificates will be awarded at the schools, after they open in the fall. At the close of the club, all children who have earned certificates will be entertained at a party, the nature of which will be announced later.

As an added incentive to keep up the children's interest, small cards with figures of ladies and gentlemen of the Louisiana Purchase period, are placed on the bulletin boards of each branch, after a child has read five books. Each card carries the name of the reader. When a child has read 5 books, the card is stamped with the Fleur d'lis, the emblem of Royal France. When he has read 10 books, the card is stamped with the Spanish flag, since Spain was the second owner of the Louisiana territory. When fifteen books have been read, the card is stamped with the Pelican, the bird of Louisiana. For every five books read over the required fifteen, the card is stamped with the American flag. These cards make colorful and attractive displays at the branches of the library. Remember that this club is open to the children of all four branches, Monroe, West Monroe, Carver and the Bookmobile.

You may wonder what sort of books can be counted on the Louisiana Purchase theme. Any book that deals with life in any of the states formed from the Louisiana purchase territory will count. Since it included almost the entire section west of the Mississippi River, this gives us plenty of choice. There are fascinating biographies of such men as Wild Bill Hickock, General Custer, Sam Houston, Buffalo Bill and many others who had a great deal to do with the development of the western section of our country. Then there are books dealing with a period of events of history, books such as "The Louisiana Purchase" by Robert Tallant and "The Lewis and Clark Expedition" by Richard Neuberger. These books and many others give an authentic picture of life in the early days of our country and especially in the development of the west.

The children of today are the citizens of tomorrow and the board and librarian of the Ouachita Parish Public Library feel keenly that one of the greatest services they can give their community, is to instill in these future citizens a love of country. In order to love our country, it is necessary to know about the many people and events that have gone into its making. Taking part in a summer reading project such as "The Louisiana Purchase" is one of the best possible ways to develop this understanding and appreciation. You owe it to your child to see that he comes to the library next week and enrolls in the club, if he has not already done so. It is your library and your country, make the most of both of them.

Sev eral of these girls took the begin ner course offered last year. Som mighty good cooks growing up i te Twin Cities!

Speaking of cooking, there ar still vacancies in the beginner class to be conducted by Louisiana Pow er and Light Company at Baber's beginning June 30. Six sessions o instruction under Mrs. Billie Jun Holt and Mrs. Dorothy Jones ar opportunities many girls will want to make the most of.

Popular Couple Marry In New Orleans

Forget-me-not blue hues were featured in the waltz-length gowns of feminine attendants for the wedding Saturday, June 6, of Miss Georgia Cook to Mr. Lamar Loe, Jr. The identically-styled gowns were fashioned of blue organza over taffeta, each in matching pastel blue. Cascades of burbank daisies with matching hair corsages complemented the blue gowns.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lacey Cook of New Orleans. Mr. Loe is the son of Mr.and Mrs. Lamar Tracy Loe of Tallulah.

Vows Said At 5

The vows were pledged at 5 o'clock in the Gentilly Baptist Church in New Orleans with Dr. Henry Fussell, officiating, at the double ring ceremony.

Baskets filled with white daisies and gladioli adorned the altar with white cathedral tapers burning in branched candelabra.

A concert of prenuptial music was rendered by Mrs. J. McEver. Mrs. R. Seale sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was wearing a candlelight white nylon tulle and chantilly lace gown over taffeta with a tight bodice and a decollete neckline outlined in Chantilly lace applique which extended to her shoulders and widened into a deep V in the back. Lace applique extended in a panel effect down the front and on each side of the back. Long fitted lace sleeves tapered to petal points over her wrist. The flowing skirt was interspersed with lace applique and ended in a chapel length train. A finger-tip veil fell from her coronation - styled bandeau. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and stephanotis centered with a purple throat white orchid.

Bridesmaids were Miss Sarah Brettles of Little Rock and Miss Jackie Eubank of New Orleans. They each wore strapless waltz-length forget-me-not blue organza over taffeta with boleras and burbank daisies.

Mr. Edward Adams, Mr. Warren Parker, Mr. Frank McDonald and Mr. Eugene Wallace were ushers.

Orchid Corsage

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Cook wore a grey lace waltz-length over grey taffeta with matching accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Loe, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a becoming lilac organza waltz-length with matching accessories and a purple orchid.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the garden adjoining the church. The bride's table was overlaid with an organdy cloth. Loops of satin ribbon surrounded the table which was centered with a three-tiered cake beautifully embossed with orchids.

The couple departed by plane for a week in Nassau. Later they plan to drive to Colorado Springs, Colo., where Mr. Loe will join the L. S. U. golf team for the National Intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

For traveling the bride wore a navy blue linen suit with matching accessories and a white orchid.

Poor Light Causes Errors

Have you seen women with rouge so heavily plastered on their cheeks that it made passers-by stare? The chances are that the lighting was poor when they made up.

These women, who are also likely to have smeared lipstick and an unbecoming shade of powder, apparently never see what they're doing when they apply make-up. They surely wouldn't want to go out in public that way if they could see themselves.

When making up for daytime, you need a strong daylight, with equal brightness flooding all parts of your face. This may mean keeping your make-up equipment in a most unlikely place. But if it's handily boxed, or on a tray, you won't mind making up in front of the kitchen window or any other place that happens to be bright.

If you have no good daylight in your home, you'll have to use artificial light. The best kinds light your mirror from behind or at sides, top and bottom, so that there are no shadows. If your lighting isn't the most modern, at least be sure that it's strong enough and comes from both left and right.

If you can't see without glasses, be sure to wear them when making up.

Humble-Collins

The marriage of Miss Peggy Diane Collins, of Jonesville, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve L. Collins to Elmer Denzelle Humble, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Humble, also of Jonesville, was performed on June 5, at seven o'clock in the evening at the Utility Baptist Church in Jonesville.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of the Block High School in Jonesville. The groom spent several years in the U. S. Navy and is presently employed with the Natchez plant of the International Paper Company.

BRIDAL PARTY—Attendants at the Mintz-Strauss wedding at the Country Club on June 6 were Miss Seisel Wile of Shreveport, who served as one of the bridesmaids, Miss Peggy Strauss, sister of the bride and maid of honor. Mrs. Irwin Shlansky of New York City, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Joan Sugar who both were bridesmaids.

At each end of the table were crystal punch bowls which were presided over by Emmie Lou Miller, attractive young daughter of the hostess, and Sally Jo Testa, cousin of the bride-elect. Both wore pretty white afternoon frocks.

Miss Testa was wearing a becoming white lace frock with very full skirt and tight fitting bodice, the yoke encrusted with rhinestones and sequins. The hostesses all wore summery afternoon dresses.

Summer Togs Smart If Neat

Some teens think that summer is the time to let down the bars of good grooming. Although it's a time for a more relaxed way of dressing, this idea needn't be coupled with sloppiness.

Dungarees are popular for very good reasons, so enjoy wearing yours. Make sure, however, that they fit you, are clean, and not worn threadbare.

Socks needn't be wrinkled to be comfortable. Pull yours up taut and fold them over if necessary.

An old and mellow pair of shoes may be your choice for comfort. But you'll walk better if the heels are even. It's better not to own white shoes if you haven't time to keep them clean.

Cotton dresses, so enchanting when fresh, are unsightly when rumpled and soiled. Change into a fresh one as often as necessary. Save whites and pastels for country life and the darks for the city.

If your dress is sheer, be sure to have proper underthings for it. Bra straps shouldn't show. The slip should match the color of the dress and be neatly fitted and pretty.

Avoid too much lace showing through a sheer dress—an absolutely tailored, well - cut slip looks better. Occasionally a girl forgets to check her back view and others see a piece of bar riding up above her slip.

LEAVING FOR HAWAII — Betty Flexmin, YNSN, USN, daughter of Mrs. Carrie Flexmin of this city, is visiting here before departing for a tour of duty with the navy in Hawaii. She joined the Navy in August of '51 and took her training at Great Lakes, Ill. After boot camp, she transferred to Bainbridge, Md. where she went to Yeoman school. She is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School. Betty will leave from San Francisco for Hawaii.

How To Do A Professional Job At Home

You don't like to simmer over a hot iron in the summer. And yet you want lettuce-leaf crispness in your wardrobe. There must be some way to reconcile these things.

One answer is to eliminate all fabrics that need pressing from your summer wardrobe. But that lets out so many beautiful cottons, linens and floating chiffons.

Have you thought of a steam iron? This type of iron is said to eliminate at least half the work involved in pressing. In most cases, no dampening is needed beforehand and, since you encounter no frustrating dry spots as you work, the pressing job is speeded up. It's handy to have one in addition to your regular iron.

If a cotton dress is still clean, but deeply creased, don't trouble to launder it again right away. Hold a steam iron an inch or two away from the deep creases for a few seconds and then press them quickly.

Your washable summer hat, that you thought would be so practical, may have proved unwearable after washing and ironing. The next time, you might try a steam iron on it. Stuff the hat with tissue paper or toweling and steam-press thoroughly. You can reshape the hat easily by directing a jet of steam at strategic spots.

Steam will bring lifeless artificial flowers, veils and straw hats back to usefulness. Start with a full head of steam one-eighth of an inch away and gradually lessen the steam. Take care not to stretch veils—just put them into shape.

You can reblock a knit dress with a steam iron. Hold the steam an inch above the baggy spots. Follow with a careful pressing from waist to hem, preferably using a thin pressCloth.

A summer chiffon or organdy is ruined if the hem-line dips in spots. But all is not lost—gently stretch and simultaneously steam the sections that don't match the dips. You can slightly shrink the dipped parts to bring them into line. Your guide for evenness is the straight of the fabric, at the side seam.

It's easy to avoid dipped hemlines in chiffons and organdies—just never put these dresses on hangers. The weight of the dresses pulls the hems out of shape. Store them, in many folds of tissue paper, in a drawer.

Thin crepes are easily puckered and shrunk in spots. If you should be unlucky enough to stain a crepe dress, you can restore the puckered spot, after stain removal, with steam. Use a thick terry-cloth towel on your board when ironing crepe, and work on the wrong side only.

Steam is wonderful for your quilted cottons. Have you found them troublesome to iron in the regular way because you had to have them almost soaking wet? With a steam iron, you can have these garmets only slightly dampened. A jet of steam brings up the quilting.

Steam restores shape to thin summer wools, dresses, sweaters and stoles. Shrink stretched parts, such as wrists and neckline, back to a good fit. It's safest to work on the wrong side.

No Rags In Bags

The great American shortage so far as the average home is concerned is in rags — just rags—reported the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association in a nostalgic vein. Rags suitable for cleaning windows, pictures and mirrors; rags for polishing the family car; rags for those messy "spills" of ink, paint or iodine. Cotton, flannel and linen rags salvaged from underwear, sleep - wear, kitchen curtains and draperies, tablecloths, housedresses and aprons.

Today, practically everything worn or used around the house is made of the new fibers, which alas, do not make good, all-purpose rags when they "go." That narrows the field down to worn-out sheets, pillow-cases, towels and household linens which are not lightly tossed away these days, even to become precious rags.

GAMA solemnly suggested that an occasional gift of clean rags will be very welcome to a bride of your acquaintance whose trousseau includes everything except some nice soft rags!

Slim Legs By Vacation Time

If you're going on vacation soon, and would like slimmer, shapelier legs to show off in your shorts and bathing suit, start exercising now.

Here are two exercises for girls in normal health:

Exercise 1—Sit on the floor with legs extended and slightly apart. Keeping knees straight, bend forward and grasp your toes. Pull on them and hold for one minute. It's important to keep knees flat on the floor. Once or twice may be enough the first time. Work up to 10 times each.

Exercise 2—Lie on back and raise a leg, keeping ankle and knee relaxed. Describe 10 circles with your toes. This slims the ankle. Rest. Describe 10 circles with the leg. This slims the calf. Rest. Now describe 10 circles with the entire leg, from the hip down.

As soon as you are able, begin describing circles with both legs simultaneously.

School Has Celebration

The annual May Day Celebration for Claiborne Elementary School was presented recently. The program was begun with the presentation of the queen's court by narrator, James Street, and the crowning of the May Queen and May King for 1953 — Miss Sally Purvis and Lonnie Wayne McCurry — by last year's queen and king, Miss Frances Butler and Keith Wilson.

In honor of the royal court the first, second, and third grades presented "A Spring Pageant" in which the children were dressed as various spring flowers and birds. Greta Ford was featured as the spirit of spring and Sharon Watson as the north wind.

The fourth and fifth grades presented the traditional Maypole dance, and the sixth grade enacted the "Legend of the Dogwood." The seventh grade presented "Alice in Wonderland" featuring Gerrie Dickerson and Mary Ann Purvis as the large and small Alice, Charles White as the rabbit, Harvey Burton as the caterpillar, Sue Hattaway as the March Hare, Polly Riser as the Mad Hatter, Robert Lindsey and Billie Dunn as the gardeners, John Allen as the knight, and Katie Sanford and Mike Wallace as the King and Queen. The story was narrated by James Street.

The May Day Celebration ended with the recessional of Queen Sally Purvis, King Lonnie Wayne McCurry and their court — Buster Thrasher and Delilah Weaver, first grade; Mary Ann Funderburk and Dwight Ramsey, Glenda Thrasher and Fred Riser, third grade; Judy Hicks and Jerry Hicks, Shirley Allen and Bob Feazel, Johnnie Taylor and Curtis Eller, fourth grade; Patsy Riser and George Stennet, Faith Howard and Dave Norris, Betty Freeman and Fred Cheeks, fifth grade; Winona Boatright and Pat Jackson, sixth grade; Gloria Wilson and Jerry Medaries, Rosemary Funderburk and Stanley Roberts, Brenda Gilmore and Richard Ketchens, seventh grade.

Bath Oil Has New Use

Beauty products often serve purposes more far-reaching than their makers originally intended.

Take bath oil, for example. Most users enjoy it in their bath only. But do you know that it can act as a sachet? Rub a few drops of a very rich bath oil—one that contains no water or alcohol—into the wood of your bureau drawer. The fragrance will delightfully scent your lingerie.

Girls use bath oil to freshen up smoky or musty rooms. Rub a few drops on your electric light bulbs or pour a few drops into a bowl of very hot water and let the fragrant steam clear the atmosphere.

Do you think you have to do without the luxury of bath oil because you have time for only a shower? Rub a few drops on each of your shoulders. When the hot water strikes them, a cloud of perfume will arise.

Frequent travelers, who often resort to the practice of dewrinkling their clothes over a hot bathtub, may shake a few drops of rich bath oil into the filling tub. The rising fragrance will permeate their clothes.

One well-known bath oil is now available in a leak-proof, travel-size bottle with a dispenser-type opening.

The Swedish L. M. Ericsson Telephone Company, which has branches in many countries, has formed a subsidiary in Turkey, where the firm is building automatic stations in 11 cities in Anatolia.

Jonesboro Couple Exchange Vows In Methodist Church

JONESBORO — A lovely wedding of June was that of Miss Elese Wade and Mr. John L. Peevy which was solemnized Sunday at 9 a.m. at the Jonesboro Methodist Church in Jonesboro. Rev. W. O. Lynch officiated in the impressive double ring ceremony which was in reminiscence of the bride's father's birthday.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Wade of Jonesboro and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Peevy, Sr. of Jonesboro.

Forming a beautiful setting for the exchange of nuptial vows was the aluminated cross in front of the altar. Matching pedestal baskets tied with white satin bows and streamers were filled with white gladioli, white asters and majestic daisies and interspersed with training plumosos and emerald ferns.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Joe Key rendered a concert of prenuptial music before the traditional wedding march.

Adrian Peevy was his brother's best man and Mr. Leonard Morehead, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Mr. George Hester, uncle of the bride, served as ushers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a lovely two piece shantung dress of luggage brown. Her white halo hat featured a dainty lace tie back veil, her gloves were white and she chose brown and white shoes. Her corsage was a white yellow throated orchid. Her only jewelry was an heirloom cameo broach worn by her mother when she married.

Miss Nancy Sue Wade, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and her only attendant. She chose a beige linen dress with a matching stole, her toast brown hat was complimented by matching gloves and her corsage was of yellow carnations.

Mrs. Wade, mother of the bride chose a navy blue crepe model with matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations, featuring white lace and chenelle stems. Mrs. Peevy, mother of the groom, was pearing a pedal pink model complimented by a corsage of pink carnations with chenelle stems and dainty white lace. Her hat was navy and she wore white gloves.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Charles Hester, chose a dress of navy blue crepe with which she wore a white carnation corsage, matching her white gloves.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Hester in Jonesboro. The bride's table was overlaid with an ecru lace cloth and centered with a low crystal bowl holding an arrangement of pink roses, baby breath and majestic daisies.

Similar arrangements were placed at points throughout the reception rooms of the Hester home. The wedding cake was a three-tiered creation embossed with wedding bells and surmounted with a bride and groom and love birds.

Mrs. Lucille Stewart served the cake to guests. Mrs. George Nomey, Jr., served punch from the crystal bowl placed on the opposite end of the table.

After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home in Jonesboro.

Churches

Dr. H. E. Bradshaw Is Honored At Montreat

Dr. Hugh E. Bradshaw is this month marking the fourth anniversary as pastor of the Memorial Presbyterian Church in West Monroe. The past years have given every evidence of great spiritual growth in this organization.

Evidence of this growth is shown in the fact that this church is sponsoring a recent expansion in the McGuire, Splane and Highland Park additions in West Monroe. Services are now being held temporarily in the Highland school each Sunday at 11 a.m.

For the past few days, Dr. Bradshaw has been in attendance at the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Montreat, N. C. in which he is presently a commissioner from the Red River Presbytery. A double honor has come to him as he is representing the retiring moderator of the Assembly, Dr. William A. Alexander, of Shreveport, in the important issues that are confronting the church group. And also he is one of ten ministers chosen to lead the General Assembly in daily devotional exercises.

WSCS District Officers To Be Holding Sessions

The month of June is an unusually busy one for the Monroe district W. S. C. S. officers. At this time they are conducting officers' training at zone meetings throughout the district. The first one was held June 11 at Memorial Methodist Church. The following program was presented by Mrs. M. D. Felder, leader of Zone 1:

Hymn No. 507: "In Christ There is No East or West." Officers' Training Classes: Presidents and Promotion secretaries, instructor, Mrs. M. L. DeFreese; sec. of children, youth and student work, Mrs. Lorenz Teer and Mrs. C. K. McClure; Sec. of missionary education, Mrs. Allen Pomeroy; Sec. status of women, Mrs. DeWitt Henry; Sec. of Christian social relations and local church activities, Mrs. E. P. Cudd; Sec. of spiritual life, Mrs. M. D. Felder; treasurers and secretaries of supply work, Mrs. Wade Cotton and Mrs. C. L. Taylor. At the close of the class sessions a summary of the recommendations were given to the general assembly.

Hymn: "We've A Story to Tell To the Nations."

A promotional film entitled "Widening Fellowship" was shown by Mrs. M. L. DeFreese, district secretary of promotion. Vivid action pictures portrayed a membership committee in a visitation program.

The highlight of the program was a pageant depicting the quadrennial goals: spiritual growth, widening fellowship, a world church, peace, missions, presented by St. Paul's W. S. C. S. Mrs. DeWitt Henry was the narrator. The title of this pageant was, "To Make His Kingdom Real."

At the conclusion of the meeting a covered dish luncheon was served by members of Memorial Methodist W. S. C. S. in the church dining room.

Gordon Avenue Youth Are Taking Active Part There

The Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Gordon Avenue Methodist Church have been taking an active part in church activities. The programs of the May, roundtable have been based on "How Can I Know What is Right" which consisted of problems such as money, dating, and tithing. Next month's programs will be on "Personality Profile." These programs are given in a candlelit room to give a spiritual atmosphere. This has been the major factor building membership.

Some members of the Methodist Youth Fellowship are participating on a panel discussion on "Youth and the Church" sponsored by the W. S. C. S. The youth division of the church are planning a weekend retreat to Camp Chemin-a-haut.

At the evening services the youth choir directed by Homer Cook have charge of the music. After church the young people have recreation and refreshments under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Cook, the M. Y. F. leaders.

The First Presbyterian Church is now having two identical morning worship services, one at 8:30 a.m. and the other at 11:00 a.m. The minister, W. H. McFadden, will preach the same sermon at both services. The church is now air-conditioned, thus making it conducive to attend, even in the hot summer months.

Bible Words to Live by JOHN 8:12—"Again Jesus spoke to them, saying, 'I am the light of the world; he who follows me will not walk in darkness, but will have the light of life.'"

This statement of Jesus is to me a source of quiet confidence. No one wants to walk in darkness. In my boyhood days I reasoned: I am not afraid of darkness, but I do not want to walk in it lest I encounter some unseen danger. Moreover, my desire was to go forward surely, confidently. Therefore, I wanted light.

But light and darkness with Jesus are figures of speech for significant spiritual realities. Even as a boy I knew this. And in the realm of the spirit, also, I wanted to walk in the light.

When, therefore, the words, "I am the light of the world," came as "addressed" to me, I was ready to listen. And when Jesus said, "He who follows me will not walk in darkness," I was ready to follow. In following, He became real to me, and through the years I have known increasingly that He is Himself the Light of life and the Light of the world.

Newly assigned Methodist ministers and their wives of the Twin Cities are receiving a welcome throughout the city. The McGuire Methodist Church will introduce their new pastor and his wife to the membership and the general public at a reception given in their honor Wednesday, June 17, at the educational building of the church at 8 p.m.

The adult choir, Mrs. T. A. Funchess, president will be hosts.

Democracy And Christian Liberty

It is easy for us to read into the past many ideas and forms that were not really there, at least in the exactness of their later or modern expression.

This is true of the development of American democracy, in which much came out of Revolutionary, rather than colonial times.

The Pilgrims had a more distinctive idea of liberty than the Puritans who followed them to New England. The Mayflower compact might well be regarded as the first expression of democracy on this side of the Atlantic and the germ of all that was to grow in coming years.

But when we go back to the history of the Jews and the New Testament there are origins and parallels that are most exact.

The study of the history of Israel is instructive in guidance as well as warning. Much of that history is of the failure and abomination of kings and much of it even of the failure and debasement of the people who were untrue to the covenant and relationship with God that their propets and saints enjoined.

Paul, in the New Testament, was a child of the Old. He brought over into the Christian Church the conception of the comonwealth He refers to it specifically in Ephesians 2:12, and though that is the only passage in which the actual word appears, the idea is spread over almost all Paul's writings and his injunctions and counsels. The Christians were members one of another (Ephesians 4:25). Citizenship in the Christian kingdom, typified in the church, had its responsibilities as well as its rights and privileges.

There was no place for shirkers or grafters. If a man did not work, neither should he eat at the common expense (II Thessalonians 3: 10). The Christians were to bear one another's burdens, but every man should bear his own burden (Galations 6), a masterly enunciation of the proper balance of mutual aid and personal responsibility.

I have recently noted with interest the publication of two books that have developed in a substantial way this relationship between Christianity and democracy that I have long sought to emphasize in this Bible comment.

The volumes are entitled "Hope of the Nation." Volume One deals with "Our Christian Heritage," and Volume Two with "Our American Heritage." The books have been published by Goodwill Publishers, Gastonia, N. C., who are distributors as well.

We cannot, particularly in these days when communism is a virtual religion, too strongly stress the association of Christianity and democracy and the need of fortifying democracy with the Christian emphasis on truth, righteousness and freedom.

We're Going To Church!

And a fine resolution it is! Worthy is it of our careful consideration! Every woman and man in this country will be a better citizen if he will follow this example.

The Church speaks of God and of the eternal things; here serious people meet for the worship of the Highest and for giving thanks to the Giver of all good things to men. It is the symbol of man's upreaching of soul for that which abides and for that which links the human with the divine. Just as the soil grows sour and barren if it gets no sunshine, if there is no sky above it, so the human heart must have its heaven if it is to keep sweet and rich and productive of good.

"We're going to church" for our own sakes, because we want to live nearer to the ideal. There we shall have good fellowship with other souls that are questing for the high and the holy and the true and the good. There we shall bow together before the God of forgiving grace and tell our sins, leaving them on the altar as in penitence we turn from them to walk the better way of good comradeship together. Repentance is a bath that cleanses the soul; consecration is the fire that warms and renews the soul; God is the Comrade and Friend and Saviour of every soul.

"We're going to church" for the sake of the children we love and in high resolution that they shall be given the opportunity to live like the children of God; it is not enough for us to feed and clothe their bodies, for they are persons of eternal value, they are spirits akin to the Eternal God. Together we shall pray and worship; then we shall live helpfully and gloriously. "We're Going To Church!"

Hot Weather Seed Sowing Calls For New Technique

SOW SEEDS in Deep Drill on Wet Soil.

Many experienced amateurs fail in starting seed in hot, dry weather. This seriously handicaps the full development of their garden plans. It cannot be done by following the methods usually successful in the spring, when moisture is more plentiful, and temperatures more pleasant.

A few extra precautions, easy to take, can insure success however, and enable you to make succession sowing of vegetables for fall harvest, start late flower seeds, and keep the garden busy producing until winter sets in.

Seed sprouts are not as strong as roots; they may fail to penetrate soil which would give the roots no trouble. So the covering soil must be given special attention in hot weather, when heavy soil is quickly baked into a crust by the sun.

Begin by making a drill much deeper than in the spring, so the seeds will lie closer to the soil water. Fill the drill with water several times, so that it soaks several inches deep. Sow the seeds in the wet soil, mixing fine seeds with dry sand to spread them.

Now cover the seeds with a special soil which contains no clay whatever. A good mixture is composed of commercial peat moss and sand. phagnum moss is excellent, shredded and mixed with sand, or used alone. Fine top soil can be mixed with sand, provided it contains no clay, but never mix clay and sand, because that may from harder crest than clay lone.

Saturate the covering soil, and keep it moist by sprinkling as often as required until the seeds germinate. This will usually be quicker than in the spring, because of the higher temperatures. In extreme heat some extra shading will help keep the soil moist.

Shade by narrow boards held on blocks an inch above the surface, to allow free circulation of air; by covering with burlap, or cover with a mulch of lawn clippings, or similar material.

If the boards, or burlap are used, they should be removed immediately the seeds sprout. The rows should be kept moist until the seedlings are well established.

By these methods any vegetable seed can be germinated. Lettuce is likely to give the most trouble, and if it does, spread the seeds on a damp towel, roll it up and place in the refrigerator for twenty - four hours. Then remove, dry the seed and sow. The chill will usually speed germination.

Southern Gardener

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

Southern gardens need a second going over about this time every summer. Some of the most rampant spring perennials may have got so big that they are taking up too much room. Other kinds, like the oriental poppies, go to sleep as soon as they have bloomed and leave vacant places in the beds which need annuals or gladiolas or something else to fill them up. Oriental poppies can be divided, by the way, as soon as they have died down completely. You can make a great many new little plants by splitting up some of the roots. Any roots that get broken off when you take them up can be used, and you will find that they will untwist into many little spiral pieces in an amazing way. Plant these little spiral pieces in rows in sandy rich soil and just leave them there. They will come up again when the big ones do and will grow into big plants.

Give your peonies a light feeding now by scattering one handful of complete fertilizer around the crowns and watering it into the soil. Large old clumps will take a double handful of the fertilizer. German or tall bearded irises can be divided and transplanted from now till September, but June and August are better in general than July because the rhizomes are setting flower buds in July, and you will disturb this bud growth if you tear them apart during this month. The rhizomes will grow all right but few will flower next year as a rule.

You can still get bulbs of the Philippine lily and of Regal lily now, but you will have to get them immediately or they will be all sold out or planted. Both of these are good tough summer flowering lilies. The Philippine lily can be bought in a regular type and in a September flowering ("late") type. These September blossoms will refresh you when the heat is at its worst and you are longing for fall flowers to bloom again. Now is the time to order bulbs of the late summer and fall flowering bulbous plants, too. Don't wait till you return from that summer trip or you will find that they may be sold out. You do not have to plant them right now, but they should be ordered and set out when you return from your trip — that is, in the ground in early August if possible.

Of course, the true summer flowering bulbs ought to have been planted before now. Crinums, ismene galtonia, Mexican shell flower, montbretias and the like may be still available from some seed companies, however. Don't forget that food and extra watering will make crinums bloom for you. They love cow manure if you can put a mulch of that all but unavailable material around them and water through it. A handful of fertilizer scattered about their feet and watered in every ten days will bring them into flower for you about as fast.

For a long time, your columnist has tried to find some fall flowering bulb that would bloom with the red spider-lilies—some flower that was white to go with these red airy flowers. After a long search, such a white flower was found growing in Kew Gardens in England. It was also growing in the national botanic garden in Brussels and looked like as tough a plant as anybody could want for standing up under the drouth of our summers. One never really knows about this drouth business, however, till the plant has been tried out thoroughly. Chinese Chives is the plant. It is listed in some California catalogues as Allium tuberosum. The whole plant looks like a tiny onion with leaves only about a foot tall and quite narrow.

Some salad specialists think the foliage of this plant which is also called "Oriental garlic" is better than ordinary chives. At least, all the food specialists your columnist has ever allowed to taste it have pronounced it good. A few have asked for more leaves. Be that as it may, the leaves are evergreen all winter, and the light heads of white flowers come out and bloom in late summer and then go on way into the fall when the spider-lilies come into flower.

Drouth scarcely seems to bother this allium any more than it does the other flowering onions. Most of the other flowering onions that bloom in summer are in shades of purple and magenta. They are good tough plants that will stay with you. Do not turn up your nose at their color for they will bloom when everything else in a garden looks sad or has burned completely up. Look them up in your books on rock gardens to get information on them. You will find them listed here and there in catalogues with the bulbs for summer.

Let us remind you, as we try to do each summer at this time, of the joy you can have from a little patch of a dozen or so rain-lilies (Zephyranthes) planted where you can water them if the rain does not. They come up and flower each time a rain follows a dry season of several weeks. The commonest ones in the catalogues are Zephyranthes candida — (blooms in late summer and is white) Z. citrina — (blooms in summer and is yellow), Z. Ajax — (a big yellow summer flowering one) and Z. carinata —(blooms in summer and is bright pink).

Look in your California catalogues or catalogues of bulbs for two more pink rainlilies. These, have a different name. They are Habranthus brachyandrus and H. robustus. Both of them act like the smaller zephyranthes in that they flower after a drouth in a surprise performance that delights every one who sees it. Fairly rich soil with some bone meal in it before you set them out will make most of these little summer flowering bulbs happy. They can remain for several years in one spot before they must be taken up and reset. They look especially beautiful with sweet alyssum as a ground cover around their feet.

The Home Shift With Mildred Swift

If May and June send the thermometer to 97, what will we have in July and August?

Before our highway department and the Red Cross can take care of the ravages of heavy rains — we need rain again.

Garden Rambles

Keep a heavy mulch around plants to protect them from the sun. Keep that mulch replenished. Don't water unless you're going to soak the ground, then you'll only need to water about once every three or four weeks.

There's lots of rhizome rot in the bearded Iris, especially in places that were not well drained during the rainy season. Mrs. Calton called this morning about this rot. The best treatment we know is to watch closely for any signs of rot. When it occurs, take up the iris in that bed, wash them well with clear water, dry, sprinkle with sulphur and leave the rhizome exposed to the sun for several days.

I saw a full grown Heavenly Tree in Roberta Neel's yard this week. They are really lovely trees. You remember Mrs. C. E. Faulk, West Monroe, gave a number of these plants to gardeners in February.

Don't forget to plant some periwinkle seed (Vinca rosea) or get some plants from those gardeners who gave them last year. The nurseries sell them, too. You remember they grew and bloomed all through July, August, September here at the Agriculture Building last summer. They were never watered even once and yet survived the drouth. Periwinkle comes in two colors, white and lavender. For mass beauty, plant all white together and all lavender together, in separate beds.

A Lovely Garden To Be

I enjoyed working with Leila Ewing on her plan for the yard at her new home on Island Drive. Jim is going to lay the bricks for the patio. We haven't heard him complaining — yet — because he'll have lots of brick cutting to do. We shaped this patio like an artists pallette. Lelia has two wall spaces with no openings — just ideal for espaliered plants, which we planned.

Food In The News

June is dairy month. I've found the dairy departments at the grocery stores well stocked with fluid milk, butter milk, evaportaed, condensed, and dry milk., also butter, cheese and ice cream. Fresh peaches are showing up as well as plums. Beef continues as a good food buy at the markets. Experiments are being carried on to enrich baked bread with soy flour, thereby improving the ratio of protein to carbohydrate.

Try "Oregano," a dried seasoning found in local stores, to give that special taste to tossed vegetable salads and barbecue sauces. Roberta Neel introduced me to this and we like the flavor. It may not be new to you.

Freezing Vegetables

We are getting so many calls from housewives such as this, "I follow the instructions for freezing beans but they're just not good." Let's check a little, first, do you wash your beans before they're snapped? Washing after snapping takes away some of the natural juices and flavors. Then do you use just one gallon of water for one pound of beans for blanching? Are you sure the water is at a rolling, tumbling boil? Do you put the beans in a wire basket or colander for blanching? When you use the amount of water and beans recommended above, and the water is boiling, you can start counting your 2½ minutes blanching time the second you lower the beans in the water. Don't leave them there longer than the 2½ minutes. Poor blanching is the cause of poor quality frozen beans. Read your instructions carefully.

Household Slick Tricks

Before putting pumpkin or custard in an unbaked pie shell, spread on a small amount of egg white over the shell to keep crust from getting soggy.

To make dainty carrot flowers to garnish meats or salads, slice carrots crosswise, very thin. Then make 6 quick cuts from outer edges to center, like the spokes of a wheel. Place in ice water and let the petals curl apart.

Wax the rods in clothes closets then the hangers will slide back and forth more easily.

To stop fraying of your vacuum cleaner hose snip off loose threads and saturate the worn area with liquid wax.

Build a cat - proof bird bath. Your main materials are the lid of a garbage can (painted white) and a length of drain pipe. Plant the pipe upright in the ground. Hang a sash weight by wire from handle in center of lid, down through the pipe— to anchor the bird bath to its base. If a cat jumps onto the bird bath, his weight will tilt the rim, upsetting the rascal and saving the songsters' lives.

Since the garden page is not for me alone, I'd better sign off— See you next Sunday.

Mildred Swift

Preliminary clinical studies by Ciba Pharmaceutical scientists indicate that apresoline, the new anti-hypertensive drug, not only reduces blood pressure while increasing the flow of blood through the kidneys, but also is decidedly effective against toxemias of pregnacy.

Humus Can Make Or Break Your Garden

"What is humus?"

This is one of the most common garden questions asked. Humus is the most important soil constituent and our most valuable natural resource, even more valuable than minerals or water power.

Without humus your garden soil would be dead and unsuited for growing plants. Humus helps and improves thin, sandy soils by giving them more body, and improves heavy, stiff clay soils by loosening them.

Humus may be any organic or nonmineral materials which may accumulate in a soil naturally, such as leaf mold in the woods, dead grasses or weeds, or peat, formed by the dying of water plants in ponds and bogs, and their accumulation on the bottom.

However, gardeners must work it into garden soils in the form of manures, peat moss, compost, green manure resulting from cover crops, lawn clippings, sawdust, or many other substances. A soil well fortified with humus is usually rather dark in color and porous. And to make a soil more valuable the gardener must not forget that ample drainage is likewise necessary.

WORKING HUMUS into the soil will improve the chances of your having a good garden.

Sandy topsoils drain naturally, but clay topsoils seldom drain well because of an impervious subsoil. So the deeper you work the humus into the soil, the better it will drain.

The best humus the gardener can use is rotted manure, but manures are not readily obtainable, and rather high in price. And since leaf mold and compost are usually difficult to accumulate in quantities sufficient to improve the soil, the gardener can resort to peat moss which is accessible, not expensive, and so easy and pleasant to use. Peat moss, plus fertilizer, is all a humus should be. It is porous, non-caking, and may be dug into the soil at any time of the year.

For the established garden peat moss may be used as a protective mulch during the growing season, and then cultivated or turned under to increase the humus content of the soil. As well as eliminating weeds a peat moss mulch protects plant roots from the drying effects of sun and wind.

QUIZZING THE GARDENER

Q — What causes the buds of my Gloxinia plants to turn black and drop off? The plants grow vigorously, many buds appear but few bloom.

A — Bud drop is generally caused by excess soil moisture and having the crown, or growing point, of the plant too wet. Gloxinias like a loose soil and perfect drainage. Water only as often as necessary to keep the soil moist, not soggy.

Q — What sort of soil is best for raspberries and how far apart should the plants be set?

A — Raspberries prefer a deep sandy loam although they can be grown successfully in any good garden soil. Set the plants in rows six feet apart and two to two and one half feet apart in the row. As soon as the crop is harvested each year all canes which produced fruit should be cut close to the ground and burned.

Q — Is spring a proper time to transplant Peonies? Would they bloom this season?

A — While autumn is the better time for transplanting Peonies, one can do so if the job is done quickly and little damage done to the roots. That means digging deep and taking a large ball of earth. Move as soon as the soil is workable.

Gas is stored in underground salt beds in Michigan. The gas is stored in caverns left when the salt is extracted from the earth.

The soil never hardens and cakes and the roots with ample air and moisture are always feeding and growing, thus better plants, flowers and vegetables will result. Consequently, one of the gardener's never-ending tasks is to keep his soil supplied with humus, no matter what kind.

Several of the recently introduced soil conditioners are worthwhile additions to the top-soil because they prevent, to a large degree, caking of the surface soil. Try one but do not expect a miracle.

Compost Trademarks Good Gardener

ne of the trademarks of the ious gardener is his compost .

ou have really joined the gar- fraternity when you make gar- trash and autumn leaves into sort of manure that has many s. Building and maintaining a npost pile is one way to save anic matter, important ingre- nt of garden soil.

compost pile gives dividends ond the vegetables that the gar- yields. When the inevitable tes from these go into the pile gardener saves a good deal his lime, fertilizer and work that e gone into the garden.

Partially decayed products of the npost pile make excellent mulch hold down weeds and save mois- e. After it has served its pur- e as mulch it can be dug in improve the soil. Well decayed getable matter from the pile can dug into the soil at once.

t's a good idea to build the pile ere it won't be noticed. Dig a about a foot deep and 5 feet uare and start throwing in any getable waste — grass clippings, vines, weeds, vegetable and it parings from the kitchen, ves, fine twigs, coffee grounds anything of a vegetable nature.

Pack all this down by walking er it and maybe get some help om a neighbor who wears size 12 oes. When you have a layer out 6 inches deep sprinkle on 1 und of lime and 2 pounds of a 10-5 fertilizer. This is a good ace, too, for poultry or rabbit anure if you have any. Then read on a thin layer of garden il.

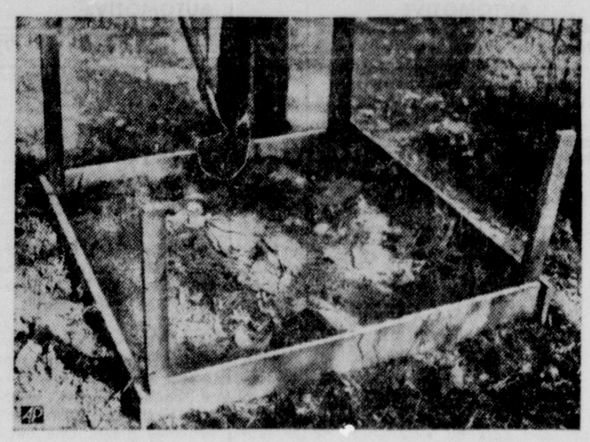
The fertilizer and lime speed de- y and the garden soil supplies bacteria and other organisms decay that will bring valuable getable manure.

Then you keep on adding vege- ble material until you have an- her 6-inch layer, more fertilizer, ne and soil. Please notice the sence of any mystic incantation er the pile. Soils specialists with om I have talked say you can pend upon the soil to provide the bacteria you need to make e pile "work." Decomposition es faster in warm weather than cool.

Keep a hollow in the center of the pile so that rainwater will soak in, as it is necessary to keep the pile moist.

If you intend to use the compost for mulch you won't have to turn the pile. But if you expect to dig the material into the soil, you can speed up decay by turning the pile, making sure that the outside parts are mixed inside.

Be sure to keep the sides as vertical as possible. If you have much plant refuse you may have flowers. And when pruning shrubs, to drive in stakes around the pile to keep it within bounds.



POSTS placed one at each corner will help hold your compost pile together during the process of decay.

New Rose Movie Now Available To Garden Clubs

A new 16 mm sound color motion picture, "All - America Roses" is now being distributed upon request to garden organizations throughout the country. The film, 13½ minutes in length, tells the story and All-American Rose selections and takes the viewer across the nation — from New England to California, into the nation's most beautiful gardens.

Through modern color photography which was done by the internationally known Ollie Comstedt, A. S. C. the famous A. A. R. S. testing stations are brought to life as the world's finest roses are scored and judged during the two year trials. Dazzling displays of hybrid teas, floribundas, climbers and tree roses are climaxed only by the parade of the "queens" of flowers, the All - America winners.

Exciting new ideas are shown using roses more effectively in solving landscaping problems. Simple arrangements of cut roses bring the loveliness of the garden into the living room.

Here is the story behind the modern rose — man's ingenuity, labor and patience perfecting the most beautiful of all flowers and making it possible for everyone to enjoy roses as a personal possession.

"All - America Roses," 16 mm sound color film is distributed through Films of the Nations, 62 West 45th treet, New York City without charge. A black and white version for television is being distributed through Guylay and Associates, 45 Rockefeller Plaza, New York 20, New York.

Gardening this Week

Start penennial and biennial seeds from now on, for next year's garden. The cc l frame may be used and so can seed beds of fine, carefully prpared soil.

Keep hedges trimmed neatly. It is easier on the trimmer to trim frequently as tender young growth comes along than to do infrequent jobs when it is necessary to cut through woody stems. Don't let the hedge get leggy with a straggly undergrowth. By trimming often, let it grow into a bushy plant and one which is never topheavy.

Watch the blooming of shrubs, and consult a pruning guide to know when to cut. Spirea, deutzia, viburnum, to mention a few, should be cut back as soon as they have ceased flowering so that they can produce growth for next year's flowers. And when purning shrubs, cut from the base and center; never trim them like a hedge and spoil their natural contours.

Save yourself weeding chores by mulching, using peat, buckwheat hulls, grass clippings which are too long to allow on the lawn — but be careful about grass mulches which contain too many weed seeds. That makes more work. They are better added to the compost pile.

Stake tomato vines unless there's plenty of space in the garden. Some gardeners prune their vines, allowing only two or three branches to develop. Keep the axil growth at the points where a stalk develops from the stem, pinched off if spreading is not desired.

Women Spark Campaign For Health Examinations

The General Federation of Women's Clubs is doing a novel and interesting thing. It is sponsoring a contest among its State Federations to promote physical examinations. Citations will be awarded for first, second and third places to the state federations which report the largest percentage of clubs attaining one hundred per cent participation of their membership.

It would be impossible to know how many lives will be saved or how much future suffering may be avoided because of this drive.

Too many people, in fact most people, go to their doctors only when they are ill or in pain. They do not give their doctors a chance to keep them well, to discover the first stages of chronic diseases, to apply preventative measures to diseases which might be fatal or crippling later on.

Even though serious trends do not exist in the individual, often lowered states of health may keep the person from enjoying life as richly as she otherwise would. For instance, a glandular deficiency can cause trouble while anemia can haunt one with chronic fatigue.

Women are the logical ones to appeal to in a drive such as this because they are the keepers of the family health. Their enthusiasm as to the welfare of the family knows no bounds! When Mama becomes aware of the importance of the yearly, or twice yearly checkup, she will see to it that the members of her family have one also.

Doctor C. Ward Crampton, Chairman of the Sub-Committee on Geriatrics of New York County, Doctor Leonard A. Scheele, Surgeon General, U.S. Public Health Service, Doctor Ben Freedman, Louisiana Board of Health, and Doctor C. Grenes Cole, Louisiana State Medical Society, are cooperating.

DoctorScheele has sent the General Federation of Women's Clubs the following message:

"Many of the diseases which beset us today do not make themselves known by obvious symptoms until they have become well established. In their early stages their presence can be detected on ly through careful search by the physician.

By having a yearly physical examination, many lives could be saved and much future suffering could be avoided.

"Early detection can mean eradication of a disease in some cases, or prevention of severe crippling or disability in others. Every individual, especially in the middle years of life, has the responsibility of seeing his physician once a year to prevent and control chronic disease and maintain adult health."

The General Federation is doing a highly commendable job in bringing the message of good health and good health practices to its membership.

Dr. Crampton said, "Best wishes for the success of your most forward-looking and important campaign. It is a splendid thing to see the women of the nation taking the leadership in a matter which means so much to the welfare and integrity of the nation as well as their own health and happiness."

Have a yearly physical examination, even if you are not a club woman!

U. S. Has Shortage Of Apprentices

SAN DIEGO, Calif.,—UP— The United States faces a critical shortage of skilled workmen unless something is done to build up apprenticeship training, according to Archie J. Mooney, head of the California Division of Apprenticeship standards.

Mooney said the First North American Conference on Apprenticeship will be held here Aug. 2 to 9. It will be attended by Canadian, Mexico and United States leaders who are concerned with apprenticeship. Management, labor, government and education will be represented.

"In the United States there are fewer than 250,000 persons receiving apprenticeship training," Mooney said. "The number should be at least 2,000,000, if we are to replace the skilled workers who are leaving the labor force, through death, retirement or for other reasons."

Mooney said more apprentices are especially needed to become tool and diemakers, machinists, pattern - makers, metal workers, molders. The building trades, food industries and printing also need them.

The government has decided to set up a consultative committee to examine hospital administration in New Zealand and give advice on how it can best be reorganized.

Four Quartets To Sing At Neville Tuesday Night

Some of the nation's leading gospel singers will appear at Neville auditorium Tuesday night in a big four-hour gospel concert.

Several singers who have made a name for themselves will meet in a battle of song at Neville for their first appearance together west of the Mississippi river. Monroyans will have the opportunity to see and hear such men as Big Jim Wates, Dan Huskey, Conner Hall, Bobbie Strickland and Hershal Wooten, along with Monroe's own Tommy Rainer, sing some of the nation's leading gospel spirituals and hymns in a way that is thrilling thousands wherever they are heard.

One of the real treats to the public will be the appearance of the Original Homeland Harmony quartet. Bobbie Shaw and Big Jim Wates will join Conner Hall, Ottis McCoy and Wallace Varner to sing several of the old numbers that made them famous throughout the east a few years back. This will be the first appearence of this group together west of the Mississippi river in the last four years and their first appearance in Monroe together.

It is believed by many that the meeting of these four groups, the Revelaires Quartet of Atlanta, Ga., The Crusaders Quartet of Birmingham, Ala., the Homeland Harmany Quartet of Atlanta, Ga., and the Trebelaires Quartet of Monroe will be the greatest gospel concert ever staged in north Louisiana and will be a concert that people will be talking about for a long time to come. It is a proven fact that singers sing at their best when they have real competition and each group have stated that they are going to be the favorite of the people of north Louisiana.

The program will get underway at 8 o'clock and run for four full hours. Fans will be in operation to air cool the building.

Chicken Cacciatora Is An Old Favorite Treat

Alfred A. Minahan, Newark (N. J.) News Chapter, celebrates his membership with "Chicken Cacciatora," and here's how:

1 frying chicken (about 3-½ to 4 bls. disjointed).
1-3 cup olive oil
1 large clove garlic, crushed
1 tablespoon freshly chopped parsley
1 onion, finely sliced
½ cup boiling water
1 beef boullion cube
4 teaspoons tomato paste
1-3 cup white wine.
Pepper to taste
2 bay leaves.

Gently brown the garlic in olive oil in a Dutch oven or deep iron skillet. Then saute frying - sized pieces of the chicken until they are nicely browned. Remove the chicken and keep it hot. Now add onion, and saute it until golden, then add parsity. Dissolve boullion cube in boiling water and add, then stir in tomato paste, and season with salt, pepper, bay leaves, then add wine.

Stir well, then replace chicken, cover, and simmer or cook it in very low oven for about 30 minutes. Watch it closely, and add a little hot water if sauce thickens too rapidly. Serves four to six.

One of our old favorites is not amiss here. Parboil fresh or frozen broccoli in salted water until it is just tender. Drain it thoroughly. Saute until lightly browned in olive oil in which you have previously browned several spit cloves of garlic. Add a little salt and pepper if desired.

Mrs. T. G. Ford of the Birmingham (Ala.) News Chapter, sends you a real delicacy. It's "Date Squares." First make a filling of:

Cut the dates in small pieces, then boil with sugar and water until they form a thick paste. Now you need:

¾ cup butter or margarine
¾ cup uncooked old - fashioned oatmeal.

Cream butter and sugar, then work in flour, and divide mixture in two equal parts. Work oatmeal into one part, and spread that part evenly in the bottom of an ungreased baking pan measuring six by eight inches.

Spread date mixture evenly over this, and then spread remaining flour mixture on top. Bake at 300 degrees until lightly browned. While still warm, cut in one-inch squares. "This is really good." wrote Mrs. Ford. The understatement of the week!

A Union League Sour is a jubilant beverage. We use:

2 parts Scotch
1 part lemon juice
¾ part simple (or sugar) syrup

Shake well with fine ice, strain into sour glasses, and float a spoonful of very heavy, dark rum on top. Mmmmmmmm!

Send your favorite recipe and a stamped, addressed envelope to the Morning World and become a life member of The Skillet Club, and we'll send you a membership card to prove it.

Lunch Pail Turns Out Hot Foods

LEBANON, Ore. (UP) — A veneer plant employee, tired of eating cold lunches, has invented a lunch box that will heat up food in short order.

Frank Lott said he had patented his idea and was working on plans to produce the box.

It is 10 inches long, six inches deep and 5½ inches wide. The lower portion is for a thermos bottle and cold items. The upper half contains a removable tray, divided into four compartments with a sealing lid covering three of them. The covered compartments can be used for soup, pre-cooked vegetables, potatoes, etc. The other compartment holds an electric cord, attached to an electrical device under the tray.

Five to 10 minutes before lunch time, the cord can be plugged into a 110-volt light socket and the food is heated. The bottom compartment remains cool.

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: There is a girl in our office who is playing around with one of the men. He is married to a very wonderful woman and is the father of two lovely children. It is a dirty shame the way this girl acts. She is in his office practically all day and half the time the door is closed. We are all disgusted but it goes on and on. Can't something be done about these office love affairs? Can't something be done about these brazen girls:—"Miss I Wonder"

Something will be done but you are not the one to do it. Either the girl, or the man (or both), will end up with a ruined life. What good would it do any of you to interfere? You can't change a leopard's spots. If the man is such a fool to rish his marriage by becoming involved with an office trollop anything you might do will not change him; they would just conceal their affair.

I don't condone the girl's actions buy why blame her entirely? It takes two. The married man is the one who has no business encouraging her; she is just a silly goose, who, not being able to catch a man of her own, is poaching, or, she enjoys the excitement and attention she has been getting via all of you shocked co-workers.

If you busybodies had some thought of letting the wife know, forget it; she will get the bad news soon enough if the affair continues and may never have to be heartbroken and learn of it if it ends soon.

Dear Mrs. Landers: I am 30 and a veteran of World War II. I room with an elderly couple who are old friends. A young woman, who is a distant relative of theirs rooms with them, too. For the last eight months I have taken her to dinner and dancing on the average of once a week because we both enjoy dancing. I realize now that the girl has become emotionally involved though I have never misled her in any way. I like her but do not love her and even if I did ask her to marry me I know that I never would love her. She is a lovely girl and deserves the best. I do not wish to move from this home as I cannot do so without hurting my hosts. Please give me your advice.—W. E. J.

If you are taking up that much of the young lady's time she is entitled to an understanding of your intentions. Tell her that you think it is time to make your position clear so that there are no misunderstandings. Tell her you like her and enjoy her company but are quite sure that you will not become serious and that you do not wish to take up her time unless she understands. Encourage her to go out with other young men so that you do not feel obligated. And, you would be wise to date others, too, and let the girl know.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper.)

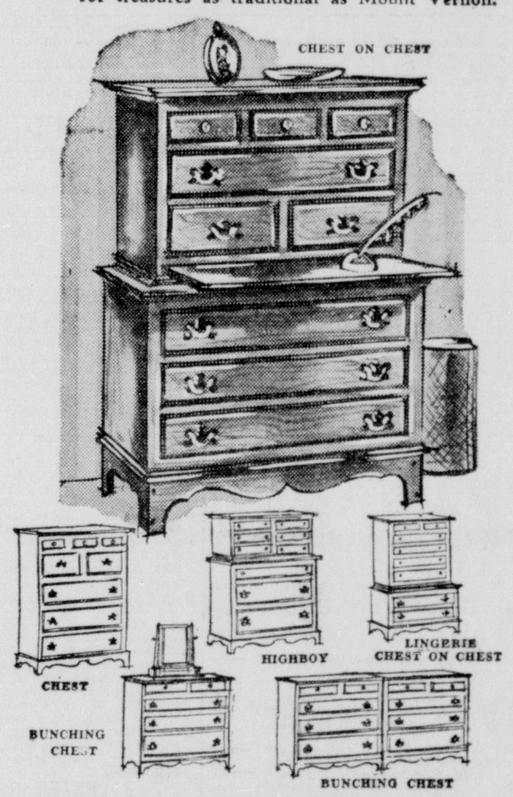
Nancy had a Whimsical Idea...

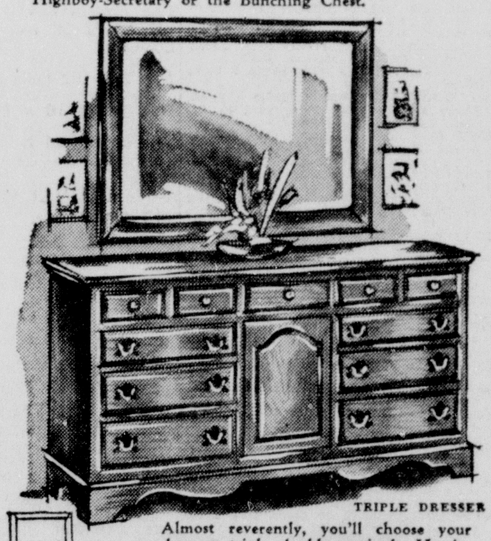
"They were so like a Group of Friends..." SHE SAID

Today's Miss Nancy Merritt fondly recalls her doll-playing visits in the ancestral halls of her Grandmother's homeplace. She vividly remembers the pleasant old furniture surrounding her, and her whimsical habit of characterizing each antique according to her best liked kinfolks, some living and some from pictures in the old family album. "I just felt that I knew them," she said, "they were so warm and personal."

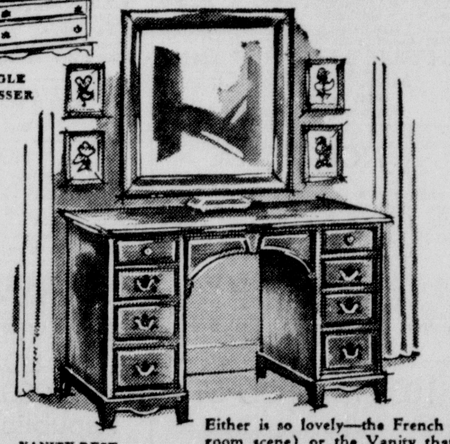
One of the nation's foremost designers saw and felt the same simple charm and rightness in Nancy's old playmates. Inspiredly, but slightly, he revised here and changed there . . . knowing that here was the real spirit of American living, casual, unhurried, yet beautiful, that would live forever in homes of gracious charm. And he entrusted his notable refinements to a select group of mountain craftsmen who would respectfully and lovingly recreate his American masterpieces. He called them the Nancy Merritt Group—a fitting American name, for treasures as traditional as Mount Vernon.



Choosing a chest can be delightful, and so sensible. Each is capacious, yet so individual—even to style of aprons or drawer arrangement. Your feminine heart calls for the Lingerie Chest on Chest, or the intriguing Corner Chest. Or, the practical sense speaks for the Highboy-Secretary or the Bunching Chest.



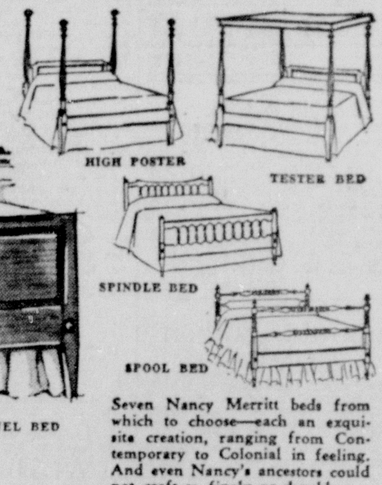
Almost reverently, you'll choose your dresser—triple, double or single. Herein, is best seen the magnetic, harmonizing Chatham Cherry finish, the genuine "brassies" drawer pulls, the choice of mirrors.



Either is so lovely—the French Powder Table (in room scene) or the Vanity that can double as a desk. Vanity-Desk is finished both front and back.

Like a Comforting Friend In Genuine Chatham Cherry

These cherishable reproductions, we predict, will be more chosen by the piece than by groups, each lovingly selected as a final room-making masterful accent. Its genuine Chatham Cherry is wonderfully magnetic to mixing—wonderfully growing in traditional richness through the years—even in very moist climates. And each detail of construction is painstakingly done. Yet, so limited are pictures, we hardly dared advertise this group. We must urge you to visit with the Nancy Merritt Group—piece by piece, in our store . . . to see American living and blending at its best . . . to instantly feel that your selections will become "like a group of friends"—imparting a rich atmosphere of fine living to your settings.



Seven Nancy Merritt beds from which to choose—each an exquisite creation, ranging from Contemporary to Colonial in feeling. And even Nancy's ancestors could not craft so finely or durably.

Select, here, your casually quaint "convenience" pieces — surely, a Chest Toilet, or Table. Pieces from the Nancy Merritt are for lasting individuality.

New FAB WASHES WHITER

Nothing whitens like FAB!

You'll actually find that Fab washes most of your clothes whiter without a bleach—whiter than any soap, whiter than any washing product known with a bleach in the wash water.

IF YOU ADD A BLEACH TO FAB for your few stained, extra-soiled clothes, they'll come whiter, too—far whiter than with any other product and a bleach. For new Fab's exclusive whitening action is not affected by bleach.

WHAT'S MORE—FAB OUTCLEANS any soap! Washes out dirt; leaves no dulling soap scum.

SAVE WORK! SAVE HANDS! Fab immediately loosens dirt—no soaking is needed! No dulling soap scum to rinse out—even in hardest water. And you'll find that Fab is wonderfully mild to hands!

A COLGATE-PALMOLIVE-PEET PRODUCT

CUT DISHWASHING TIME IN HALF!

Fab soaks dishes, glasses, pots and pans shiny clean! If a bit of food clings, the dishcloth whisks it off. Just a quick rinse and dishes drain sparkling clean. No hard scouring, no wiping—with Fab!
